Entered at Omahe postoffice as second-class matter. TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

REMITTANCE.

Result by draft, express or postal order. Only twocent stamps received in payment of small necounts. Personal checks, except on Omaha and eastern exchange, not sacepted.

OFFICES.

Omaha—The Bos Building
South Omaha—Bis N street.
Council Bluffs—14 North Main street.
Lincoln—M Little Building.
Chicago—501 Hearst Building.
New York—Room 1100, 285 Fifth avenue.
Bt Louis—568 New Bank of Commerce.
Washington—755 Fourteeuth St., N. W.

CORRESPONDENCE,

Address communications relating to news and off-torial matter to Omaha Bee, Miltorial Department.

SEPTEMBER CIRCULATION.

54,663

State of Nebraska, County of Douglas, as:

Dwight Williams, circulation manager of The Bee Publishing company, being duly aworn, says that the average circulation for the month of September, 1918, was 54,653.

DWIGHT WILLIAMS, Circulation Manager. Subscrited in my presence and sworn to before me, this ist day of October, 1918, ROBERT HUNTER, Notary Public.

Subscribers leaving the city temporarily should have The Bee mailed to them. Address will be changed as often as requested.

Thought for the Day

Selected by Rath Caltra

The bude may blow and the fruit may grow, And the autumn leaves drop crisp and sere; But whether the sun or the rain or the enoue, There's over a song somewhere, my dear. -James Whitcomb Riley.

Uneasy lies the head that wears the Serbian

That holdup man is altogether too backward in coming forward.

With the boom in trail hitters, "Billy" entitled to wear a broader smile.

It was a cold day in New Jersey, but fashtonable furs mocked the chilling blasts.

The case of General Carranza helps to show that whiskers are not an insuperable obstacle

To the war proclamations of Italy and Russia, Bulgaria can answer, "We expected this, only sooner."

Incidentally Omaha spends about twice as much money for fire protection as it does for police protection. STATISTICS WELL AS BOOK

It is not clear now whether the president's conversion to suffrage was an asset or a liability to the cause.

Britain's new plan to call the bachelors to the colors ahead of the married men ought to produce more war brides than the other system.

Indian summer days and nights fleeked out with the brilliance of a harvest moon fittingly reflect the peaceful serenity of this land of plenty.

Mankind has solved many mysteries of earth and air, but the unchanging and irrestible lure of the public pay-roll remains a mystery that deffer solution.

Colonel Roosevelt puts out the claim of being the original "preparedness" man. That is one platform where Colonel Bryan will not accuse him of stealing his clothes.

There is no mistaking the issue put up to the stay-at-homes in Great Britain. Volunteering must provide the men or conscription will round up the needed "cannon fodder."

Carranza has been formally recognized, but those Texas winter resorts still hold fast to the soldier boys who belong up here at Fort Crook. For us it is still "watchful waiting" for their Opportunity waits on enterprise wisely streeted. Bumper crops in the middle west insure steady currents in the channels of tradeand ample rewards for pushing business. Get a hustle on.

A billion dollars for defense, $50,000,000 for a merchants' marine, in addition to the expenses of the government, outlines the remarkable program of a party which preaches economy to the opposition and turns its pledges into "scraps of pleasant progressive cuchre party was given by Mrs. Dr. Coffman at her home on St. Mary's avenue Howard N. Bittinger, formerly with Steele, Johnson & Cu. who with his wife went to Plorida about a year ago, died there last Saturday. His two boys, Guy and Ralph, are in this city.

As audience which would flatter any actor greeted The Two Johns" at Boyd's. The play has plenty of fun and was vulgar enough to tickle the gallery. The annual hunt of the gun club has been schotuled for next Tuesday.

Mrs. H. P. Deuej has gone to visit friends in lithots. W. A. Smith, superintendent of the street car company, went to St. Louis to attend a meeting of the American Street Car association.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gratton have the sympathy of many friends in the death of their infant child. Charles Stevens hes returned with his wife from their bridal trip in the east.

