NORRIS DOESN'T SEE NEED FOR SESSION

Nebraska Senator at Lincoln Thinks Diplomatic Controversy Will Be Handled by President.

HARMAN ENFORCES TWINE LAW

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, June 3.—(Special Telegram)—United States Senator George W. Norris is in the city today. Senator Norris is to deliver the commencement day address tomorrow before the Temple High school of the University of Nebraska.

The senator does not believe a special session of congress will be called unless war complications should present themselves, which in his opinion are not likely. He thinks the situation is being handled in good shape and that the assistance of congress will not be needed.

Many Bridges Damaged.

Assistant State Engineer William Steckelberg of the irrigation department returned this morning from a trip up the Elkhorn valley. He says there has been much damage to bridges on account of the high water and that the bridges at West Point and Winer have been damaged seriously. Much repair work is scheduled for this summer.

Thomas Makes Speeches.

State Superintendent Thomas returned this morning from Wahoo, where he delivered the commencement address last night at the high school graduation exercises. Tonight he speaks at Ulysses and tomorrow at Tilden. On Saturday afternoon he will make two addresses at county eighth grade graduation exercises, the first at Wayne at 1:30 o'clock and the other at Stanton at 3:30 o'clock.

Twine Must Be Branded.

All binding twine coming into the state must be branded according to law, according to the opinion of Food Commissioner Harman, who has charge of the weights and measures department of the state and the enforcement of the law governing that department. The law has been on the statute books for fifteen or twenty years and the enactment of the weights and measures law puts it up to the department to enforce it. The twine must be branded with the name of the manufacturer; number of feet to the pound contained in the ball, material, tensile strength, percentage of oil, date of manufacture. The penalty for failure to comply with the law is a fine of 10 cents per ball.

Grand Island to Have Sunday Fourth Fete

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., June 3.—(Special Telegram)—According to present plans Grand Island will this year have the first Sunday Fourth of July celebration in its history and not unlikely the only one in the state. Thomas Bradstreet will hold automobile and motorcycle races, state-wide as to entries, hanging up fine cash prizes.

It was first planned to have the races, as a celebration, on the 24 or 25th, the Fourth falling on Sunday, but Mr. Bradstreet was at the time depending upon the Commercial club entertaining the crowds in the morning and evening. The Commercial club declined to participate to the extent of thus providing entertainment or to any other extent, and the venture, a purely private one, has therefore been fixed for Sunday.

The celebration will take place three miles from this city on what is said to be the only two-mile track in the state.

Lincoln Youngsters Capitalize Bad Road

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, June 3.—(Special Telegram)—Twelve resourceful Lincoln lads made several autolists going to Capital Beach yesterday by steering them into a carefully prepared mudhole and then appearing at the psychological moment and lifting the machine out for $5. One "stuck" motorist asked a friend in a machine to try to pull him out and the boys volunteered to aid also, but when the rope kept breaking, it was found the youngsters were pulling instead of pushing.

RICHARDSON COUNTY MAN SWINDLED OUT OF FARM

STELLA, Neb., June 3.—(Special Telegram)—John Howarth, who lives with Charles Smith south of Dawson, has been swindled out of a Kinkaid homestead in Thomas county, it is alleged. He proved up on the 60-acre tract, but owing to ill health decided to leave the sandhills country. A man giving the name of Willis and purporting to be from Seneca, Neb., talked him into trading the homestead for a residence in Grand Island supposed to be worth $3,000. After the deed was made and delivered another man came along and described a splendid timber tract of 200 acres in Washington county, Georgia, and induced Mr. Howarth to exchange the Grand Island residence for the Georgia timber land. Mr. Howarth then having his horses, implements and potato crop on his hands again met Willis, the man who had traded him out of his homestead. Willis, so he stated, had 200 acres which joined Mr. Howarth's new Georgia land, and he traded this to him for the horses, implements and potato crop.

Mr. Howarth became suspicious and a few weeks ago he took two warranty deeds for 200 acres each to F. P. Page, a real estate agent at Dawson. He found the deeds faulty but the abstracts appeared genuine. He wrote the men who gave the deeds, and the letters were returned undelivered. At last the agent wrote to the treasurer of Washington county, Georgia, who replied there was no such land in the county as the deeds described.

Mr. Howarth is nearly 50 years old and unable to do any manual labor. An effort will be made to see if there is some way whereby he can recover his loss.

INQUEST THROWS NO LIGHT UPON MURDER

quarrelled with any of them. Of the girl's pleasing disposition and efficiency as a domestic she spoke and declared that the girl was more than satisfied with her place.

Miss Florence Osborne testified briefly repeating the program of the day carried out by herself and Mrs. Sykes until 11:15, when she left Mrs. Sykes at the car.

Front Door Key Lost.

J. S. Sykes was called and introduced a bit of evidence not heretofore made public, that a heavy monkeywrench which it was customary to keep in another part of the basement was found a few feet from the body of the Swanson girl, also the key which she carried to the front door had not been located since the tragedy. These two statements constituted absolutely the only new bits of fact brought out. Mr. Sykes declared that the girl had mentioned occasionally several of the men who had called upon her in a joking way, and also that she at one time said something about a man from Sweden coming to marry her.

Rev. A. B. Marshall of the Presbyterian been placed under arrest on suspicion. Five witnesses offered testimony as to his whereabouts on the day of the murder, while Mrs. Margaret E. Field, 2808 Cass street, who told the police she saw Loggren near his home early the afternoon of the murder, was not certain that he was the man she saw.

The whereabouts of the key, to the front door of the Sykes home, which has been missing since the tragedy, was accounted for when Mrs. Alva Olson, sister of Ada Swanson, declared that she had picked it up with other articles when Ada's effects were taken from the Sykes residence a few days after the murder.

The case was given the jury shortly after five o'clock. The last witness of the morning to be questioned.

Gaynor Gives Nothing New.

In the afternoon Painter John M. Gaynor, who was working the day of the murder on the Dennis property next door to the Sykes residence, seemed slightly confused as to statements he had made heretofore to the police, but added nothing new to his previous testimony.

A complete alibi was established for Axel Loggren, friend of the girl who had been arrested.
