Governor Stuart of Virginia to Be in Omaha Today

Within the next couple of weeks several governors of eastern states will pass through Omaha on their return from the exhibitions in California.

The first will be Governor Stuart of Virginia, who will arrive from the west today over the Union Pacific at 7 o'clock in the evening, and will leave at 7:35 over the Northwestern. He will be accompanied by his official party.

On August 3 two governors will pass through here. Governor Dunn is due to arrive with a party occupying two special cars, at 7 in the morning, and will leave a few minutes later for Springfield. His party will number about thirty.

The other governor due here on August 3 is Governor Foss of Massachusetts, who will arrive with a party of twenty-five over the Union Pacific at 4 p. m., and will spend two hours in Omaha. He has already informed the Union Pacific headquarters that he would like to avail himself of the opportunity to see as much of Omaha as he can.

Water is Found in Milk of Dairyman from South Side

Five of twelve samples of milk taken from wagons of South Side milkmen were tested and found to have been diluted with water, stated Dairy Inspector Boske.

"I am writing to nine South Side milkmen whose milk tested below the standard, telling them they will be arrested on second offense," announced Health Commissioner Connel.

These were the first samples taken on the South Side under the Greater Omaha regime. Some of the samples tested as low as 2.5 per cent butter fat, the ordinance requiring a minimum of 3.5 per cent.

Nine of twelve samples were rated as "poor." The dairy inspector says water was added to the milk in five cases.

PLAY WRITTEN BY NEBRASKA BOY MEETS WITH SUCCESS

"Me and My Dog" is a new play running successfully at the Apollo theater in Atlantic City, N. J. This is another of the plays written by Fred Ballard, the former Nebraska boy who was graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1907. The Atlantic City papers are devoting a great deal of space in favorable criticism of the play. One paper speaks of it as "an amusing farce," while another speaks of it as "scrupulously funny." This is not the first triumph in play writing that the Nebraska boy has achieved in New York since he went there a half dozen years ago to begin writing plays, or rather to learn the theatrical business from the ground up.

The central theme of this play is founded on the juvenile court theories of Judge Ben Lindsey that child, no matter how criminally inclined, possesses some good, and that upon that a big character may be founded if the good is properly handled.

WARMER WEATHER IS NOW HELPING THE CORN CROP

Summary of weather and crop conditions in corn and wheat region for week ending July 22, 1915. In the central and northern portions of the winter wheat belt rains in the delayed harvest and interfered with thinning in many sections, while considerable damage to shock and lodging of uncut grain is reported. In the southern portion weather was more favorable and threshing is well advanced with satisfactory yields. In the spring belt the week was favorable and crop continued in generally excellent condition, but warmer weather and more sunshine is now needed for ripening. In much of the corn belt it was the most favorable week of the season so far, and corn made rapid growth. The crop is still backward and thinning and cultivation is badly needed in some portions, while considerable local damage resulted from overflood of lowlands. Cuts are generally good, but there is much complaint of lodging and delayed harvest. Cuts and hay are excellent, but haying is delayed in many places on account of heavy rains. Local Forecaster, Weather Bureau.

SLICKER LEAVES DEBTS AND WOE

Trims Up Boys and Men and Grocers and Boarding House Keeper Coming and Going.

WORKS OUT A NOVEL SCHEME

After lining his pockets with kate, at the expense of Omaha merchants and twelve or more local students, "Mr. Fisher," who recently occupied room 315 of the Brandeis Theater building, has left "our midst," leaving woe and debts in his wake.

A little over two weeks ago "Mr. Fisher" rented rooms in the above mentioned building and advertised for solicitors, preferably boys or young men.

He received the usual number of applicants, who upon being ushered into "Mr. Fisher's" presence, would have to wait till that gentleman had finished the morning paper and adjusted his diamonds.

Paid at End of Month. It was then revealed to the duly impressed applicant that he was to solicit orders for the White Crown Seal company of St. Louis, whose product is seals for mason jars. Each evening he was to turn his orders in to "Mr. Fisher," and at the end of the month he would be remunerated at the rate of $2 a day.

After working for some time, the twelve or more solicitors, ranging between 15 and 21 years of age, grew suspicious of their boss and consulted an attorney in the same building. He instructed several of the lads to trail "Mr. Fisher" and find out where he kept his stock, and then the articles would be attached. But, try as they might, no results were forthcoming. "Mr. Fisher" always did his own delivering-the boys merely bringing in the orders.

Almost Caught. Last Monday Elmer Anderson, grocer at 3024 Leavenworth street, called on "Mr. Fisher" while several of the boys were in the office. Mr. Anderson was very much excited, and so became "Mr. Fisher." The latter invited the former to come out in the hall and talk, where it was "time and shady." This increased the rising suspicions of the solicitors and further investigation resulted, which revealed where "Mr. Fisher" was getting his supply.

Numerous grocers in the outlying districts of the city had been visited by "Mr. Fisher," who represented himself to be an agent of the White Crown Seal company of St. Louis, sent to take their product off the market "owing to a defective lot having been sent out."

"Mr. Fisher" to the grocery trade was known as "L. Frank." "Mr. Frank-Fisher" would take what seals the grocer had, with the promise that he would send a check repaying them for the amount they had invested in handling the product. Mr. Anderson had not received his check, hence the excited interview.

The boys, in the meanwhile had convinced, and the "crew managers," who received a little more in pay, had fired several of their employees to see if the

BOOSTERS ARE OFF FOR FRONTIER DAY

Three Special Cars to Carry Omaha Delegation to Big Celebration at Cheyenne.

