Exposition of Practical Work of Its Several Departments Fills Large Building.

LECTURES AND DEMONSTRATIONS

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 4.—(Special.)—One of the features of the State fair will be the university exhibit in University Hall, formerly the Horticultural Hall.

The Colleges of Agriculture and Engineering have the most extensive exhibits. The conservation activity of the state is shown by the Conservation and Soil Survey and by the Conservation and Public Welfare commission.

The College of Agriculture will occupy the west wing, the College of Engineering the east wing, the public welfare and service departments the north wing and the conservation department the south wing.

The College of Agriculture will occupy the west wing, the College of Engineering the east wing, the public welfare and service departments the north wing and the conservation department the south wing.

The features of the University Hall exhibit are the state motion picture films, wireless telegraphy, the taking, manufacture and projection of motion pictures, and the demonstration of systems of ventilation as shown by the Engineering college.

The public service wing houses the agricultural and university extension exhibits. Other booths in this wing are occupied by the domestic science, bacteriological, weather bureau and legislative reference bureau departments.

The engineering department has provided a large and fine stationing machine, which will make souvenirs for fair visitors. The department of applied mechanics demonstrates tests of road and pavement materials. The model farmstead in the agricultural engineering exhibit is one of the main attractions in the east wing.

Schedule of State Films. Lists will be posted around the fair grounds, showing the times at which certain of the state films will be run in the lecture hall in the south wing.

Irrigation in western Nebraska. A duplicate copy of this reel is being run at the San Francisco exposition to crowded audiences in the hall of the United States reclamation service. It is by far the best irrigation reel ever made.

Parks and playgrounds. Hog cholera. The School of Agriculture, a two-reel feature showing the life of a boy while in the School of Agriculture.

General reel. University of Nebraska, including drill and football. Better babies. Power farming.

Lectures and Demonstrations. An exhibit of especial interest will be the lectures and demonstrations of apple culture, spraying and pruning in the west wing of University Hall. A complete exhibit will be made of the different varieties of apples. How much water does a corn plant use in one day, in one hour or in seven days in hot August? That question is answered in the experimental agronomy booth.

STATE TAX MONEY IS LESS THIS YEAR

Reduction in Levy Will Cut Down Receipts Over Nebraska Nearly Half Million.

INSURANCE MEN PROTESTING

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 4.—(Special.)—Receipts from taxes raised by the state levy will be $11,946.83 less this year than in 1914, according to figures given out by Secretary Bernacker of the State Board of Assessment.

This is caused by the decrease made in the state levy by the board of assessment and will result in the receipts from Douglas county to the state being $7,685.62 less than in 1914, while Lancaster county will pay in $21,974.43 less than the 1914 tax.

The tax from Douglas county will be $27,113.22 and from Lancaster county $127,148.42 for 1915.

Insurance Companies Protest. The State Insurance board held a short session today to listen to a representative of insurance companies in Chicago who protest against the changing of insurance policies as made by the board last month, which cut out the Beeson form and obliterated the electrical clause relating to the care of apparatus.

Crack at Gerdas Law. BRIDGE COMBINE GIVEN RUDE JOLT

PRICE DOWN TO LOW FIGURE

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 4.—(Special.)—The alleged combine which has been able to swing bridge contracts in Nebraska, got considerable of a jolt last Friday at St. Paul, when a new contractor stepped in and walked off with the contract for the state aid bridge near that city at about half what the alleged combine bids were for.

The county board, according to the story from the office of the state engineer, was not satisfied with the bids offered some time ago, which ran from about $8,000 up to $70,000 and called for new bids on plans drawn by State Engineer Johnson. The new bids were opened this week at St. Paul and the contract let for $28,638 to the Central States Bridge company of Indianapolis.

The state engineer drew plans for a bridge estimated to cost $23,000 and on this the new contract was let. The next bid to the Indianapolis company was that of the Omaha Structural company of $34,600, and the next the Monarch Engineering company of Falls City for $34,600. Other bids ran as high as $29,700.

DEMOCRATS GATHERING WIND FOR NEXT ROUND

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 4.—(Special.)—While nothing was said today in the legislature that peace has been declared between warring democratic state officials. Attorney General Reed is out of the city, so that no opinions will be emanating from that source until Monday at least. State Treasurer Hall had a few board meetings to attend this morning and was too busy to talk.

Food Commissioner Harman hinted that the war was smothered by any means and that in the near future the public would have a chance to find out that the stand taken by himself against the state treasurer was the only Simon pure brand and had the approval of the pure food department, inspections showing that every requirement of the law has been met in the branding.

Other state officers are somewhat nettled that they have lost out considerably in the public eye, but hope to get in before their erms have expired.

LABORER AT GRAND ISLAND IS FOUND DEAD IN BED

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Sept. 4.—(Special Telegram.)—Charles Ferguson, a laborer, about 45 years of age, was found dead in his bed in a rooming house at Doniphan late this morning under circumstances calling for a coroner's inquiry.

His face was so discolored as to suggest strangling and the disappearance of his roommate with whom he retired last night gave occasion for tracing the latter, who was taken into custody here upon his arrival from Hastings.

Both men had been drinking heavily at Hastings yesterday and the roommate, named Faimon, was again intoxicated today. The physicians called, however, are inclined to believe death resulted from heart failure caused by alcoholism.

Faimon declares that when he awoke this morning his partner was dead. In coming frightened, he took the first train, later taking a train with a new pal to Grand Island. An autopsy may be held.
