Poor old Dan Cupid has a hard time of it sometimes. When he gets there right he usually sticks, but it's the getting there that is sometimes (un)berging.

An attractive little person from Des Moines was a guest recently at the home of one of our well known club and suffragist members. She is a petite brunette, very fascinating and possessed with a keen sense of humor. She has visited here on a number of occasions and had won the affections of one of Omaha's fair youth some time ago. At this last visit he was determined not to let her depart without having his heart affairs "all fixed up," as he expressed it.

The young lady was here but a few days and her many friends kept every minute of her time occupied. The interested man was at many of her "given in honor" affairs, but, unfortunately, try as he would, he could not see her alone for more than a very few minutes. Since it takes more than a minute for Danny to properly and impressively make himself felt, Mr. Sultor was once more defeated. After several important attempts to have an engagement a deux with her, the day of her departure arrived and he won, with a promise to see her to the train. He was accepted and at last he felt things were coming his way and everything would be arranged beautifully on the way to the train. The only train out was at 6 o'clock in the morning, so he arose gladly with the first meadow lark and arrived in his car forty minutes before time, when, lo, to his shock and bewilderment, two other unexpected suitors were there to see her to the train. He spent the following Sunday in Des Moines.

Not for Men Only. Foley Cathartic Tablets are not as insistently demanded by women as by men because this particular cathartic is not so well known among women. Women suffer as much as men do from indigestion and constipation, and they also require this scientific remedy to keep the stomach sweet, the liver active and the bowels regular. Foley Cathartic Tablets are wholesome and thoroughly cleansing; do not grip or cause nausea. Stout people say this is the one cathartic that takes away that over-full and clogged-up feeling. ### BOOZE IS KEPT ON THE MOVE

Sleuthing Committee Gives it to the City Dads, Who Pass it Back to the Ministers.

AND NOW F. A. HIGH HAS IT

A whole suitcase full of liquor was taken to the meeting of the Omaha Ministerial union Monday morning by Rev. Thomas M. Evans, pastor of the Grace United Evangelical church. The bottles remained intact throughout the meeting, although their presence was mentioned by Rev. Mr. Evans, who displayed some of the flasks to the other ministers. After the meeting another preacher, Rev. F. A. High, superintendent of the Omaha Anti-Saloon league, took the booze with him and is now supposed to have it safely put away.

The presence of the liquor at a meeting of church pastors was the result of the extensive investigation of alleged liquor violations by the preachers, shortly before the city election. They presented to the city commission a list of places alleged to have sold liquor after hours, and also presented a collection of bottled whiskey and beer, which ministers said they had bought.

The city dads returned the booze to the preachers and had not called for it since, so Rev. Mr. Evans, chairman of the sleuthing committee and custodian of the booze, took it to the meeting of the Ministerial union. The latter voted to turn it over to the Anti-Saloon league. Although some beer was bought, along with the whiskey and the former has since disappeared, and only the whiskey is now in the possession of Rev. Mr. High.

Bryan to Dedicate Sunday Tabernacle

William Jennings Bryan, ex-secretary of state, probably will come to Omaha August 29 to make the address at the dedication of the Billy Sunday tabernacle at Forteenth and Capitol avenues. This announcement was made by Rev. Titus Lowe, general chairman of the local committee in charge of the Billy Sunday revival campaign.

"I have a confidential intimation that Mr. Bryan can change his dates so as to be in Omaha to make the dedicatory address at the tabernacle," Rev. Mr. Lowe said. "I have written him to arrange the matter, and expect he will do it."

Joe Spiece, Billy Sunday's tabernacle builder, is expected in Omaha July 15 to start work on the immense structure. Rev. Mr. Lowe said. The tabernacle will seat 15,000 people and will be constructed with union labor.

Omaha Man Once in Employ of Writer Killed in France

J. S. Taggart, stenographer in Judge Troup's district court, was a personal friend of Henry Beach Needham, the writer, who was killed while making an airplane flight in France. He was employed as a stenographer by Needham in Chicago in 1908, when Needham was finding it somewhat difficult to induce editors to pay for his fiction stories.

