Famous Muggsy is Preparing to Detroit Slugger Makes New League Omaha Fans Favor Boston, but Capture Pennant of 1917 This Early in the Game.

WILL BUILD UP DURING 1916

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.-John J. McGraw has assembled two championship teams since he took command of the Glants, just about thirteen years ago, and he is now drawing up plans and specifications for a third. He does not expect to have It next season, but is building for a winner in 1917.

McGraw saw the best team he ever had lose its punch the year after it won a world's championship. The 1906 Giants, with Mathewson and McGinnliy, were so strong in all departments of the game that they probably could have beaten out this year's field without extending themselves.

Within two years McGraw had another team that was good enough to force the Cubs into a post-season contest to decide the championship, but it was not until 1911 that he won the pennant again. Five years clapsed before the Giants participated in their second world's series.

The average time required to build up a pennant winner is four years. This season saw the downfall of the American league champions of 1910, 1911, 1913 and 1914, and the wreck of the National league champions of 1911, 1912 and 1913. The Athletics, however, were deliberately scattered, while the Giants made a brave show part of the season, only to collapse in the stretch.

Connie Mack declared himself out of the pennant race early in the season, collected a staff of young pitchers, and started to reconstruct his batting order. Connie has promised that the Athletics LUMBUS, O., Oct. 2.—The Grand Cir- it will probably be two years before he

The close of the International league season will throw several players back to third place the Giants. Some five or six college men dosen recruits from the minors will be with the material he must work with in 1899, next spring in Marlin.

The necessity of finding a pitcher who can carry the Giants along as Mathewson did for twelve years is McGraw's greatest task. Matty is done as a big winner. He was the daddy of them all in his day; but cannot "tote" his people along any more Probably McGraw will never find another Mathewson. They happen along about once in every twenty years. Wish Matty to pitch the first and fourth game in every important series the Giants never figured on anything less than an even break. For two years now the Old Master has not been a "repeater," and without him the Giants have failed. Tesreau is the nesrest approach to an "Iron man" the Glants have had since Mo-

City Hall Bowling Loop to Be Formed

A city hall bowling league will be organized Monday evening at the city hall. Dick Grotte, Claude Bossie and Tom O'Connor, are the leading spirits in the organization of the league.

Last year a city hall team was or-ganized and challenges were huried at every team in the city. But the city hall chaps couldn't get enough games to make it interesting, everybody seemed afraid of them, so this year they decided to organize a league of their own.

Plenty of Philadelphia Money in Sight Without Odds.

Who will win the world's series? Ask any Omaha fan that question and an argument will start.

Opinions seem to differ about fiftyfifty. Everybody seems to believe that according to dope the Red Sox should win hands down, but Nebraskans have a lot of confidence in one Grover Cleveland Alexander, who is a Nebraska product, and they seem to be agreed that Grover may pull the Phils through to success. Betting seems to favor the Red Sox, although plenty of Philadelphia money is ers on the series. Boston's Idea.

Boston supporters refuse to gamble on the Red Sox to win the first game because of a wholesome fear of Alexander.
On the other hand, Philadelphia supporters are offering slight odds on Moran's crew to win the first game.

"It looks like the Red Sox would win the series," is the opinion of Pa Rourke, "although with a short series and with Alexander going good the Phils have a chance to cop. Also it wouldn't surprise me if Mayer should pitch some great ball in the series and if he does the Phils might win. While I favor the Red Sex because they undoubtedly have the ap-

Johnny Gonding says it will be a victory for Philadelphia. "Alexander can pitch three games and win all three," says Johnny, "and that will win the championship."

Claude Bossle is one world's series fan who can't see the Phila. "Foster can beat Alexander," said Bossie, "and if these two hurlers book in the first game that is the way my coin will go."