GOVERNOR IS TO JOIN LATER

With three special cars on the Union Pacific, the crowd of Omaha boosters started at 4:30 yesterday afternoon for Cheyenne to take in the Frontier Days' celebration there for two days. The list of those who have signed up with the Commercial club go is as follows:

Governor Morehead, Charles R. Courtney, George Haverstick, A. F. McAdams, W. E. Shepard, Hugh Wallace, Joseph Kelley, P. H. Dearmont, J. Clarke Cotti, H. G. Morphy, Ben Galanter, W. H. Maupin, Joseph Byrne, J. D. Weaver, Ernest Roel, Frank Latenser, Lester Delahaus, Robert H. Mansley, C. M. Wilhelm, H. H. McDuff, G. W. Noble, N. C. Leary, H. A. Tukey, E. G. Smith, J. H. Redfield, David Cole, A. C. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Edholm, F. L. Sturtevant, C. E. Reed.

South Omaha. Everett Buckingham, Howard Frushard, W. H. Schellberg, Carl Smith, J. M. Cook, Theodore Tillison, B. F. Roth, T. A. Jensen, J. C. Davenport, C. L. Talbot, T. J. Wright, K. G. Smith, E. Rogers, A. P. Stryker, Homer Winder, W. E. Philby, Andrew Knight, F. J. Ensworth.

Siren Tempts and John Kuhn Joins Ranks of Duffers

John G. Kuhn, the attorney, has abandoned himself to the seductions of golf. Refusing to heed the pleadings of his family, his friends and his business associates, he has dallied with temptation until he has found himself hopelessly in the power of the siren.

"Let's go out to Miller park and play golf," said a friend to him a few days ago. "Why, I don't know anything about it," he replied. "I do not think I would like it."

But he hesitated and consented. He became curious to know why the little ball would not go where he aimed it with the clubs, which he borrowed. When he tried it the next day, the tempter allowed him to make three holes in bogey. His rate was sealed. He was doomed.

Now he has purchased clubs and is as crazy as any of them. It is too bad, because he has always been one of Omaha's most respected citizens and has never before gotten into trouble.

Seats for Booster Day Game On Sale

Box seats for the big Booster day ball game on August 6 are now on sale. They can be secured at Rourke park, City National cigar store or McVittie's. The game will be called at 3:30 o'clock. Booster day instead of 3 o'clock and the wrestling exhibition by the Fischer brothers will follow immediately after the game. Regular prices will prevail for the day.

RUNS HALF MILE TO TELL POLICE OF MAN'S DANGER

After discovering a drunken man lying on the railroad tracks at the foot of Davenport street, B. Butts, colored, ran a half mile to police headquarters to report the occurrence.

Luckily when the officers arrived they found that no train had passed. "Why didn't you take him off the track yourself?" demanded the captain. "Was Ah neah thought of that," replied B. Butts in puzzled tones.

HUMMEL REJECTS SOME ORCHIDS WITH BIG NAMES

Sanders & Sons, St. Albans, England, may be "warrant holders to the late King Edward and nurserymen to King George and purveyors of orchids," but they can't fool Commissioner Hummel on orchids.

A shipment of orchids from this firm has been rejected by the city. The plants were ordered for the Hancock park green houses. A few of the names of the rejected orchids are: Angustata, Roscupedale, Bullophyllan, Gargerytum, Calanthe, Varatiffia, Chattelton, Conspicua, Denda, Phal, Shroderatum, L. C. Bitchlevensia, L. C. Hypana, Sanders, Oas, Phalanopsis, Reinsladitana, Stanthopos, Oculata.

Mrs. Doyle Has Close Escape in a Bad Fall

Mrs. D. Doyle, 438 North Fortieth street, while going to the basement fell over a balustrade on the landing, sustaining severe bruises and what may prove a serious injury to her spine. It was by a margin of less than an inch that she escaped striking her head on a pointed iron pipe protruding from the basement floor. She was attended by Dr. Charles Snook.

When BIG Brains Meet

there's a clash or a dash! It is so in picture making. A great idea is about to be dramatized, some stars are selected and a rivalry starts that is fatal. The organization that is responsible for the Elaine idea, has overcome all bad effects of big combinations. And in addition to bringing together the most high-priced, high-talented, all-around aggregation of players, authors, producers, etc.—the Elaine organization has established an esprit de corps—a spirit of cooperation and good fellowship such as has never been seen before. To find Arthur B. Reeve, creator of Craig Kennedy; C. W. Goddard, author of "The Perils of Pauline," "The Ghost Breaker," etc.; Arnold Daly, Pearl White; Sheldon Lewis; Creighton Hale; Lionel Barrymore; the Whartons; Path studios; etc.; all working happily together like a big family, is phenomenal. Each big man brings his own specialty to the table—and to bring two big men together is destruction. But to do it as was done here is to have the best offering ever given a theatre going public.

The stories which Reeves continues to write so successfully well and surpassing all preceding parts, are of course, read continuously in the Omaha Sunday Bee. The pictures by Path Studios under the direction of the Whartons grow better each week. With Lionel Barrymore as Del Mar, whose mysterious expedition is causing you so much worry, Pearl White, is increasing her capture everywhere. She, you know, is now the leader on the expedition to find Kennedy.

THE ROMANCE OF ELAINE (SEQUEL TO THE EXPLOITS)

TO ALL ELAINE WORSHIPPERS.—Write us what you think of the Elaine pictures. Address Miss Pearl White, I. F. S. Co., 226 William Street, N. Y. It is planned to prepare a little volume of appreciative comments by the real critics—the public at large, the people who have appreciated the great work of the biggest motion picture combination ever put to work.
