"TO GIVE IT UP OR NOT TO GIVE IT UP" (meaning bridge clubs) is the question with young women prominent socially in our town. This afternoon a number of young women were invited to the home of Miss Marion Carpenter to hear Miss Frances Miller's plans for the organization of a Bible study class. Miss Miller is a member of the "Billy" Sunday party.

The Bible study classes are all right, according to the young women, but there is this to consider, also: "Billy" Sunday says, "If you have a pack of cards in the house, burn the Bible. If you want to keep the Bible, burn the cards."

What is one to do, then, if bridge is one of the savings of otherwise dull afternoons, when the young men are out in the busy marts chasing the elusive dollar?

What the decision will be is yet to be seen. I have noticed this, however. I have observed a fine old family Bible and a pack of cards lying alongside of each other on the library table, and so far as I could tell, no heated words passed between them.

Did you know that a recent queen of Ak-Sar-Ben had "hit the trail"? Honest Injun!

Reunion of Friends.

Mrs. J. H. Dumont has found a graceful way to provide a meeting of the Burdette Lewises with their Nebraska friends. Since quitting his native state, Mr. Lewis has become a man of pronounced prominence in civic matters and is considered one of the best authorities on civic statistics, and, consequently, he is in much demand as a lecturer. In making flying trips over the country, Mr. Lewis has stopped off and on in Omaha for very brief stays, never long enough to meet more than a few of his old friends.

Next Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis will be in Omaha, and Mrs. Dumont, on receiving this intelligence, summoned old friends and schoolmates to an old-fashioned reunion at her home. Mrs. Lewis, a native Nebraskan, was state secretary of the New York Women's Christian association at the time of her marriage to Mr. Lewis and, as Miss Pearl Archibald, had made a name for herself in educational and church work.

Omaha Loses Queen.

Miss Marion Howe, our Ak-Sar-Ben queen, leaves toward the end of the week to take up her musical routine in New York City. Queen Marion and her mother, Mrs. R. C. Howe, were seen at the Gadski concert last evening at the Auditorium. As the queen passed down the aisle, she received the homage of many of her subjects and graciously bowed her acknowledgments.

Wedding Announcement.

The wedding of Miss Marjorie Lichtenwalner, youngest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Lichtenwalner, and Mr. Evans Z. Hornberger, will be celebrated Wednesday at noon, at the family residence in the Maryland apartments, Dr. Young, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church, officiating. None but the close relatives of the families will be present.

This wedding will be the culmination of a Nebraska university. Miss Lichtenwalner and Mr. Hornberger having taken degrees in the classical and law courses, respectively, of the university, with the class of 1915.

Miss Lichtenwalner is a member of the Phi Mu sorority and will be remembered as having won the Phi Beta Kappa honors. During the last year Miss Lichtenwalner was first year of the high school at Randolph, Neb.

Mr. Hornberger is a member of the Acadia fraternity, and was chosen guard on the all-Missouri Valley team from the Cornhusker squad in 1912, and is now connected with the United States National bank.

After a short wedding trip the bridal couple will make their home in Omaha.

OFFER REWARD FOR SMITH'S MURDERER

County Commissioners Informally Agree to Give Hundred Dollars for Arrest and Conviction.

DAHLMAN WANTS A FORESTER

A total reward of $300 has been offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the murderer of W. H. Smith. City Commissioner Kugel secured adoption by the city council a resolution offering a reward of $200 and the county commissioners informally agreed to offer a reward of $100. A resolution will probably be passed by the latter officials Monday.

The dark condition of the walks and streets in the vicinity of the scene of the murder of W. H. Smith last Saturday evening prompted the city commissioners to favor the appointment of a city forester beginning the first of the new year.

Mayor Dahlman announced at the city council meeting he will recommend in the new budget an item to provide for the salary of this proposed new official. The city forester will be given authority to regulate all trees within the city, and particular attention being the necessity of cutting heavy branches which overhang walks and offer protection to persons of criminal inclinations. He will also work for uniformity of trees and will work in connection with the new city planning board, which will be appointed this year.

William S. Heller, who discovered the body of Mr. Smith, wrote a letter to the council, describing the situation at Thirty-first and Dodge streets. Several of the city commissioners have visited the scene and they agree that the condition of trees in this neighborhood needs attention.

The new city planning law gives the city wider authority in this and other matters. The proposition will be discussed in committee of the whole during the next few weeks.

DOES NOT SELL TICKETS TO QUAKER OYSTER SUPPER

A waaght chap is "Bob" Mathews, "Billy" Sunday's private secretary. "Billy" received a letter from a man in Philadelphia (who doesn't need any nerve tonic) enclosing ten tickets to an entertainment and supper to be given October 25 for the benefit of a church, and asking "Billy" to try to dispose of them at 25 cents each in Omaha. Leaving out of account the expense of going to Philadelphia to attend the entertainment and partake of the supper, there wouldn't be enough time to get there.

"Bob" returned the tickets with this note:

"Enclosed please find the tickets which you so kindly sent. I am sorry to say Mr. Sunday has been unable to sell any of them. Yours respectfully, etc."

Local Contractors Have Grouch on City Laws of Inspection

Because building permits are not taken out customarily before a building is started, and because the city building inspection department does not operate on this point and on several other points as the building contractors believe it should, the local contractors are somewhat peeved.

They hold that plans should be filed with the building inspector, who should inspect and O. K. them before the building is started. They hold that instead, a building is often started without his sanction, even though plans have been left with him for his examination, and that when the contractor gets a story or more built according to the plans, he encounters difficulty with the inspector who comes and makes him tear down something that is strictly according to the plans and should have been recognized by him in the plans.

The Nebraska Master Builders' association, a newly formed body of contractors of the state, is to hold a meeting following a dinner at Ganson's cafe Wednesday evening at 5:30. Five speakers are scheduled. The matter of the way the building inspector's department is handled is to be brought up. It is said by contractors who are to attend, Stanley Rosewater is to speak on Nebraska law, and the contractor, Grant J. Parsons is to talk on the need of organization. William Neilman is to speak on organization and the sub-contractor, Andrew Hart is to speak on the insurance question. K. M. Bickel is scheduled to speak on the new contract document.
