Grain Reports Show Seed Corn Rotted

Reports of excessive precipitation over all of the grain growing area of the central west, on the Omaha market, sold wheat off 2 cents per bushel, corn up 1/2 cent and oats down 1/2 cent. These reports indicated that everywhere the rain continues; that from 50 to 75 per cent of the corn planted in Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa and Illinois has rotted and that many of the fields are under water.

Omaha receipts were unusually light, the fact being attributed to bad country roads. There were ten car of wheat, twenty-three of corn and nine of oats on sale.

Prices on wheat ranged from $1.40 to $1.41 1/2; corn, 7 1/2 cents to 7 3/4 cents, and oats 4 1/2 cents to 4 3/4 cents per bushel.

S. O. PLANTS RUN SHORT OF WATER

O'Hearn Tells How it Was Necessary to Use Water from the Fire Reservoirs.

PLANTS ARE OFTEN SHUT DOWN

Astonishing revelations of lack of water in the various packing houses at South Omaha and the Union stock yards under the regime of the Omaha Water company and later the Omaha Water board were made in federal court by John E. O'Hearn, superintendent of the Armour plant for thirteen years prior to 1912, and now with the same company in Chicago.

"He was a witness of the suit of the Omaha Water board against the city of South Omaha, the Union Stock Yards company and the packing plants to prevent the defendant corporations from continuing to use the streets of South Omaha for the mains of their water plant, which they built after they were unable to get sufficient water from the Omaha water works."

"We often had to shut down the plant entirely for lack of water," said Mr. O'Hearn. "At such times we sometimes had much live stock on hand, and this had to be fed. Sometimes the water was given out entirely when washing of the carcasses was going on and they had to be put in the cooling rooms without washing."

Use Up Fire Water. "We even used up the water in our fire reservoir. We used to draw all the water out of this during the day for operating purposes and then fill it up at night. Of course we were supposed to keep this reservoir full all the time, and if the inspectors of the insurance companies had discovered the practice I don't know what we'd have done for water."

"I remember one occasion when all our water was gone and there was no pressure at all from the city mains. We connected our house pumps to the city mains and pumped, but there was no water at all in the mains."

Lewis Brunstad, master mechanic for Swift's, gave testimony to the same effect.

Charles W. Martin, an insurance man, told of the protracted negotiations between the packing companies and the underwriters regarding the water famine and the final installation of an interlocking water system in the yards so that all the pumps of the several packing plants could be used to supply pressure in case of a fire in any one of the plants.

Rain is Cause of Heavy Damage to Streets of Omaha

Commissioner Hummel of the park department estimates a cost of $1,000 to repair damages caused by rains this week along the new boulevard from Thirty-fourth and Maple streets to Fontenelle park. In some places clay slides have marred this improvement and several washouts will be filled in.

The street department is busy answering calls of citizens who have reported damages to streets, sewers and curbs. Lake street, between Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth streets, is almost impassable. A washout is reported at Sixth and Castellar streets. At Thirty-fifth and Center streets a sewer catch basin was washed out and a section of curb and gutter dislodged. Another washout occurred at Forty-sixth and Lafayette avenue.

On Myrtle avenue, between Thirty-first and Thirty-third streets, crosswalks were left suspended and gas and water mains exposed.
