BOARD'S HOME IN HEAVEN FOR RENT

"Billy" Sunday Pictures St. Peter Telling Him Why Omaha School Men Didn't Arrive.

ANOTHER PLEA FOR CASH

"Billy" Sunday Thursday condescended to tell eight members of Omaha's "reform" school board, such disposition of the prominent men, recently elected for their ability, integrity and high standards, so pleased the crowd that wild applause followed for thirty-eight seconds. It happened, incidentally, while the revivalist was in the midst of an imaginary visit to heaven. He told how he would shake hands with Jesus, upon arrival inside the pearly gates, and how God would give him a reserved seat, right next to the entrance, so he could watch for other saved souls. Then he told how he would stroll around heaven, looking for the mansion where he and the rest of the Sunday family should reside throughout eternity. "Presently we come to a large mansion, with a 'For Rent' sign hanging on it," he continued, describing his heavenly experiences. "What mansion is that?" I ask of St. Peter. "Why, that was intended for eight members of the Omaha school board, St. Peter replies. 'But it's for rent now. Eight members of the Omaha school board didn't get into heaven.' The way in which 'Billy' hung out the 'For Rent' sign in heaven especially tickled a number of real estate men in the audience, but the entire 11,500 people seated and standing in the tabernacle all joined in an immense demonstration of delight. Rev. Mr. Sunday said he would find 'Redy' and the rest of the Sunday party in heaven, and he declared that up there they would sing 'Brighten the Corner' and other songs sung by Mr. Rodeheaver. Some Stench in Omaha. Speaking of his having to leave Omaha within a few days, the evangelist said this city had grown to be a real home for him, and he regretted having to go elsewhere. "Omaha would be a fine place to live," he said, "if a lot of its residents would die or move away. When we walk down the streets now, we have to hold our noses, to avoid the stench from those people who have had Omaha by the throat for many years." Having come to Omaha to invite Mr. Sunday to take part in the prohibition campaign in Nebraska next year, Mayor Charles W. Bryan of Lincoln, with his skull cap and smile, was in the audience last night, seated on the platform back of the rostrum, near the revivalist. Mayor Bryan No Trail Hitter. While the 23 trail hitters were going down the sidewalk aisles to shake Sunday's hand, the latter left his post for a moment, and with other personal workers urged Mayor Bryan to hit the trail. However, the "dry" mayor of Lincoln only smiled broader than before. The efforts of "Billy" and the personal workers brought the same results as when they tackled the "wet" mayor of Omaha. Before Mr. Sunday started to preach, Elmer E. Thomas made a lengthy talk, urging the audience to contribute to the free-will offering, which Mr. Sunday is to receive personally for his revival work in Omaha. Thomas Looks for "Dry" Wave. After telling how Rev. Mr. Sunday had brought Christ to Omahans, and had brought prohibition and righteousness to West Virginia, Colorado and Iowa, Mr. Thomas said: "What is it worth to you, to have a dry wave sweep Omaha and Nebraska, or to have your husband or wife, son or daughter or friend become a Christian? Pay Mr. Sunday what it is worth. 'And don't pay him with a measly 20 cents in your free-will envelope. Ten dollars, $100 or $1,000 would be more like it.' 'A little town of only 12,000 people, back in the Ohio valley, gave Mr. Sunday $2,000 as their free-will offering for his campaign there. Is Omaha going to be outdone by a long-grass town in Ohio?' Collection is Taken. Then the tin pans were passed and the gifts and pledges for Mr. Sunday were gathered in. If Mr. Thomas' suggestion about the Ohio town is carried out in Omaha, the revivalist will get $20,000 from this community, there being many more than that number of people here, and Mr. Thomas' suggested expectations being on the basis of $1 for each inhabitant. Following the plea for money for him, Mr. Sunday began his sermon on "Heaven" by first answering the question, "What do I want most of all?" He said he wanted eternal life. "I don't want to die," he explained, "but I am not afraid to die." Then he described his imaginary trip to heaven, and hung out the "For Rent" sign on the school board's mansion up there. Workmen Out in Force. A delegation of 2,000 persons, members of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, with their families and a uniformed band, occupied reserved seats last night. Many of them, including a large part of the band, hit the trail. The delegation representing the Workmen order was the largest from any organization that has visited the tabernacle during the campaign, with the single exception of high school delegations, it was said. A large group of trail hitters represented the Gordon Van and Storage company. They marched down the aisle, led by Al Gordon and his wife and daughter. The trail hitters ranged in age from 2 years to past 72, and included a couple of intoxicated men, one of whom mounted a bench, after shaking hands with Mr. Sunday, and started to shout his religious convictions. Form Gospel Teams. Organization was begun after last night's meeting, for the "gospel teams" of men, which are intended to carry on the trail hitting, after the Sunday campaign closes. Their work is to be the echo of the campaign, it was explained. Charles W. Robel will be secretary of the gospel team work, and will be assisted by J. B. Lines of the Young Men's Christian association and Rev. Mr. Cleveland, assistant pastor of the First Congregational church. Further organization of the gospel teams will be effected at a 25-cent supper at the Young Men's Christian association, the evening of November 1. Rev. William Asher will speak on "After 'Billy' Sunday, What?" Those signing cards for the gospel teams last night were mostly tabernacle ushers and secretaries. Plan Municipal Chorus. A permanent municipal chorus, to be made out of the tabernacle choir, was announced as a probability by Chorister Rodeheaver last night. Most of the choir singers indicated their willingness and approved such an undertaking. It is planned that the permanent chorus shall sing for public occasions, as well as for Sunday school, Christian Endeavor and prohibition conventions.

