DEAF CONVENTION COMES TO A CLOSE

Harry C. Anderson of Philadelphia Re-elected President by Acclamation for Three Years.

OMAHA WOMEN GIVEN EMBLEMS

Before adjourning sine die Saturday, after a week of sessions at Hotel Rome in its sixth annual triennial convention, the grand division of the National Fraternal Society of the Deaf elected the following officers for three years:

President, Harry C. Anderson of Indianapolis, re-elected by acclamation; first vice president, William L. Davis of Philadelphia, advanced from second vice presidency; second vice president, A. L. Roberts of Olathe, Kan.; third vice president, H. Lorraine Tracy, of Baton Rouge, La., re-elected; secretary, Francis P. Gibson of Chicago, re-elected; assistant secretary, new office created, Edward Rowse of Chicago; treasurer, Washington Barrow of Chicago, re-elected; board of trustees, George F. Flick of Chicago, re-elected chairman; Horace W. Buell, jr., of Chicago, re-elected, and C. A. Hart of Chicago.

Philadelphia was chosen as the next place of meeting, the convention there to be held in 1918. Baltimore, Buffalo and Hartford were unsuccessful bidders for the choice.

Some of the delegates and visitors who attended the convention have left for their homes, but most of them are remaining over Sunday. They will attend services for the deaf at various churches today, when visiting pastors will officiate, using the sign language to deliver their sermons.

Services in Churches.

Rev. H. L. Tracy of New Orleans, Rev. C. O. Dantzer of Philadelphia and Rev. J. H. Koehler of Kansas City will conduct the services at Trinity cathedral at 3 p. m. Rev. D. Moylan of Baltimore will hold those at the First Methodist church at the same hour, and Rev. J. W. Michaels of Fort Smith, Ark., will officiate at a service for the deaf at 8 p. m. at the Young Men's Christian association.

About 125 deaf people, including fifty enroute from the east, will start for the San Francisco exposition Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock in special cars over the Union Pacific. A special car of those coming from the east will arrive Monday morning about 10 o'clock, in charge of E. A. Hodgson of New York, editor of the Deaf Mutes' Journal.

Enthusiastic Over Omaha.

Before adjourning Saturday, the convention adopted resolutions of thanks to the Commercial club, Ak-Sar-Ben, Hotel Rome, the local committee, the newspapers and others who had welcomed and entertained them and made it pleasant for them during their week's stay here. Delegates were enthusiastic over the Gate City, its prosperity, enterprise and hospitality.

While the delegates were in session, a committee of local women took charge of the visiting women and gave them a series of good times. In appreciation of this, the convention presented a gold emblem of the society to each of the seven local women.

These were: Mrs. Ota C. Blankenship, chairman, 4103 Lafayette avenue, Omaha; Mrs. Waldo H. Rothert, 4103 Lafayette avenue, Omaha; Mrs. J. Schuyler Long, 611 Bluff street, Council Bluffs, Ia.; Mrs. John W. Barrett, R. F. D. 3, Council Bluffs; Mrs. Perry E. Seely, 1806 Ohio street, Omaha; Mrs. Harry G. Long, 315 Grace street, Council Bluffs; Mrs. John M. O'Brien, 529 South Twenty-fourth avenue, Omaha.

MISSION FINDS PLACES FOR YOUNG CHILDREN

Through the aid of charitably inclined people Rev. A. Wagner of the interdenominational mission, 116 North Tenth street, has found homes for the small children of Mrs. Mattie Abrams, who was deserted by her husband and left destitute in Omaha. Temporary relief was furnished and the mother thus left free to provide for herself. Mrs. Nora Horn and Mrs. Carrie Weston have taken the children into their homes.

Whooping Cough.

"When my daughter had whooping cough she coughed so hard at one time that she had hemorrhage of the lungs. I was terribly alarmed about her condition. Seeing Chamberlain's Cough Remedy so highly recommended, I got her a bottle and it relieved the cough at once. Before she had finished two bottles of this remedy she was entirely well," writes Mrs. S. F. Grimes, Crooksville, Ohio. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

Rev. T. J. Mackay Preaches Sermon On Omaha's Big Wrestling Match

Rev. T. J. Mackay, rector of All Saints church, in The Church and Home, his church paper, gives the following account of his visit to the Stecher-Cutler wrestling match last Monday night, the account as written by Dr. Mackay being a sermon in itself:

Mr. Gene Melady sent the rector a complimentary ticket to the wrestling match between Cutler and Stecher, which took place in Rourke's park last Monday evening. It was with some misgivings that he concluded to attend. He had seen minor contests, and had seen the "All Saints' Athletic club" in their boxing and wrestling contests, but had never seen a match between such giants as Cutler, the heavyweight champion of the world, and our own Nebraska favorite, Joe Stecher.

