OMAHA'S SPEEDWAY FINISHED MONDAY

Promoters of Enterprise Enthusiastic Over Long List of Speed Kings Coming.

TRACK TO BE THE FASTEST

By Monday evening the entire surface of the track will be finished at the new Auto Speedway near Carter lake. Work on the grandstands, 1,360 feet long, 's now under way, and the big concrete tunnel for autos, under the track, is also being pushed to completion.

Speed fans who have recently inspected the Speedway are enthusiastic over the prospects for breaking records, as well as for handling the immense crowds that will flock to see the world famous drivers who are coming for the 300-mile world's classic to be staged July 5, a legal holiday, for a $15,000 purse.

Fastest Speedway.

Drivers are going to call it a regular joy ride," says President Bert Le Bron of the Speedway association. "World's records for the distance are going to be smashed, or I miss my guess, for it is the fastest speedway ever built."

With a beautiful surface of 2x4 timbers, iaid on edge, thereby eliminating all dust, mud and cirt, and the carefully engineered trapharadius on the big, easy curves, the speedway offers every inducement to speed, with perfect safety at the same time. The curves are so constructed that they can be taken without patting an eye or lessening speed a bit. The engineers who designed the track say that it will hold a speed of over 100 miles an hour with perfect safety.

Two broad straight-aways of almost half a mile each, combined with the lofts grandstands, will give every one of the thousands of spectators a full view of the snorting speed kings throughout the entire race of 300 miles around the mile and a quarter track.

To Be Completed Monday.

For the last few days Contractor C. R. Vaughn, the man who superintended the erection of Hotel Fontanelle and other gigantic construction work in Omana, has been working 125 curpenters and almost as many laborers full time on the track surface work. He would have finished it Saturday had not the last shipment of 2x4 lumber been delayed, and he says that it is sure of completion by temerrow.

So big is the course that a casual visitor glancing over it from a point of vantage hardly realizes that a regiment of men is laboring there. Yet a trip around the track and a careful count of the workmen proves the surprising size of the working force.

An investment of $95,000, including prize money, is represented to date, according to figures compiled by Treasurer Adolph Storz. Considerable more money will be spent in finishing the enterprise and making it complete in every detail for the accommodation of the crowds, so that when the elimination trials begin Saturday. July 2, just three weeks from yes terday, the whole project will stand its backers at least $100,000, they assert.

Five desperate innings to a scoreless the Council Bluffs Aquatic club at the Council Bluffs Rowing association yesterday afternoon before some 600 persons, who lamped the proceedings with conframes each and every athlete was com-exhaustive. Mayor Dahlman was on hand to chuck the first ball, just like in a league ball game. But as the game is played in the water and the various players stand on floats six feet square, the mayor refused to take any chances and he threw the pill from the dock, where there was no chance of skidding into the briny deep, The game is played just like base ball, except, as before mentioned, the players stand on floats and swim after the ball and fro mbase to base. Thinking that the batters would knock the ball too far. some far-seeing youth sawed off the bats. Then it was discovered that with the short sticks the ball couldn't be poled much farther than second base. Pete Wendell, formerly swimming instructor at the Central Young Men's Christian association, is coach of the Omaha team, and he swears the game to be played this afternoon will be no tie. OMAHA TO REVIVE SPORT OF KINGS

Big Horse Race Meet Here in August to Draw the Best Horses of the Entire Country.

STABLES NOW ON THE COAST

BY G. K. MURRAY.

Harness horse racing, the sport in which America is the leader and the rest of the nations of the world the followers and imitators, is in the midst of a great revival in Omaha. After many years of neglect of its great opportunities as the center of a blue grass region which is not second even to the famed pastures of Kentucky, Omaha this summer will have two opportunities to greet the trotters and pacers in action.

The Omaha Driving club will have the honor of restoring this city to the itinerary of king horse, America's most popular entertainer, when the gates open at the new speedway for its meeting, to be held August 5-6-7. There the trotter and paces and his owners, drivers and thousands of friends will find a fine new racing plant, including a gast and safe track and modern and up-to-date buildings. These are a part of the big speedway in East Omaha. The second race meeting of the year will be held by the county fair association at its new grounds.

Racing on the Coast,

One of the greatest features of the San Francisco exposition is the biggest harneas racing meeting over held anywhere in the world, where every day a fortune in purses is hung up for the racers. Thousands or lovers of the horse cannot see these wonderful races, but here's the greatest news in the sport line that Omaha has heard in many years.

A number of the best steeds which now are nacing in San Francisco are coming to Omaha to grace the Omaha Driving club's opening meeting and to bring thousands of spectators to the local track by the magic drawing of their names and past performances. Thank Ed Peterson. Omaha booster and owner of one of the nifties little racing stables in this coubtry, for this opportunity. He's out there now, watching his favorite nags race the heads off the best herses the east and west can produce.

To Show in Home Town. Although Peterson's horses have advertised Omaha at many race meetings in many cities in the past, he has never before had an opportunity to exhibit them in Omaha. He's going to show them to the home folks next August. . His stable alone will include the pacer, Hal Boy, who only last Wednesday won the 2:11 pace at the exposition, beating a field of nine other fast pacers; Lee Blessom, a crack trotting mare, for whom Peterson, according to last Sunday's San Francisco's Chronicle, was offered $10,000 by Lon McDonald, famous grand circuit driver, and other good ones.

In addition, Peterson is boosting the Omaha meeting and reports excellent prospects that several well known stables will send representatives here in

In these days when "See America First," is coming into its own, it is peculiarly fitting that the trotter which has attained near perfection in Ameri a and whose development is credited to the United States alone, should find himself more popular than he has been for many years. That Omaha has always loved the trotter has been proven many times by huge crowds who have traveled many miles to see him perform in other cities. That the metropolis will greet his adve it at the Speedway with enthusiasm is piready assured, according to reports recomprise the directorate of the Omal a Driving club. The directors are: Pre: |dent. Ed Peterson; secretary-treasurer, O. M. Smith; directors, E. P. Peck, E. Buckingham, J. A. Kuhn, J. C. Byrne

The club is a member of the Nebrasia Ship elrouit.