SUNDAY WILL NOT STAY WEEK LONGER

But He Makes a Tentative Promise to Return in September to Help Out the Drys.

SCHEDULE IS ALL MADE OUT

"Billy" Sunday made a positive refusal and a tentative promise to two propositions Friday morning. He refused to remain in Omaha an additional week and he promised to come to Nebraska, "if possible," next September and devote a week to speech-making in favor of prohibition. The committee that asked him to remain here another week called at his headquarters in the Loyal hotel after the Tabernacle meeting Thursday and remained there until 10 o'clock, devoting about one hour to prayer. Failing to see "Billy," they came again Friday morning at 9 o'clock. Rev. Hugh R. Speer, Elmer E. Thomas, F. D. Wead, Isaac Carpenter, W. G. Ure, W. E. Fosher, Charles McDonald and others were in the committee. "Billy" positively declined to remain. Schedule All Made Out. "My schedule is fully made out," he said, "and allows only one week for rest between each meeting. Allowing seven weeks in Syracuse beginning October 21, takes us up to the Sunday before Christmas. If we stayed here another week we would have to cut Syracuse to six weeks. If we lose any time we would miss our steamer in San Francisco by two weeks."

Bed Rock Drilled at Site of New Bank Building

Bed rock etymology below the ground surface at Sixteenth and Farnam streets is being drilled in numerous places beneath the site for the new First National bank building in order that the builders may learn its thickness where the foundation of the new building is to be anchored. We call from San Francisco for the Honolulu meeting the end of next June. Charles W. Bryan, mayor of Lincoln, brought the petition for Mr. Sunday to help in the "dry" campaign next fall. "Billy" promised that he will if he can. Mayor Bryan wanted him to come for a month but "Billy" said he would try to come for a week. "I can't wear out my strength just before I enter on such a strenuous campaign as that in Boston where we begin next October," he said. Mr. Bryan promised that his brother, W. J. Bryan, will adjust his speaking dates during the "dry" campaign to suit "Billy's" convenience.

Heard at the Tab

There are seven Presbyterians in the Sunday party, two Baptists, a Congregationalist and a Methodist, as follows: Presbyterian, Mr. and Mrs. Sunday and George, Mrs. Asher, "Ilo" Madawa, George Brewster and Albert Peterson, the custodian. Baptist: Miss Gertrude and Miss Saxe. Congregationalist: Miss Miller. Methodist: Mr. Rodeheaver. Miss Frances Miller of the Sunday party will leave Omaha Saturday at 4:30 P. M. She will spend Sunday in Chicago, and then visit a sister in Pittsburgh until time for her to go to Syracuse.

Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Funeral This Morning

A coroner's jury has returned a verdict that "Mr. and Mrs. E. George Shirley came to an accidental death at their home, 258 Dodge street, by the inhalation of a poisonous gas arising from a lighted defective heater."

Funeral services will be held this morning at 9:30 o'clock at the residence of Mr. Shirley's father, Michael Shirley, 811 1/2 Burt street, and at St. Cecilia's church at 3. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Two Children Had Croup

The two children of J. W. Nix, merchant, Cleveland, Ga., had croup last winter. One was a boy of 6, the other a girl of 8 years. Mr. Nix writes: "Both got so choked up they could hardly breathe and couldn't talk. I gave them Foley's Honey and Tar and nothing else and it entirely cured them." This reliable medicine should be in every home, for it gives immediate relief from colds, coughs and croup, heals raw inflamed throat and loosens phlegm. Sold everywhere.—Advertisement.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS

THEY REFUSE TO EAT

At periods in most children's lives they fail to relish their meals and refuse to eat even the delicacies prepared to tempt their appetites. They lack ambition, and growth seems impeded, which causes anxiety and worry. To compel them to eat is a grave mistake, because nutrition is impaired. Healthful exercise in fresh air and sunshine is important, but equally important is a spoonful of Scott's Emulsion three times a day to feed the tissues and furnish food-energy to improve their blood, aid nutrition and sharpen their appetites. The highly concentrated medicinal-food in Scott's Emulsion supplies the very elements children need to build up their strength. They relish Scott's—it is free from alcohol.