We had never seen anything in the least objectionable in the wrestling bouts we have witnessed, but somehow this one seemed different, and when we would speak of going to friends they would smile and look so doubtingly that we felt there must be something wrong in attending this great event.

But we summoned up our nerve and went, and now we are wondering why we should ever have hesitated about going. Fancy the ball ground park with grand stand and bleachers and the ground usually occupied by the players completely filled by a magnificent audience, which the papers estimates at about 15,000, and such a crowd. Not hoodlums and tough characters, but the cleanest and best of our Omaha citizens. We plucked up our courage as we neared the ground and thousands of men, and not a few women, pouring in. We said to ourselves: "Well, I'm in mighty good company, anyhow, if I am going to do something wrong," and when I took my seat and looked at that mighty throng I thought: "Well, if God's kingdom has nothing to do with such a gathering as this it is missing its opportunity." Are these thousands of men outside of God's kingdom? Has God not a place in His great kingdom for such men as these? Does God make a distinction between a foot ball game and such a wrestling match as this?

And as I looked around on the mighty sea of faces, I said to myself: "Surely the time must come when the church will awake to see its vast opportunity, and instead of being satisfied to gather into its fold a few adherents here and there, will launch out into the deep and gather into its nets all sorts and conditions of men, recognizing that 'the earth is the Lord's, and all the fullness thereof; the round world and they that dwell therein,' when it will claim all such exhibitions as this, and all clean manly sports and amusements as part of its kingdom, as much as the prayer meeting and the church service."

But the match—well, it was wonderful, and clean, manly sport. I would a thousand times rather witness such a wrestling match than a foot ball game or an automobile race. There was absolutely nothing brutal, indecent, suggestive, or tough about the whole thing from beginning to end—nothing which I would not have my wife and daughter witness.

These two physically perfect men faced each other. They were gentlemen in appearance; the man from Chicago was really a fine looking man, and our Nebraska boy a clean-cut splendid specimen of the western farmer boy, for that is what he is. Only 23 years of age, right from the farm, and today he is the champion heavyweight wrestler of the world.

As I looked at the two men I felt a pity for Stecher, for, although he was beautifully formed, he was slender beside the giant from Chicago. So strong was Cutler that he picked his opponent up from the mat as easily as I would lift a 5-year-old boy and threw him on the mat, getting his first hold on top of him. But quick as a flash Stecher was out of his grasp, and then one could see the wonderful strength that lay coiled up in that slender muscular frame. In seventeen minutes he had the giant's shoulders pinned to the mat, where he lay helpless, with his attendants fanning him to bring him to. He had enough of it, and would have avoided the second struggle if he could have done so with honor.

And then the mighty throng broke loose. Such cheering I never heard. It made the flesh creep, and the blood tingle, to hear the great ovation given the young champion. It was David and Goliath over again. I cannot read that story today without excitement. The ruddy David, the comely young country lad, armed only with his sling and smooth stone from the brook and the mighty giant of the Philistines. And Stecher was the David of this occasion, but he showed even more courage than did David, for he grappled with his mighty opponent, but David kept at a distance.

Queer, isn't it, that religious people will approve of the contest of David and Goliath, which ended in death. They can hear the "dull thud" of that stone as it sank into the forehead of Goliath, "chung!" and applaud the act, but they cannot countenance such a thing as a grand exhibition of physical endurance and manly strength, such as we witnessed Monday evening.

It's a queer world, so it is, and the people are queerer, and the very religious (so-called) are the queerest of all! I think I see St. Paul watching such a wrestling match, and, nervous and excited by what he saw, turning to his lukewarm, timid followers and shouting "Put on your armor!" The armor of God! For we wrestle—not as these men do, with flesh and blood—but against principalities, and powers, against the spiritual hosts of evil arrayed against us. See how earnest these wrestlers are! See how they bend, and twist, and writhe in an endeavor to gain the mastery. Behold their magnificent endurance (I can hear him say), all the result of long weeks of training and self-denial. What are you Christians doing? Where is your self-denial? Where is you courage? Where is your endurance as good athletes in the service of Christ?"

CROWD HEARS BOYS' BAND

Mooseheart School Organization Gives Splendid Concert at City Auditorium.

GOVERNOR MOREHEAD TALKS

A big crowd filled the Auditorium Saturday night to hear the Mooseheart college band in concert.

The program was composed of classic and popular selections that found instant favor with the audience. The band itself showed careful training and knowledge of their parts.

Thirty-one boys are making a 10,000-mile trip through the western states for the purpose of seeing the country and letting the people get acquainted with the work and products of Mooseheart school. The lads will go next to Kansas City and then west. They will play at both of the California expositions, and return to their school, which is in northern Illinois, by way of the northern route.