Thomas Gibson and wife and Mrs. Elguiter are ha members of an excursion party leaving for

New notary commissions received by County Clerk Beneke for the following: E. M. Fairfield, C. F. Breckenridge, Herbert J. Davis, C. Will Hamilton, wak W. Lange, Josiah W. Rogers

Omaha's Police Department. A police department with a maximum strength of one hundred and eighty-two members, of which only ninety-five are on patrol cuty, and of these not more than thirty-nine walking the best at any one time, tells the whole story of Omaha's situation with respect to police protection.

To put it in another way, nearly one-half of the entire police department consists of officers, plain-clothes men, traffic corps, motorcycle men, court and jail attendants, and morals squad. and less than one-fourth are on patrol at the time the thugs and thieves usually do their

Omaha is spending an amount well up to the average of other cities of its class on its police department. The police fund has been moved up from time to time, but each time the legislature has boosted police salaries almost enough to eat up the increase, so that the actual additions to its strength have been scarcely visible. Omaha also has what is called the "threeplatoon system," which makes only about a third of its patrolmen available at any one time -a system that prevails in very few other cities. We are not sure whether the threeplatoon scheme is good or bad, but there is no question about its being costly.

All things considered, Omaha has a pretty good police department, but it can and should be improved, and this improvement must come through better distribution of the men, stricter discipline, and a more definite police policy. Those phases of the police department we will discuss further.

Suffrage Loses in New Jersey.

An adverse majority of 50,000 is New Jersey's answer to President Wilson's announcement of his conversion to suffrage and intention to cast his ballot for the state constitution that was to clothe woman with the vote. To be sure, the president qualified his announcement with the statement that he was speaking as a private citizen, and not as president of the United States. By his own suggestion it would have been highly improper for him to exert his official capacity to influence his fellow citizens in their vote on a purely state matter, but no doubt can be held as to the purpose of his public statement. It was to put behind the suffrage fight whatever of personal influence the president carries in his home state. If so, the conclusion is inevitable that the action of the voters is a correct measure of that influence. In no state has Mr. Wilson more bitterly disappointed his party than in New Jersey. The public will now wonder if the vote taken there on Tuesday is significant of the difference in his standing throughout the country today as compared with three years ago, when he was chosen to be chief n agistrate.

Carranza Now Has His Chance. Formal recognition by the United States of Venustiano Carranza as de facto president of Mexico has been carried out with all official punctillo, and the "first chief" is now established as far as outside influence may achieve. Vested with all the power that attaches to his office, his future must be molded by himself, So far his career has been entirely negative; be is recognized for what he is yet to do, and his conduct from this time must be positive. Unless his actions as head of Mexico's affairs measure up to a proper standard, he will disappear as have the others who have aspired to fill the seat of Porfirio Dias. If he can tranquilize his country, restore its activity along peaceful pursuits, build up its agriculture and its industry, give his people security in person and property. and open the road to progress to them, he will make for himself a place in Mexican history of true greatness.

That he is to have the active support of the United States, at least to start on, is shown by the order from the president, putting an embargo on all shipments of arms or munitions of war to Mexico, save such as are consigned to Carranza authorities. This is a first friendly service from our government to the new Mexican government, which will be multiplied many times, if Carransa shows himself worthy.

Lord Derby's Difficult Task.

Lord Derby has just been assigned to the difficult task of making military enlistment so popular that the United Kingdom will not have to resort to conscription. His undertaking will require that he induce men to enter the army voluntarily, and to this end he has set about in a spirit of enthusiasm. Opposition to army service is much more general in Great Britain than is well understood on the outside, and the recruiting offices have not of late been crowded. The natural aversion of the Briton to involuntary servitude of any kind is notorious, and the talk of conscription is nowhere quietly listened to. That it is heard at all is due entirely to the rititude assumed by "the better classes," and it is their persistence in the belief that the 'masses" are in duty bound to battle for British institutions that has aroused the present threat of a storm. Socialists have seized the opportunity thus afforded, and have spread their propaganda with more than usual seal, not that they are especially averse to fighting, no matter what their professions, as witness their presence on the firing line, but because the condition in Fingland gives them a splendid chance to thwart the "masters."

