SUNDAY SCOLDS CHURCH PEOPLE FOR NOT PAYING

Contends That the Tabernacle Collections Fall Far Short of What They Should Have Been So Far.

TALKS OF CASTING OUT DEVILS

Pays His Respect to the Worshipper Who Sits in New Pew and Then Goes Out to Work for Saloon.

PRICE OF SALVATION

With "Ma" Sunday in her accustomed place just back of his platform "Billy" Sunday was at his best yesterday afternaan. It was a sermon in which he scolded lazy and insincers church people and made them ashamed of themselves and of their actions in comparison with their professions. Before he started to preach he said a word about the Thursday night collection.

"That collection was the first thing I've seen in Omaha that disappointed me," he said. "It didn't amount to much. Twelve thousand people and $500 in the collection! About the poorest I've ever seen."

This collection on the evening o the evangelist preached his sermon on "The Home" was to be something special. In Colorado Springs the collection that night was

Mr. Sunday's afternoon text was the question of the disciples when they were unable to cast out the devil. They asked Christ, "Why could not we cast him out?"

With such dramatic power did the speaker relate the story of a shipwreck that a number of women and several men in the audience burst out crying. It was the story of a shipwreck, and while the fisherfolk on shore looked at the vessel going T. W. McCullough, in Behalf of to pieces on the rocks they saw a man in the masthead. A young man on shore asserted that he would rescue the mariner. His mother besought him not to go, as his father and brother had never returned from the

YANKTON, S. D., Sept. 10 .- (Special.)-The banks of seven counties, Yankton, Clay, Turner, Hutchinson, Douglas, Charles Mix and Bon Homme, comprising seventy-five banks, were represented left. For Omaha, Council Bluffs and Vicinity here at a meeting of Group One of the State Bankers' association, which met here Thursday afternoon, to protest against the recent ruling of the State Banking commission, which orders 50 per cent of the state banks' reserve to be kept within the state in certain specified

A resolution was drawn up and ordered filed with the governor and members of the commission. In addition a committee of three bankers, C. W. Pratt of Geddes, F. C. Danforth of Parker and W. H. McMaster of Gayville was appointed to go to Pierre and personally go into the matter with the governor and commission. It was decided that if the protests now pouring into Pierre from all parts of the state do not produce the desired effect it would be advisable to call a special neeting of the South Dakota Pankers' szociation to meet at Pierre and act on the ruling, which it is claimed will work great hardship and bring about complications in the extending of proper credits to customers of the banks.
