BASE BALL BEATS CRICKET

Public in Australia Abandons Later, but Takes Kindly to Former Game.

COLLEGIANS ARE TO MAKE TOUR

SYDNEY, Australia, May 1.—The steady defection from cricket on the part of the public and the unattractiveness shown by the English game both as regards players and finances—a correlation of facts which is quite the most striking feature of Australian sport at present—has just led to reformative measures by the New South Wales Cricket association in an effort to stave off the inevitable. Whether these will result in cricket being placed in its former position as a game to be seen. At all events this statement by M. A. Noble, one of the greatest of Australian cricketers and an internationalist of fame, in a recent interview in a Sydney newspaper under the striking title, "Is Cricket on Its Last Legs?" is significant.

"Surf bathing is undoubtedly attracting many old followers of the game. The new Richmond which has come into the field, base ball, if the cricketers are not careful, is going to have a big pull in Saturday afternoon sport. It seems that the interest and enthusiasm in base ball in Sydney is very weak. It is a quicker game, and to my mind a far more interesting one to watch, though a cricketer who is now playing base ball told me he does not think so. In winter the base ballers are able to secure gates worth $150 and $200 per match, a sum which club cricketers never attracted. Nowadays the (cricket) grounds are thrown open to the public, but the players have the grounds mainly to themselves, since the public have found other forms of entertainment."

Incidentally, when Noble was playing cricket—he retired five years ago from the sport—he was also something of a base ball player, for in his time he and the other leading cricketers in the Commonwealth played ball during the winter months—July, August and September—to keep themselves in trim for cricket, and not a few of these took advantage of their return trips from matches in England to witness base ball games in the United States.

Another phase of this antipodean leaning toward base ball is the base ball tour of Australia and possibly New Zealand, which has been lately projected by the base ball authorities of Leland Stanford University. The California collegians seem to have become imbued with the idea that the antipodes are ripe for a series of games "down under" next winter, but the base ballists here have advised them that until the war is over such an undertaking would not pay. When peace has been declared, however, and a trip of the kind is quite probable, and it is quite probable that the Americans would receive as much popular support as they have during their vacation tours of Hawaii and Japan. A Sydney daily says of this project:

Sullivan's Record As Catcher Envidable

NEW YORK, May 1.—Billy Sullivan, who recently received his unconditional release from the Chicago White Sox, quite the American league team, and who has caught more than any other catcher in the league, has a record which is envidable to any catcher in the history of the game. Sullivan has caught for 13 seasons, and his record is as follows: 1902-1903, Boston; 1904-1905, Boston; 1906-1907, Boston; 1908-1909, Boston; 1910-1911, Boston; 1912-1913, Boston; 1914-1915, Boston; 1916-1917, Boston;
