CONSPICUOUS READING

NEW TORK, Oct 8.—Prices made further recovery today from their abrupt declines of Wednesday, under guidance of the railways, which soverned the marked the railways, which soverned the marked form start to finish. The movament in the transportation shares furnished the marked to know the total from start to finish. The movament in the transportation shares furnished the most impressive demonstrations of trength seen in some months and was everywhere halled as a welcome and ceeded change from the long period of heetic trading in stocks whose values its yet to be determined.

Reading was the most conspicuous feature of the entire list, its sales of 18,000 shares exceeding those of every other issue. At the price of 1824 it showed a gain of 78. Other active railways included Lehigh Valley, the Harriman and Hill issues. St. Paul, Pennsylvania, Canadian Pacific, New York, Central, Erics, Missouri, Kansas & Texas, Denver & Rio, Massouri, Kansas & Texas, Denver & Rio, Massouri, Kansas & Texas, Denver & Rio, Grande and Toledo, St. Louis & Western were active and strong to an unwonted degree.

Specialties opened strong, Westinghouse, Crucible Steel, Colorado Fuel and Baldwin Locomotive recording advances of 1 to 3 points, while Bethlehem Steel rose 3½ to the new record of 459, with 5 for the preferred at 175. These gains were subsequently lost by losses of 19 and 18½ and 9, respectively, at the end of the season. Great Northern Ore and the copper had their upward fling at midday, the former being heavily traded in, but it was evident that profits were being taken quits generally in all specialties under cover of the rise in rails. As a result war shares fell back at the close, as did slao the railway group, those issues also reflecting releasing sales.

General chemical afforded some diversion in the final dealing a speciacular advance, on very moderate offerings, being accomplished by reports of a "meion cutting" in the near futures.

Woman Saves Store by Putting Out Fire

Mrs. J. M. Pollack saved her little home and grocery at 1420 South Sixth street at 6 o'clock this morning when she heroically extinguished a fire at the risk of serious personal injury. Her hands were severely burned. Ehe was lighting a gasoline stove and during her absence of a few moments some of the gasoline leaked over the tove and ignited. Mrs. Pollack sup-present the flames with wet ciothes. When the fire department arrived the fire had been put out. The firemen commended Mrs. Pollack for her bravery.

CITY COUNCIL OF SOUTH OMAHA STILL IN SESSION

Assistant City Attorney TePoel has discovered that the former South Omaha bers did not go through the formality of edjourning. The council met on the morning of Saturday, June 19, again in the afternoon, also in the evening, when an adjournment was taken to the following Monday morning, but when Monday ing came the members did not meet.

The only possible effect this situation could have, according to the city legal department, is that some of the acts of that council of the last day of its meeting might be questioned, but up to this hour so one has seen fit to raise any question.

Board of Education is Now Considering the day time. Night High School

A night public high school is being conidered by the teachers' committee of the Board of Education. The chief determining factor just now is the demand for such an institution. The matter has been discussed at several meetings of the ommittee and remains an open question. It is probable that if the school started, the course will include book-

Both 73 Years Old, Stage Elopement

Somewhere in Omaha there is a daughter who does not know that her father aged 73, is about to be married to a bride of the same age. When the knot is securely tied the happy couple will ask for the filial forgiveness and blessing. Levi O. Curtis of Omaha and Mrs. Margaret Shreve of Brownsville are the elopers. Mr. Curtis secured the marriage, license. His place of residence, where he expects to be married, and who will perform the ceremony, he kept a deep secret. "That would be tipping it off," he answered in reply to a question where his bride was. "She is staying with my daughter," he confided, "and we're the only ones who know about this." And the aged bridegroom-elect hastened from the court house to keep his date with the bride-to-be at whatever meeting place they had selected. They will five at Hrqwnsville.