Democracy is making a tremendous thrust against toryism in Great Britain at this time, and it does not appear likely that the traditions of all the past will now be overthrown that an army of conscripts may be raised. Lord Derby will meet with much of opposition, but more of success as the prerogatives of the privileged slowly disappear beneath the rising tide of the reople's power.

The constitution-makers thought they had fixed it so no Nebraska legislature could be controlled by appointing its members to offices created by themselves for themselves to fill." Unfortunately, the constitution-makers did not figure on a governor who would have no more regard for that sacred document than for waste poper.

We wonder if anyone connected with the "Billy" Sunday organization imagined that a delegation of school children, or of grown-ups. for that matter, could "stampede" Mr. Cowell as presiding officer of the School board. If so, they didn't know Mr. Cowell and his record as a

Is Fatness Just Laziness?

THE MOST common type of obesity is merely a matter of excessive intake of fuel coupled with plain laziness. Let us hasten to add that lazimeans, in this indictment, lack of real exercise; as a rule, the unfortunate doesn't know how to play As long as a fat man (or woman) is still ready to play, even if he feels that he is making a monkey of himself, there is hope. When he reaches the point where he hesitates to get down and roll, to turn somersaults, or at least try valiantly to act the part of undignity, he is a fat man for keeps, diet or no

Some obese individuals are anemic, short of blood, while others are piethoric, damned with too much Anemic obesity develops, frequently, during periods of enforced rest, as after operations, typhoid fever, fractures, or other confining disability. time of incipient tuberculosis sometimes develop anomic obesity from rest and forced feeding carried to

In plethoric obesity the subject is generally over 30 years of age, and, for a time, rather proud of his hearty good health. Somehow we plutocratic Americans imagine a small "bay window" and a couple of chins go very well with the florid cheeks of plethoric obesity, the minute, dilated blood-vessels of the face that should serve as a warning signal of approaching arteriosclerosis (arterial hardening).

Life insurance companies, unromantic corporations as they are, rather smile upon 10 to 20 per cent overwoight in young persons, but coldly do they receive an applicant over 20 who boasts of more tissue than he ought to be carrying around

Muscular exercise is the natural draft for the oxidation process, the physiological accelerator of the vital fire which must be kept burning freely in order to prevent or remove piled-up fuel. For the average individual four miles a day-rain, shine, roast or shiver-should be the rule. If there is any hearttrouble the walks must be carefully graduated by the medical attendant, according to the heart's efficiency. Room gymnastics are more particularly adapted to the reduction of excessive fat deposits about the hips,

Another very efficacious measure is fasting. After all, a three or four-day fast is no great strain upon the fat man, for he is literally stuffed with good nour-ishment which will tide him over safely. The main ishment which will tide him over safely. thing is to get away from that fool notion that it is dangerous to skip a meal or several meals how and The human stomach, like most other useful pieces of machinery, is none the worse for a rest once in a while: in fact, the whole metabolism gets a better grip on duty after a brief fast. Of course this is a matter for medical supervision, too.

Since cold water increases the secretion of gastric fulce when taken at meal-time, the obese with an abnormal appetite should deny himself this been of the dyspeptic; a small drink of hot water half an hour before the meal is preferable, if fluid must be taken. Anemic obesity is certainly made worse by much water drinking: plethoric obesity may be improved by water

One good scheme of reducing weight is to eat but one kind of food at a meal, although this is not advisable for anemics, nor for any one in poor health By taking a little fat food it is easier to get along with a minimum of starches and sugars. Crisp bacon is one of the most digestible, satisfying forms of fat to eat. Fresh green vegetables which grow above ground, excepting beans, peas and lentils, are necessary in the diet, and bread, too, with very little butter. Lean meat may be taken once or twice a day when other items are limited, especially by the anemic obese.

Twice Told Tales

Nothing Coming. The topic having turned to mathematical problems, Congressman Jacob A. Canter of New York told of an incident that happened in a puble school, The teacher was instructing a junior class in arithmetic, when she started to give the youngsters some mental exercises "Johnny," said she, turning to a youngster of 10, if you went to the grocery store and bought 10 cents' worth sugar, 5 cents worth of soap, 25 cents worth of coffee and 10 cents worth of crackers and gave the proprietor a dollar bill in payment for these articles, how much change would you get?" rather surprising response of the boy. "You wouldn't get any change!" exclaimed the teacher. "How do you figure that out?" "Storekeeper wouldn't give up," answered Johnny. "He would freeze on to it for the old bill."-Philadelphia Telegraph.

Live and Learn. With a sleepy yawn the guest who had arrived at the hotel on the previous night limped into the dining room for breakfast. He did his best with the bacon and tomatoes, but gave in at last and went to sleep on a sofa in a corner of the room. When he awoke he found the hotel proprietor standing near, looking at him curi-

'Didn't you get enough sleep last night?" "Didn't I get enough sleep!" repeated the other, sitting up suddenly as though galvanized into life. "Tell me one thing-what on earth do you stuff your matreases within this place?"

"Stuff 'em with? Why, the very best straw it is possible to get in the whole of this country! "Ah, now I understand!"

"Understand what?" "Why, where that straw came from that broke the camel's back."-Chicago Herald.

A salesman who had been working a small midwestern town wished to catch a train which passed through it about half an hour before noon, and asked the vil-lage landlord to serve him before the regular "dinner" hour. Soon he was admitted to the dining room, where fairly good meal was spread before him. But flies were so numerous that the landlord had to stand behind his chair and aboo them with a napkin. "Great Scott!" exclaimed the salesman. "I never saw so many flies!"

retorted the landlord, scornfully, Shucks! This ain't nothin.' If you want to see flies just wait till I ring the bell for dinner. They're all out in the stable now."-Kansas City Star.

People and Events

Measured by old reliable signs the luckiest man in lows is J. B. Bader of Monticello. He has picked up 500 four-leaf clovers in three weeks.

Lambertsville, N. J., the boyhood town of James W. Marshall, discoverer of gold in California, proposes to honor him with a memorial tablet. One automobile concern says it has orders for twelve and a half time, as many machines as it can supply. The old world and the new seems to be a of whirring wheels. An estate valued at $1,600,000 constitutes the life acumulations of Joseph A. Flannery, a deceased lawyer of New York, who was disburred from the courts in 1912 because of his great reach for dough. He considered a fifty-fifty split meagre compensation for real Hoboken's crown of industrial giory was shot to pieces by the war. Its secondary industry is being bombarded by New York divorce courts. The latter are knocking runaway matrimonial ventures and wrecking the Gretna Green business which enriched the squires and preachers of the Jersey burg.

New York and New Jersey assessors "regret to report" their inability to locate the permanent residence of Mrs. Hetty Green. She has a residence address in New York City and one in Hoboken, but by some species of telepathy Mrs. Green is never at home when the officials call on urgent personal tax

Commercial mineral potash is one of the new resources of the United States, which depended on Germany for the product. Secretary Lane reports the discovery of a mine of potash in Piute county, Utah. The vein is ten feet wide, and has been traced 2,500 feet, but its depth is unknown. This is pleasing news for the country at large, and especially joyous for the Alabama importers of potash, who were soaked $12.000 at Hamburg two years ago,

New Use for Regular Army. FREMONT, Neb., Oct. 20-To the Edtor of The Bee: We are living in a time when every man should have a thought for his country's weal. That we must put our house in order and be prepared for invasion is daily growing more evident. We are stacking up reasons every day for why we may expect trouble from abroad when this war in Europe comes to a close, or rather when that breathing spell comes, in 1917-18, when that ten kingdom confederacy is formed, every additional million of credit extended to Europe is another good reason for trouble.

Those big millions of gold that are ac-umulating here will look very big and tempting. How easy it will be for the allies to start something. Japan has a sore spot. Then the others with their billions of debt, how natural for them to conclude that the easiest way for them to square the account and at the same time get those millions of gold, is just come over and clean up the country. This is what I would like to see: Every city of the United States of upwards of 160,000 population with soldiers of the regular army for police duty. This would maintain quite an army and an army disciplined and ready for service. These troops would be under pay by the United States, and each city pay its expense to the government. This would be a big saving to the city and put an end to political police and other bad features that would not be tolerated by officers of the army.

If this plan were adopted each city could double its force and then save money. This would doubtless give the country 100,000 men that could be assembled in short order.

P. H. WINTERSTEEN.

Wants a World-Wide Fraternity. TILDEN, Neb., Oct. 18.-To the Editor The Bee: The "Citisens-of-the-World' movement is rapidly extending its work into the belligerent as well as the semi-neutral nations; for it is the conscience of the individual that needs the awakening; for far too long have nations and racial groups been isolated and their governments have systematically schooled them to "hate" all others, and in this atmosphere of blind, prejudiced patriotism, their poor serfs are taught to think that all others are heathen, and that an "unreserved devotion"-to this, their government (the only on earth), is the duty of every individual. By such means prodigal courts are maintained in splendor and vain extravagance, while the gullible petuate such vanities. There is an international justice, as well as each government deigns to maintain a judicial department, and to defend a nation, "right or wrong," is a blind patriotism, and cannot survive, for justice is of the same essence whether administered in a local or national court or in the court of universal conscience, for the Turk may appreciate the spirit of justice as well as the Briton.

Governments that are honey-combed plebelan gives his service and life to per-with selfishness and maintained by sccret diplomacy can only exist by being able to clap the bridle of prejudice upon their serfs; hitch these martyrs to their juggernauts, maintaining their positions by the bleed of blind devotion, are a travesty on justice; being elevated on throne of skulls; but as soon as the individual awakens to look beyond the national and racial confines with which he has been encompassed, he will cease be ing an abject slave, and find his place as a "citizen of the world," while the tyrants and usurpers who have drained the noblest blood to satisfy their ow voluptuousness continuing their reigns by pitting nation against nation, will be reduced to the ranks and forced to disgorge what they have glutted-the rights of humanity-and learn that promotive must be because of ability and justice and not chance or birth-a "World-Wide Fraternity," attaining to the degree of "Ye are brethren" and "In honor preferring one another, CHARLES P. LANG.

What is a World's Champion? OMAHA, Oct. 20 .- To the Editor of The Bee: That is a very beautiful belt that was purchased for Joe Stecher by his Nebraska friends. Nebraska is justiy proud of Stecher, but I fear that we have no right to call him a world's champion when the real world's champion has never been defeated.

If some one would chloroform Frank Gotch and Farmer Burns we could claim the championship for our native son, but as long as they are living they will remain two strong reasons why Stecher is not the world's champion. The writer is an ardent admirer of Joe Stecher, but cannot see how Stecher can claim the title until he throws Gotch, and that job is about as easy to accomplish as to push the sun from its course E. M. WAYMORE.

Woman's Activities

Nearly 11,000 women have enrolled as famale police in Italy and they will undergo special physical training and wear

Hundreds of women are now at work on lathes, drilling machines and stamping out machines in the Russian factories where they make high explosive shells. Miss Alice P. Adams, who has just come from the Japan schools at Okayama, says that there is no objection to religious teaching after or before school hours, but not during the school session. The Japanese are a religious people, she BAJIR. Mrs. Elizabeth Brown Davis of Washington is said to be the greatest authority of her sex upon astronomical mathematics in this country and possibly in the world. She has been making computations for the National Almanac, published annually by the United States Naval Observatory at Washington.

Mrs. Alice Carey Risley, recently elected president of the Army Nurses of the Civil War, at the Washington meeting, was born in New Orleans. As a girl she helped her mother give aid to all who were in sympathy with the Union. During the war conditions were such that her family moved from New Orleans by steamboat to St. Louis. She became an army nurse. She now lives in Jefferson City, Mrs. Twelve of the New York schools have adopted the Gary plan, which requires the teachers to give six hours of work each day, but no teacher teaches any study except what she wants to, pupils going to one room for arithmetic, to another for grammar, and so on. Each teacher uses her own methods and is only judged by the results she gets. The de-partmental idea is not necessary for the new method of teaching. Started in Gary, Ind., this new method has attracted a great deal of attention.

SMIRING LINES.

"On the contrary. I have reason to think that he believes in the matted hand." "What reason is that?"
"He's a postman."—Haltimore Amer-

"Father I had a fight with Percy Raymond today."
"I know you did," replied the father soberly. "Mr. Raymond came to see me about it. Raymond came to see "Well," said the son, "I hope you came out as well as I did."—Ladies' Home Journal.

DEAR MR. KABIBBLE, DO YOU BELIEVE IN GLOPEMENTS! 6.77 VES - I WISH SOMEBODY WOULD

Mabel-You and Harold seem insepara ble.
Gertrude—We are together a good deal.
You see, Mabel. I take a peculiar interest in him.
Mabel—Oh, do rou?
Gertrude—Yes. I was engaged to him at one time, and in love with him at another.—Judge.

RUN AWAY WITH MY WIFE

THE HAUNTED PORCH.

Washington Star. The rocking chairs keep rocking
As the breeze comes wandering by.
Though empty is the summertime hotel.
The little birds are flocking
From the chilly autumn sky
Quite undisturbed around the porch to Quite undisturbed around the dwell.

And an influence all ghostly
Seems to gather round the pot
As.you recollect the gossip and the game
That were mild and harmless, mostly.
They are faded and forgot,
But the rocking chairs keep rocking, just
the same.

There's a trace of youthful sighing in the tremor of the breeze.

As it hovers, now unwelcomed, through the place.

There are voices barsh and trying:

There are murmurs ill at ease,

Though of human presence there is not a

With the flowers they have vanished.
With the flowers they'll return,
These summer throngs that met with glad acclaim.
The music has been banished,
And the lights no longer burn,
But the rocking chairs keep rocking, just
the same.

THE VANDERBILT [10] THIRTY FOURTH STRE NEW YORK

The most conveniently situated he in New York

At the Thirty-third Street Subu WALTON H. MARSHALL

HORLICI THE ORIGINAL MALTED M

The Food-drink for All A More healthful than Tea or Agrees with the weakest Delicious, invigorating and a Rich milk, malted grain, power A Quick Lunch Prepared in Unless you say "HORE you may get a Subst

BUY IT IN OM.

This Coupon is good for 10 trademarks toward this package of Quaker Oats, see our offer, and note how much this means. But only one of these coupons can be applied on a Cooker.

Madam—It's Yours

Quaker Oats is yours, if you ask for it, without any extra price. And it means luscious flakes, made of queen grains only.

This perfect Cooker is yours to retain the flavor, and to cook in the ideal way. See our offers in each package.

Quaker Cooke See it at Your Grocer Offer in Each Packag

Any grocer, if you ask him, will su ply you Quaker Oats. Many groces now display this Cooker, and make feature of it. So if you want this extr quality, and want it better cooked, yo can very easily get it.

Try it some morning and you wi never go back to less inviting oat flake

Quaker Oats

10c and 25c

? FAST TRAINS DAILY

St. Paul-Minneapolis

Picturesque Way by Day Popular Way at All Times NIRTH WES

SCHEDULE Lv. Omaha Ar. St. Paul 7:45 a. m. 6:45 p. m.

Ar. Minneana 8:10 p. m. 7:40 p. m. 7:50 a. m. 7:15 a. m. 8:25 a. m. 7:50 a. m.

9:05 p. m. Note:-New steel observation buffet-loungh car on Omaha-Twin City Limited, leaving 9:05 p. :

Dining Car Service Unequaled The Best of Everything

For tickets, reservations and further information at city office 1401-03 Faroam St. (Telephone: Douglas 2740) JOHN MELLEN, Gon'l Agent