The concert was preceded by a large program of speeches, which was presided over by Oswald Ryan of Indiana, formerly of the faculty of Harvard university. He explained the vocational education idea of the Mooseheart school.

Mayor Dahlman made an address of welcome to the glee club and band and the officers of the Moose order, who accompanied the boys. Following the mayor, Governor Morehead spoke at length, highly endorsing vocational education, as administered at Mooseheart, and calling upon Nebraskans to give special heed to it.

Farther along on their trip the organization will be joined by members of the board of governors of the school, which is composed of the following prominent men:

Prof Albert Bushnell Hart of Harvard university, Governor Hiram Johnson of California, Governor Arthur Capper of Kansas, Congressman Mahlon Garland of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Ralph Douges of Trenton, N. J.; James J. Davis of Pittsburgh.

LIVELY TIMES AT THE DEN

Old King Ak Prepares for Taking Over a Host of Strangers Who Are Coming to the City.

FEALTY PLEDGES DEMANDED

The Den, King Ak-Sar-Ben's stronghold, is to be stormed by the multitudes Monday evening. No man dare estimate the crowd of candidates that will suffer the initiation that night and take the pledge of fealty. Three big separate and distinct brigades of visitors are to be entertained on the same evening.

There will be the Woodmen of the World, who will be in Omaha on their way to the sovereign camp meeting at St. Paul, Minn. How many hundreds of these will be at the Den no man can as yet correctly estimate. W. A. Fraser, sovereign commander, and Morris Sheppard of Texas, sovereign banker, are to be some of the speakers of the evening.

Veterinarians There, Too.

The Missouri Valley Veterinarians' association is to be in session in Omaha at that time. There are to be several hundred of these men, fresh from the field of their battle with the hoof and mouth disease, who are to be initiated.

Then there is due in Omaha that evening a whole regiment of good fellows from Sarpy county, who are coming to Omaha just to go through Samson's spellbinding process at the Den.

Editor Secord of the Gretna Breeze and other live wires of Sarpy county have given their solemn word that a delegation of 1,000 live ones from Sarpy county will be here. HAPPENINGS IN THE MAGIC CITY

F. H. Bulla Going to Sioux City to Consider Removal of Quarantine Rule.

NEW RULE OF LAW ABOUT GOATS

President James H. Bulla of the Live Stock Sanitary board will leave in a day or two for Sioux City, where a conference is now on as to the advisability of raising the state quarantine against the foot and mouth disease. A number of men left Friday for the lower stock center to talk over the matter. Mr. Bulla and the board members of Nebraska have been appealed to by stockmen who wish the quarantine raised now that all danger of the dread stock disease has been passed.

"I wish to proceed in this matter with all caution," said Mr. Bulla yesterday in discussing the matter. "It is true that the members of the Live Stock board have been importuned to lift all the quarantine laws now that all danger is passed, but we are going very slow." Mr. Bulla stated that he did not want to talk about the matter until he had conferred with the board on Monday.

Paid for Pilfering Goat.

In a decision handed down yesterday by Justice of the Peace P. C. Caldwell, the rule is laid down that union wage of 30 cents an hour, must be allowed a working man for the time spent in hunting his goat which had been unlawfully impounded by his neighbor. Also the justice has decided that the owner of a goat must pay for the shirt consumed by said goat.

The decision was handed down in the case of Stanick against Simonski. Paul Stanick lives at 4721 X street and owns a full grown billy goat. George Simonski lives at 4715 X street, almost across the street from Stanick's. Stanick's goat wandered into Simonski's yard and consumed the major part of a $2.50 silk shirt. Simonski impounded the animal in his cellar. Stanick being lonesome for his pet laid off from work and for two hours hunted down the goat. He found him in Stanick's cellar. Stanick sued and was awarded damages for the loss of his shirt. Simonski was allowed 60 cents for the time lost in hunting his goat.

Two Detectives Paired.

George Allan, detective, late of the morals squad, was paired off with Detective Michael Gillin yesterday to round up the alleged gambling and bootlegging joints in the south side territory. The officers say that the bootlegging is going on almost as bad as ever. They say there are also some "sneak games," but have been unable to catch the delinquents. Yesterday the officers say that "lookouts" were maintained while games were in progress.

Captain Vanous has announced that "lookouts" or "cappers" shall be arrested and held without benefit of any appearance bond.

Frequenters of gambling games said last night that everything was as tight as a drum.

Allan and Gilin will walk together attached to the south side station.

Jerry Dee Dying.

Jerry Dee, one of the old-time residents of South Omaha, is dying at his home, Twenty-fifth and N streets. Mr. Dee is a pioneer of Nebraska and Sarpy county, where he farmed for many years. Of later years he has resided in South Omaha. Old age and general debility have caused a gradual sinking of the aged man and it was said last night that his relatives had been notified that the end was near. Mr. Dee is about 83 years old and has been very active until recent years.

