ONE CONSOLIDATION RESULT

May Restore Athletic Relations Between Schools.

DEFINITE RESULTS AWAITED

The consolidation of Omaha and South Omaha has given rise to a flurry of comment in high school circles in both cities as to whether athletic relations will be renewed between the two schools. Stupitchers blew up in the fourth and fifth dents and athletes of the two schools are eagerly awaiting definite word from either the principals or the coaches of the rival institutions.

Since the basket ball game in the winter of 1913, when two members of the rival quintets came to blows, nearly resulting in a free-for-all, athletic as well as diplomatic relations have been severed between the principals of the two schools. Last winter an attempt was made by student leaders to again bring the two schools into athletic competition, but the effort failed. The only meeting was at the state championship basket ball meet at Lincoln, when the South Omaha five. crippled by the loss of two men, was defeated by the score of 8 to 5. This spring the Omaha Central High was decisively defeated in base ball by the South school added another laurel wreath to Omaha High nine.

The two prettiest races of the day were the mile run and the half mile run. In the former event a lad from the Nebranka City High school was first, clipping the distance off in four minutes, fifty-three and three-fifths seconds, Floyd Paynter of the Omaha High school came home shead of the field in the half mile

War Events Interesting. The military events proved an interesting part of the program. These Nebraska guardsmen, all members of the Fourth regiment, staged all of the military n.aneuvers, shelter tent pitching, wall scaling, retiring sharp shooting and the like. Companies C and B put it all over A company in all of the events. C company was the fastest in scaling the wall and Walter and George Nelson, corporals in C company, put up their shelter tent in the fastest time and also had the neatest tent. Adjutant General Phil Hall was on hand to referee all of the events, for which large leving cups were presented to the winners by the Omaha colonels on the governor's staff. Second Meet Next Year. The officials of the meet declared it big success despite the fact that it was postponed twice on account of the weather. Next year the meet will again be held on June 5. This date has been settled by the federation and Creighton field will be the place. A cinder track, which will be one of the fastest in the country, is to be installed at Creighton field, so that the meet next year may be held on June 5, no matter what may be the weather conditions:
