SPINSTERS' protective association—that is the latest. The question naturally arises—is the spirit of unionism going to invade even our social circles? It is alarmingly near already, this spinsters' association—across the border in Kansas.

It calls itself a federation, that looks as if it means to spread. The federation of Queen Elizabeth clubs is the name. The object is that spinsters shall not be compelled by the social good to contribute to shows given to brides, to buy wedding presents and christening gifts.

The money that the spinsters have hitherto expended in bridal shows and on the weddings of others and christening presents shall be used to fit these "left-overs" for the matrimonial chase.

The Federation of Queen Elizabeth clubs will have special halls fitted with cozy corners, inviting alcoves, comfortable settees, and quiet nooks. Orchestras, behind palms, will play old love songs and romantic selections. Only masculine guests, especially out-of-town men, shall be entertained.

The spinsters' union has not even overlooked the question of dress. They will import costumers and put themselves in their hands.

Is it going to be a success? Personally speaking, I have my doubts.

PRETTY WIFE OF MEXICAN REBEL LEADER—This picture of Senora Juana Torres de Villa was made at Los Angeles, where the senora is living with her child, born in exile since her flight from Mexico several months ago.

SENORA FRANCISCA VILLA.

POPULAR OMAHA GIRL WHO WAS BRIDE OF YESTERDAY.

MRS. JOSEPH A. HENSKIE.

Henske-McClanahan Wedding.
Miss Kathryn Owen McClanahan, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harry Monroe McClanahan, was married to Dr. Joseph Jay Henske, son of Dr. Andrew Henske of St. Louis, Wednesday evening, at the home of the bride's parents at 8 o'clock, in the presence of a few intimate friends of the family. The marriage service was read by Rev. A. F. Ernst, pastor of the Lowe Avenue Presbyterian church.

The bride was attended by a maid of honor, her cousin, Miss Margaret Gambia, the best man was brother to the bridegroom, Dr. Andrew C. Henske, of St. Louis. The ushers were Mr. James Pray and Mr. Walter Hopewell of Tekamah. Miss Angela Henske of St. Louis, sister of the bridegroom, played the Lohengrin wedding march.

The marriage ceremony was solemnized in the living room, where the bridal pair stood under a canopy of asparagus ferns and southern smilax, through which small frosted electric lights could be seen. On either side of the canopy stood all baskets of white chrysanthemums, white roses and Easter lilies.

The bride's gown was of cloth of silver with embroidered stripes. Under the ruffled skirt of silver cloth showed a white chiffon petticoat, heavily embroidered in silver thread. The skirt was short, forming a peacock drape at the back. The bodice was silver cloth and lace, low cut, corsege and long sleeves. The long court train was attached to the neck of the bodice in the back with a lacing collar of silver lace. The bridal veil was tulle, extending to the end of the court train, fashioned plain about the head and worn with a halo of orange blossoms. The bouquet was of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor, Miss Gambia, wore a gown of rose pink taffeta made with short skirt, trimmed in net with tulle caught with silver flowers, bodice of lady Baltimore design, neck, square, low cut, shoulder straps of pearls and arm bouquet of Kilmaree roses.

Miss Welts of Topeka, an out-of-town guest, wore a gown of copper-colored embroidered crepe, trimmed in white net and gold lace.

Miss Angela Henske, sister to the bridegroom, was gowned in pink poul de France, trimmed in shadow lace and embroidered in pearls.

After the ceremony, at 9 o'clock, Dr. and Mrs. McClanahan held a large reception, invited guests meeting the bride and bridegroom. The library was decorated in Ophelia roses and white chrysanthemums. In the dining room was a centerpiece of large yellow and white chrysanthemums in a mound and caught in the chandelier was a shower of small chrysanthemums. The walls were decorated with Mrs. Ward roses and yellow chrysanthemums in pockets. The den and hall were in white and yellow chrysanthemums in small and large baskets. Throughout the house all archways and doors were hung with ferns and smilax.

The bridegroom's present to his best man and ushers were gold knives. The bride gave her maid of honor and Miss Henske gold friendship pins set in tourmalines and pearls.

Mrs. McClanahan's gown was of orchid velvet made with draped skirt of train, bodice embroidered in silver thread and decollete, caught at the waist with corsege bouquet of orchid shades of French roses.

The bride wore a going-away gown of black and yellow checked velour de laine with black hat and black fox fur.

Assisting Mrs. McClanahan at the reception were:

Cured Boy of Croup.
Nothing frightens a mother more than the loud, hoarse cough of croup. The labored breathing, strangling, choking and gasping for breath call for instant action. Mrs. T. Neunser, Eau Claire, Wis., says: "Foley's Honey and Tar cured my boy of a serious attack of croup after other remedies had failed. I recommended it to every one, as we knew from our own experience that it is a wonderful remedy for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough." It clears air passages, soothes and heals. No. everywhere.—Advertisement.

Rockford College Students.
The Rockford College association, composed of former students of the college, met informally at tea this afternoon with Mrs. J. H. Beaton. The decorations were garden flowers. ## Mayor of Kearney Attends the Night School at the State Normal

Mayor Kibler of Kearney attends night school at the state normal school of his city. President G. B. Dick of the Kearney state normal, attending the state teachers' convention, told the story while waiting outside of the room wherein Dean Charles Fordyce was addressing the Superintendents and Principals' association meeting. He could not get in because he was late. He might have walked around to the barroom and made his way in through that route, but he didn't.

Salesmanship and advertising are considered in practical ways. The president of the normal believes a school plant should be put to its widest use and should serve all possible local needs.

There are 400 attendants at the normal school at present. An auditorium to cost $40,000 is being constructed. This building will have a seating capacity of 1,500, and will be equipped with a pipe organ.

All Consolidated Schools Show Big Growth Over State

Consolidated schools are growing throughout the state. At Keneaw Superintendent C. L. Little has some sixty non-resident pupils this fall. They come from every part of Adams county, furnishing their own various modes of transportation. The county pays $1 a week per student of the Keneaw school for tuition. Superintendent Carrie Sullivan of Adams county is chiefly responsible for this large non-resident attendance at Keneaw in that she held her eighth grade commencements in the various towns of the county at such dates as would be convenient for Superintendent Little of the Keneaw schools to go before the pupils and urge them to attend the high school.

Another consolidated school of ten full grades and part of the eleventh is located at Sholes in Wayne county. Three school districts are consolidated here. Miss Pearl Sewell is superintendent. Students from districts outside of these three pay a tuition to enter.
