

STATESMAN SEES BRIGHT DAY AHEAD

Former Ambassador Bryce Hopes to See International Code Adopted Throughout Civilized World.

BUSY WITH LITERARY WORK

(Correspondence of The Associated Press.) LONDON, Aug. 31.—The noise of war is all-pervading here and little but war is in the minds of people.

When seen in his study by a representative of The Associated Press Lord Bryce showed the same keen interest in American affairs that has made him an authority on them since his American Commonwealth appeared, and the same intimate acquaintance with American men and affairs, political and party questions and public issues.

Since Bryce became a member of the House of Lords he gives much attention to the pressing questions now crowding on Parliament taking quarters within easy reach of the upper chamber at Westminster, where he often joins in the serious and rather heavy debates of that august body.

Military Party Dominant. The interest taken in America in Lord Bryce's report on "Alleged Atrocities Committed by the Germans in Belgium" was a source of much satisfaction to him.

"The committee over which I presided reached conclusions very slowly and reluctantly," he said. "I personally have many friends in Germany and I could hardly believe that such things could be true, or that they knew such things were happening. But beginning with an open mind, and even in doubt, the truth of the charges was finally forced upon all the committee by the accumulation of evidence.

Completely made in the course of the talk to Lord Bryce's pamphlet on "Neutral Nations and the War," and to some interpretations drawn from it on some of the larger results which might come out of the war.

"It is too soon to say what the war will bring in good or evil. But we can at least hope, and perhaps see dimly, some of the things to be gained. One of the most desirable, I should say, will be the territorial integrity of small states—Belgium, Serbia, Switzerland, Holland. If this war means anything it means that a group of great states are banded together in protecting the small states against absorption and annihilation.

"And yet the small states cannot exist under the rule of force and the survival of the strongest, as it has not the resources for vast military establishments; of incalculable value as a pacific barrier its very existence depends on the good faith of the great and powerful states in dealing with it.

As to Future Effect. Lord Bryce was asked if this would not lead to some internationalizing of treaties so that it would become the duty of the great states to uphold treaty obligations toward the small state.

"Yes, that is what we all desire; that is what the article referred to was meant to advocate. It is one of the larger results which we may foresee with some hope of realization," said Lord Bryce.

"This war has increasingly shown the need of an international code under which treaties are not alone respected by states party to them, but are part of an international code of honor which all states are bound to uphold. Under such a code any state disregarding a treaty obligation it has solemnly undertaken offends not only the other contracting party to the obligation, but also the entire international bond of states leagued to uphold the sanctity of international compacts.

SEVEN THOUSAND WOMEN ARE DOING HEAVY LABOR

(Correspondence of The Associated Press.) DORTMUND, Germany, July 27.—Women have so far supplanted men in some of the large industries of Dortmund that there are now 7,000 doing the ordinary work of their husbands or brothers, while fully 1,000 more are seeking positions.

Out of this total, 6,000 are in the iron works, and have to do work customarily considered too heavy for women. About one-fourth of the women are those whose husbands are at war; one-sixth are widows, and the balance are unmarried.

Last Month Reduced Rates Via Nickel Plate Road. New York and return, $28.50. Boston and return, $27.50. Low rates to other eastern points.

SECRETARY HILLS' REPORT

Provisions Are Made for Soldiers' Children that Are Born Out of Legalized Wedlock.

FOOD AND WORK FOR MOTHERS

(Correspondence of The Associated Press.) LONDON, Sept. 5.—The work of the War Babies and Mothers' league, which has officially reported more than 4,000 cases of soldiers' children born out of wedlock, is described in a report by A. James Hills, its secretary. He says: "The girl is very shy in owning up, and it is only at the last moment, when she is frantic and distracted, that she takes someone into her confidence.

"Here Are Obstacles. Hills explained that many of the women who have to be assisted lived before the war as the wives of men now in the trenches. In most cases, obstacles military or otherwise, stood in the way of marriage. An Irish girl, a Catholic, said she could not induce her man, a Protestant, to marry in her church, and she refused to do so in his, so they did without. These couples live quite as respectably as those legally united, however.

"In the majority of cases," continued Hills, "it is simply a matter of a young girl and a young man losing their heads when the man is going to the front. Generally the pair are engaged. "We believe the government ought to pay these girls a regular separation allowance, such as is paid to wives of soldiers."

Besides providing food and watching over the mother, the league gives her sewing to do, if she is able to do it, in order to promote a spirit of independence. Where it is considered advisable, foster parents are found for the child, and the mother is given a situation so as to make a fresh start in life.

The league has brought about the marriages of a number of couples. Marriages are not popular among the poor because of the expense. But with expenses paid, they are eager for the ceremony. The sum of £2.00 is given for the license and a cheap wedding ring provided.

It is significant that the men in the trenches in writing to the league always refer to their mates as wives. They seem extremely grateful for the assistance given these unfortunate, and they recognize their responsibility fully.

WESTERN ARCHITECTURE INTRODUCED TO CHINESE

(Correspondence of The Associated Press.) PEKING, Aug. 17.—Western styles of architecture have been making their appearance in government buildings in various parts of the city of Peking in recent years, and because of the presence of enterprising German architects, the new government buildings which are going up generally have the high German roof. These buildings stand in contrast to the Chinese buildings, which are also conspicuous for heavy roofs, but of a totally different style.

The old Manchu regime had its own fixed rules and regulations for architecture; the present government is adopting foreign styles with a rapidity that often causes remarkable, sometimes ludicrous, incongruities.

NAVAL COMMANDERS ARE MADE HONOR CITIZENS

(Correspondence of The Associated Press.) BERLIN, Aug. 16.—Next to naming a new baby or a statue or a bridge or tower after Hindenburg, granting the freedom of a city to the commander of a successful submarine is Germany's popular diversion at present. No less than four naval commanders have thus been honored and have been made "honor citizens" of communities large and small.

The first one to be thus recognized was Frigate Captain von Mueller, commander of the sea raider Emden. The city of Emden, after the ship's destruction, named his birthplace, Blankenburg, paid him similar tribute.

The city of Karlsruhe took the same step in the case of Frigate Captain Erich Koehler, commander of the Karlsruhe, and Otto Weddigen, captain lieutenant of the U-9 and the U-29, who perished with the latter submarine, has been similarly honored by his birthplace, Herford. The latest case is that of the city of Kreuznach, which has conferred his freedom on Captain Lieutenant Herwig, commander of the U-31 and the U-41.

A New Complaint. A German whose wife was ill at the Soney hospital, Brooklyn, called the first evening she was there and inquired how she was getting along. He was told that she was improving. "Well, doctor, what did she die of?" he asked. "Medical Pickwick." Next day he called again and was told she was still improving. This went on for some time, each day the report being that his wife was improving.

Finally, one night when he called he was told that his wife was dead. Seeing the doctor, he went up to him and said with a world of sarcasm in his voice: "Well, doctor, what did she die of?" "Improvements!"—Medical Pickwick.

SPANISH KING ASKED TO LOCATE MEN IN WAR

(Correspondence of The Associated Press.) MADRID, Aug. 17.—King Alfonso's mail grows bigger every day with letters asking his intervention to obtain news of French, English, Russian and Serbian prisoners of war. The king interests himself in every request and recommends diligence by the Spanish ambassadors in securing the desired information. When the news is good, Alfonso wires it immediately on receipt; when it is bad he sends it by mail with a word of consolation.

tion, Spanish ambassadors in belligerent countries are also forwarding considerable sums of money to prisoners of war. Apartments, flats, houses and cottages can be rented quickly and cheaply by a Bee "For Rent." See Want Ads Produce Results.
