SUPERINTENDENT THOMAS SPEAKS AT WOOD RIVER

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., June 18.—(Special.)—State Superintendent Thomas by invitation addressed an audience of Wood River voters last night on the question of school buildings and school equipment. The voters of the school district of Wood River will for the third time vote on a proposition of issuing bonds for a new high school building. The state superintendent is reported to have indicated to them plainly that their high school building was among the worst in the state and that the community was far behind in the matter of a modern and safe school building. It is stated that the address from such a high authority has had the effect of settling the opponents to thinking, but just on the other hand, a new proposition has entered, this being the recent disastrous hailstorm in that vicinity. The losses thereby occasioned are urged as a reason why the voters should wait another year and the outcome is again said to be in doubt.

HEIRS OF LATE S. W. DECKER WILL CONTEST HIS WILL

FALLS CITY, Neb., June 18.—(Special.)—The will of S. W. Decker, who recently died at the home of Alfred Ramsey near Dawson, was read in the probate court by Judge White. There is no great amount of property, but a contest has been started by the heirs, who are of the opinion that a monument should be erected with the remainder of the property after the heirs receive their share. Mr. Decker came up from Oklahoma and was present at the reading of the will and appeared in behalf of the children, who are the heirs of the late daughter of S. W. Decker.

they have now created The Romance of Elaine Combined to create this master serial and give it the best that the world offers in talent, ingenuity and beauty is Arthur B. Reeve, who gave us Craig Kennedy and who made a place for himself for all time with "Elaine." Charles W. Goddard, now the most renowned motion picture author, who wrote the "Peril of Pauline," did the same for "Elaine." The Whartons, directors extraordinaire, made the pictures for Pathe. In the cast is Pearl White, ex-Pauline and now "Elaine," most beloved and beautiful queen of the screen. Such a cast of assisting artists as Arnold Daly, Creighton Hale, Edwin Arden and Sheldon Lewis all gave their genius at its height.

And now, to cap the climax, to outdo themselves the "Elaine" organization adds LIONEL BARRYMORE. Adds this popular, sought-after and renowned heroic player! Adds all the magnetism of his peculiar acting!
