corn crop in ten years.

Negro Lad at Bemis Park is Practicing to Be a Movie Star

At the weekly meeting of the playgrounds supervisors, Miss Jenkins of Bemis park declared her recreation center has the funniest boy of the entire state.

This juvenile comedian was baptized "Thomas," but at the Bemis playground he is known as "Charlie Chaplin, king of the movies." He has a dark skin and a light heart. He is a negro boy.

Charlie Chaplin, 2d, has a whimsical way of relating his experiences. He told his companions of a visit he made to the Hanscom park recreation center.
Some of the Hanscom park boys did not take kindly to the Bemis park visitor, so they put him to flight.

"When I started to run away I had a lead of five blocks and when I finished I could count fifty blocks of separation between me and dem chills," remarked the Bemis park movie celebrity. Then he enacted it out according to his ideas of moving picture presentation, making the supervisor and the boys and girls laugh.

Charlie is acquiring a repertoire of dialects which he is trying out and the most amusing feature is his pantomime which he gives with the explanation that he is posing for the movies.

Fire in Barn Burns Up New Doll and Its Buggy and Clothes

Rain Sunday night set fire to the barn on the farm of E. J. Smith, about two miles north of Florence, and burned it to the ground. While the loss is small, a few hundred dollars, a great tragedy arose from the fire, and today little Miss Miriam Smith is inconsolable. Friday was her tenth birthday and she celebrated it by receiving as presents a large doll and a real doll carriage for it to ride around the farm in. Smith is building a large new barn on his place and the small old one was being used as a storeroom. Sunday Miss Miriam conceived the idea that it would be an ideal playhouse for the new doll and accordingly spent much time in fitting it up. So easy did she fix it that she decided to leave her new doll there all night. During the night the rain leaked through the roof onto the lime stored therein and thus set the barn afire, burning it to the ground with the new doll and buggy. Now she is experiencing the sorrows of this life and refuses to be comforted by the thought that she is to get a new doll to replace the one burned up.

Nebraska Hunters Are Warned Not to Shoot Upland Plover

Nebraska hunters are warned not to shoot upland plover this summer. R. P.
Holland of Atchison, Kan., district inspector for the government with regard to the observance of the federal migratory bird law, is in Omaha and will make a week's trip of inspection throughout the state. Under the state law of Nebraska the upland plover season opened with the dove season, but the federal law prohibits the shooting of plover until 1918. Mr. Holland declares the government will make every effort to enforce the law and he thus issues the above warning not to shoot upland plover.

M'DONOUGH PLANS TO PUT DUNKARDS IN MEXICO

George L. McDonough, for ten years with the colonization department of the Union Pacific and for fifteen years prior to that with a similar department of the Santa Fe, retired several years ago and now quietly living in Los Angeles, is laying his plans to get back in the land game.

In writing to friends in Omaha Mr.
McDonough asserts that as soon as hostilities cease in Mexico and a stable form of government is established, he will commence to colonize that country with Dunkards, locating them across the border south of California.

During the last three or four years of his service with the Union Pacific Mr.
McDonough colonized more than 2,000 families of Dunkards in western Nebraska and eastern Colorado. Though long past 70 years of age he is said to be as vigorous and active as he was twenty-five years ago.

FARMERS REJOICE OVER PROSPECTS

Wheat Turning Out Better Than Expected and Indications for a Bumper Corn Crop.

CORN NOW DEPENDS ON FROST

According to the Burlington's weekly Nebraska crop report ending last Saturday night, the week generally was an ideal one for the farmers of the state. There was little rain, and while temperatures did not run high, they kept around normal, maturing corn and permitting of the stacking and threshing of small grain.

The report indicates that throughout the state most of the farmers are stacking the greater portion of their small grain and that the amount of threshing out of the shock is much less than during former years. Where threshing has been done, wheat has turned out fully as much as expected. There has been considerable damage by rain, but not as much as earlier reports indicated.

Looks for Bumper Corn Crop.
The corn crop has gotten down to a point where it is asserted that it is entirely a weather proposition. Indications are that if frosts hold off the crop will be a bumper. On the other hand, should there be frosts early in September, the crop might be slightly below the average, with considerable soft corn.

Reports indicate that corn made good headway during the week, and that in many localities, though late a month ago, it has now caught up and is about what it should be at the middle of August.

Estimating the conditions of corn on the basis of 100 per cent for a perfect crop at this time of year, the figures by divisions are:

Now, Wk. Ago.	Now, Wk. Ago.
Omaha... 95	Lincoln... 85
Wymore... 97	McCook... 100

Fruit prospects, so far as apples and grapes are concerned, continue perfect.

HUSBAND MAKES CHARGES USUALLY MADE BY WIFE

George A. Levering, reversing all traditions of divorce courts, has brought suit against his wife, Mrs. Maude Olive Levering, alleging that she is lazy, thoughtless, stays out late nights and is guilty of improper conduct. These are the time-honored allegations made in hundreds of cases brought by wives against husbands.

Mrs. Levering "has neglected to cook meals, make beds or wash dishes," her husband charges, and "has failed to show a due regard for her home or her happiness." Although he makes only a small salary, he asserts, his wife has made extravagant purchases, leaving the bills to be paid by him.

SAYS HE IS WORKING FOR SUNDAY EVERY DAY

Clyde Higgins of Aurora, Ill., was arraigned in police court charged with being drunk.

"Why, I had something to drink, all right, judge, but I'm working for Billy Sunday every day on his tabernacle," countered Clyde.

"Well see if you can't double up and work for him by keeping away from booze or the devil and I both are liable to have something to say to you," informed the magistrate.

Burglar Tries to Injure Victims by Turning On Gas

Six-year-old Anne Fogel, 1308 North Twenty-second street, was awakened by some one walking in the house and called to her father, who ran to the kitchen just as the intruder left. Investigation showed that the robber had secured $65 and a check for a larger amount. The check was found later in the back yard.

It was also discovered that the burglar had turned on the gas jets, but these were turned off by the occupants of the house before anyone was overcome by the gas.

No Reduction for the West in the Hard Coal Rates

The complete report of the Interstate Commerce commission shows that the west is given no relief in the matter of hard coal rates, but that the reduction which has been made applies only from the mines to points in central New York and to the tidewater.

Omaha and now in the drug business at Bear Lake, Mich., is an Omaha visitor.
He held camps on The Bee when it was located on East Farnam street and was a printer at the time when some of the oldest members of the present Bee chapel were mere galley boys.

There Was a Big Dinner

at a big hotel in Omaha one night. A commercial organization gave it, and one of the purposes was to encourage and develop trade in Omaha.

"I notice they always use cigars made in New York or Harrisburg, Pa., at these dinners," said a man employing twenty-eight men in an Omaha cigar factory.

The Omaha cigar maker knew exactly how it was. He had often wondered why he was employing twenty-eight men instead of 280. It must be a matter of brand, rather than of goods.

And yet—the money he pays for wages in Omaha is exactly the same brand the man in Harrisburg uses.