Furniture Put in Use.

Practically the last of the fixtures of the record vault in the old city clerk's office in South Omaha were removed yesterday to Omaha. It is understood that the furniture will simply be reassigned to the departments that need it. The standing desk in the water office was removed to the police station yesterday. Further improvements will be made at the station beginning this week.

Inspector Makes Mistake.

Sanitary Inspector Henry Schmeling, to whom was assigned the task of cleaning up all territory south of Q street, is having trouble these days introducing Doctor Connell's sanitation prescriptions. A day or two ago Henry stopped at a West Q street house entirely surrounded by weeds.

"You must cut these down," said Schmeling to the good woman of the house.

"Must," queried the woman in a voice strangely calm and quiet.

"Yes," said Henry, and forthwith began to demonstrate how the weeds should be cut.

The woman waited while the innocent sanitary officer took two broad swings of the scythe into what appeared the thickest part of the "weeds."

"Weeds," shrieked the outraged woman. "Must cut 'em down." "The best garden on the hill." Weeds! Wow!"

Schmeling's time to a port of safety was considerably less than nothing. He is now learning the art of diplomacy from the Honorable James McInany, the well known Seventh warder.

Woman Injured.

Mrs. Fred Edelbauer, 2733 Madison street, was thrown from her buggy at Twenty-eighth and Q last evening when her horse became frightened at a bicycle ridden by Joe Mike. The woman was seated in her conveyance in front of Edelbauer's shoe store at Twenty-eighth and Q streets when Mike is alleged to have driven the bicycle under the horse's head. The animal shied and threw the woman out on her head. She sustained a fractured skull and a severe contusion of the left hip. She was attended by Dr. E. J. Shanahan and then sent to her home. Mike left the bicycle and fled.

Gathering Up Garbage.

Dr. R. W. Connell, city health officer, is authority for the statement that there is now no hold-over garbage master on the south side, despite the fact that the late council granted a long-time contract to Chris Hughes. Jim Gordon, colored, who has been gathering the garbage on the south side, was yesterday ordered by Dr. Connell to continue his duties until such time as the Omaha commissioners have settled the funds for the use of the merged cities.

The health officers are busy serving notices on those whose property is covered with weeds.

Accused of Abusing Wife.

Timely interference on the part of Captain John Briggs and Sergeant James Sheahan protected Mrs. Frank Karnes from severe fistic application on the part of her husband at the couple's home, Twenty-first and N streets, last night. Karnes was about to thump his wife before an audience of his six children when the officers interfered. He was locked up charged with disturbing the peace over the protests of his wife.

OMAHA OPTICIAN PRAISES MINERAL

Dr. A. B. Tarbox Says Akoz Relieved His Suffering.

One of the best known men in Omaha is Dr. A. B. Tarbox, for many years a resident of this city, and for over 20 years connected with the Optical Institute, 2319 Locust street. Dr. Tarbox has his Optical offices at 835 Brandeis building, where he has a generous practice. He is one of the recent converts to the merits of Akoz, the wonderful California medicinal mineral which is finding such favor in Omaha. Of his experience with the remedy he says:

"For many years I have suffered from an enlarged prostate gland. It was so bad at times that the pain was almost unbearable and the other distressing symptoms of this common ailment were aggravating most all the time. By using the Akoz mineral externally and internally I was 50 per cent better in a few short weeks and if the progress I have made at this writing is continued I am confident I will obtain complete relief. I recommend Akoz and lose no opportunity to speak a good word for it."

Akoz has proven as effective in many cases of rheumatism, stomach trouble, eczema and other ailments. Akoz is being introduced in Omaha at the Sherman & McConnell drug stores, where further information may be had regarding this advertisement.

You May Be Neutral About the War—But Do Not Be Neutral Concerning Your Own Business Affairs and Interests

He would be a foolish business man who would consider that he must suspend his business because there happened to be a fire raging in a neighboring city. Even if a part of the fire-fighting forces of his own city had been called upon to help control the blaze—as has happened in connection with Canada and the European war—he would not stop the machinery of his own business to await the result of the fire.

The European "fire" is a great world-disaster, but it will be "under control" in due time. Meanwhile, even in the countries involved, business has has not been suspended to await the outcome. How absurd for an American business man to be content to "mark time" until events, over which he exercises no control, cease to disturb his peace of mind.

The merchants who have come to realize that their "neutrality" must not extend to their own business affairs are all in line—they are "attending to business."

The opportunity to make aggressive advertising count as never before is now here—an opportunity created by events, but which will result in great business expansion and prosperity for all merchants who see the light, and who have the courage and foresight to use publicity to the utmost limit of its possibilities—and to DO IT RIGHT NOW!
