Rourkes Get Small Lead Early in Exciting Game and Keep it All Way Through.

FAST PLAYS AND LONG HITS

DES MOINES, June 30. - (Special Telegram.)-Pitcher Blodgett was too much for the Boosters today and by keeping the hits scattered and walking but one man, he won his game, 3 to 2. Lefty Thomas on the other hand was hit hard in the first and second, while the Rourkes piled up a lead, small, but sufficient to win. In the first frame R. Breen singled to left, was sacrificed to second by Forsythe, and scored when Krueger lifted three-base clout to left field.

In the second, Schliebner singled to enter, but was forced out at second by Thomason. Whalen singled to right and scored on Blodgett's long sacrifice fly to Hahn. Whalen was caught stealing.

One of the fastest double plays ever witnessed here, staged by Sawyer, Hartford and Jones, retired the visitors in the third when with one out Breen beat out an infield hit. Sawyer's brilliant stop of Forsythe's slashing grounder started the double play. Two Omaha en got a life in the eighth. # PLAYING IN RAIN

Members of Commercial Club Carry Umbrellas and Clubs at Annual Outing.

NICE CLOTHES MUD-SPATTERED

Eighty-four Commercial club memgolf links in the mud and rain part Creek and Stromsburg July 3. Central of yesterday afternoon, determined to go through with the golf tournament of their annual outing in spite of the rain. Some few foursomes got started before the rain did, and, refusing to stop when the rain began, the players sent caddles to the club house for umbrellas. Then, carrying clubs and umbrellas, they slopped around the field, and didn't play half badly at that.

From the number of players who slipped and fell one would have thought it was a foot ball game caught with a camera at the third down with 1,000 yards or more to gain. J. C. McClure swung his c'ub long and carefully before he would verture the first drive. Then he missed. "Swiah, aplash" were the only two sounds heard, and McClure carried half the clay of the Field club on his trousers during the rest of the game. Ed Baird stood on a sharp slope and swung for a drive off. It drove him clear off his feet, and he tobogganed down the hill on his stomach in the mud. J. W. Gamble looked as if he had been wading the Bug river to charge the Russians, as he had been chasing the ball

White Trousers Come to Grief. Ed Slater blossomed out in a pair of white palm beach treusers. For abo five holes all was well. But the rain had kept up its work until at last the footing was no longer firm enough for him. A swish and a plunk and Slater sat in a mud puddle. Now the laundry will certainly send him a bill that will keep him selling real estate for two months

Some scores were good enough for eny man's play, and some were poor enough for the worst. Yet there was but one foursome that had not the nerve to let its scores be seen. Those men were C. H. Pickens, M. A. Hall, Ran tall K. Brown and W. B. Hughes. One by one they sneaked in off the field, slirved past the scorekeepers and scrubbed up for the