One story went the rounds of a score of magazines, only to be returned, in spite of frequent revisions. "Well," Taggart suggested, "Don't change it any more, but send it back to the same editors as an anonymous story."

Copies of the story were again sent out with a postoffice box as the only return address. Two editors, who had previously refused the story, accepted it by return mail.

S. O. OFFICIALS CLING TO RECORDS

Refuse to Turn Over Office Memoranda to Commissioners of New Greater Omaha.

START MANDAMUS PROCEEDINGS

Good feeling prevailed Monday morning in South Omaha city hall when the Omaha officials made formal request for funds and records and were refused with the explanation that the official family of the Magic City had agreed they would require a court order for the protection of themselves and to satisfy the bond companies.

The formalities were carried out as announced last week. The visiting officials accepted the situation with good grace. City Attorney Rine announced he will ask for a writ of mandamus, probably Tuesday morning, in district court. A similar writ was made to Dundee at 5 p. m. yesterday, and the procedure was the same in that case.

Mayor Dahlman, other commissioners, City Attorney Rine, Acting Chief of Police Dempsey, Fire Chief Salter, City Clerk Flynn and Treasurer Ure met at the city hall at 8 o'clock and proceeded at once for South Omaha, where Mayor Hector and various South Omaha officials were in waiting.

City Hall on Drexel Farm. While waiting for arrival of all interested parties humorous references to the situation were indulged in. Mayor Hector related an instance of many years ago when he nearly took a horse owned by Commissioner Jardine from a hitching post on Farnam street. Commissioner Drexel stated that he lived in an old log house at Twenty-fourth and N streets, South Omaha, years before that city had been thought of. The present South Omaha city hall is on the site of the old Drexel farm. Mayor Hector facetiously mentioned that he had been facing the streets of South Omaha and the floor of the city hall cleaned so that the city would be presentable when turned over to the Greater Omaha.

Mayor Dahlman began the serious phase of the proceedings by arising and stating: "I suppose you can guess why we are here. We come to ask that you turn over the records and funds of the city as provided by the consolidation law."

Hector Refuses. Mayor Hector replied: "We have agreed among ourselves that we will refuse to grant your request, for the purpose of protecting ourselves and to give your legal department an opportunity to secure a court order to require us to comply. Our city treasurer has more than $500,000 of funds and has been notified by his bondsmen that he should require a court order that he may be protected in the future. No obstacles will be placed in the way of your securing the court order."

Henry Murphy, attorney for South Omaha, explained that this resistance is based on the supposition that the merger law is unconstitutional, and he added that the refusal was made to save the legal rights of the city.

Treasurer Keeps Funds. Treasurer Ure made a brief demand of Treasurer Martin for the funds in his custody. Whereupon Mr. Martin politely and briefly expressed his disinclination to accede to the demand.

The city commissioners will let the matter rest until the writ of mandamus has been secured. It is believed that this morning the Greater Omaha officials will be in full legal control of South Omaha and Dundee.

Apartments, flats, houses and cottages can be rented quickly and cheaply by a See "For Rent."

Dr. Stimson Names Four as Choice for Playground Head

After looking over a dozen possibilities for director of playground work in Omaha, Dr. Cyrus F. Stimson, field secretary of the Playground and Recreation Association of America, has returned to this city with recommendations that one of four named candidates be employed for the local work by the recreation board. The latter will meet this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock to hear Dr. Stimson's report, and is expected to make a decision concerning the position.

The playground experts recommended for Omaha by Dr. Stimson are: Mr. Eichbaum, now in charge at Pittsburgh, who will accept a call to Brooklyn if not called to Omaha; E. E. Swenson, director of physical education at the state normal school at River Falls, Wis.; V. H. Brown, assistant superintendent of the South park playgrounds system, Chicago; C. L. English, director of the Palmer park recreation center, Chicago.

Of these four men, Dr. Stimson rates either of the Chicago men a trifle higher than the other two, he says, but any one of the four will be a splendid man to put in charge of Omaha's playground work, he asserts.

Dr. Stimson's trip of investigation took him to Pittsburgh, New York, Springfield, Mass.; Columbus, Cleveland, Dayton and Chicago, where he gained first-hand information as to the experience, qualification and personalities of the various men considered for the Omaha position.
