

CZECHS DECLARE THEY MUST BE FREE

Bohemian and Slavak Colonies Give Utterance to Declaration of Independence.

AUSTRIA NOW GERMAN STATE

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—(Special.)—A declaration of representative Bohemians and Slavaks demanding independence for their oppressed countries has been framed.

The manifest, which is signed by Bohemian deputies who were elected from Austria and by leaders of Bohemian and Slavak colonies in various lands, recites the wrongs suffered by the Czechs and Slavaks under the aegis of the Hapsburgs.

Declaration of Independence. This document, which is to take the same place in Bohemian history as the Declaration of Independence occupies in American history.

J. Tvrzicky, secretary, and Dr. L. J. Fisher, president, promulgate the declaration, which is in part as follows: "We shall not discuss the whole situation created by the war. We shall only explain briefly the position of the Bohemian people, the Czechs, as they call themselves.

The Bohemian nation having by its free choice called to the throne a King of the Hapsburg family entered into a union with Hungary and German Austria; but the dynasty through gradual centralization and germanization aimed at the construction of a single state with arbitrary government, thus violating the agreement to maintain the internal and external independence of the Bohemian state.

The Bohemian people exhausted by the European and Hapsburg counter-reformation were for a long time unable to withstand the oppression, until the great revival came at the end of the eighteenth century, culminating in the revolution of 1848. The revolution was suppressed, rights conceded to the people of Austria, and principally to the Bohemians.

The Bohemians were taken back and absolutism returned. In 1867, through the disastrous war of 1859 compelled the granting of an imperfect constitutional regime. Magyars obtained from Vienna what they demanded, but all that the Bohemians got were solemn promises never fulfilled.

The Bohemian people through their representatives preserved for a long time the attitude of passive opposition, later entered the new parliament, but both in the central parliament and in the diet demanded their historical rights and a reconstitution of the monarchy on a federalistic basis as against the German-Magyar dualism.

All attempts to reach an agreement with the empire were frustrated by the rapacity and intolerance of Germans and Magyars.

The present war has intensified the antagonism between the people of Bohemia and the Austro-Hungarian empire. War was declared without the approval of parliament, every other country participating in the war has laid the momentous decision before the representatives of the nation, but the Vienna government was afraid to listen to the voice of the Austrian peoples, because the majority would have been against the war.

The Bohemian representatives would have protested vigorously; therefore the government did not consult a single Bohemian deputy or leader before taking the momentous step.

The recent history of the Bohemian people shows plainly the great stress laid by the Bohemians upon the Slav idea. And so in this war, which found the Czechs totally unprepared, just as it did every other peace-loving nation, from the very beginning in spite of the incredible terrorism with which every other country of the real sentiments of the people was suppressed, sympathy for Russians, Serbians and their allies was universal.

Declarations in favor of Austria, were engineered and extorted by the government.

Bohemians Terrorized. Bohemians are in jail; an imbecile government enforces obedience by hangings, and Bohemian residents are decimated because the spontaneously acted in accordance with the unanimous sentiment of the Bohemian people. The rights of the Bohemian language are ruthlessly violated and curtailed as the war is going on. Military power overrides all laws and treats the Bohemian lands, and all non-German and non-Magyar districts as conquered provinces.

Bohemian publications are confiscated and suppressed for expressing their opinion, whereas, are national enemies are allowed to inveigh against the Bohemian people, and Vienna and Budapest encourage pan-germanic excesses in the spirit of Lagarde, von Hartmann, Mommsen, Treitschke.

Time to Act. "In this extremity the Bohemian people can no longer keep silent. A foreign committee has been formed of Bohemians living beyond the boundaries of their native country, aiming to inform the world of the real facts, to interpret to the statesmen, political leaders and journalists of the allies and the neutral states the desires of the Bohemian people, and to champion the Bohemian program. All Bohemian political parties have up to time been fighting for a qualified independence within the limits of Austria-Hungary. But the events of this terrible war and the reckless violence of Vienna constrain us to claim independence without regard to Austria-Hungary.

We ask for an independent Bohemian-Slavak state. Austria a Dependency. The Bohemian people are now convinced that they must strike out for themselves. Austria was defeated not only by Russia, but by Russia, by the little, despised Serbia, and is now a dependency of Germany. Today Berlin has advanced this proposition, but it is the last effort. Austria-Hungary has abdicated. We have lost all confidence in its vitality; it has no longer any reason for existence. By its incapacity, by its voluntary subordination to Germany it has convinced the whole world that the former belief in the mission of Austria is out of date, forever overshadowed by the European war. Those who defended the usefulness, even the necessity of Austria-Hungary, and at one time the great Bohemian historians

ANNOUNCES HE WILL RUN FOR REPUBLICAN GOVERNORSHIP.

Former Lieutenant Governor Issues Address Concerning His Candidacy for Governorship.

HE BELIEVES IN PROHIBITION

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 14.—(Special.)—S. R. McKelvie, former lieutenant governor of Nebraska, today gave out a formal statement addressed to the republican voters of the state announcing his candidacy for the republican nomination for governor. He says in part:

"It is after most thoughtful deliberation that I have decided to announce my candidacy for governor of Nebraska, subject to nomination in the republican primaries next April.

"For me to announce a definite platform now would hardly be looked upon by the voters as premature. At this time the voters are more concerned with the things which reflect the fitness of the candidate for the nomination and it is with this in mind that I set forth some thoughts which have a bearing in that direction.

"My position on prohibition is not a matter of policy—it is my conscientious belief that the prohibition amendment should prevail. It will be my purpose to enforce the law regardless of whether the prohibition prevails, or not. While no doubt should be left in the minds of the voters regarding the honest attitude of the candidate on the prohibitory amendment, I think that one's candidacy should not be so restricted by a support of that question as to lose sight of equally important issues over which the chief executive will have much greater influence and responsibility in the enactment.

"I was one of about a dozen republican members of the house in the year 1911 who aided a majority of the members of the party, then in control, to pass the initiative and referendum. Without our aid the bill could not have been passed. We did this so that the liquor question with all its pernicious connections might be removed from politics. Through that law the question is now in the hands of the people to decide and candidates should be relieved of the odious effects of a rough and tumble fight on the excise question.

Democrats Form Lovely Example of United Family

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 14.—(Special.)—"Birds in their little nests agree, and 'tis a shameful sight to see children of one family fall out and chide and fight."

Such is a little old nursery rhyme which might apply to the present democratic family in the state house. Governor Morehead and Treasurer Hall cannot agree; Fire Commissioner Ridgell has had to go into a lawsuit to get Treasurer Hall to pay his salary; Secretary of State Pool and Attorney General Reed cannot agree as to what the law is regarding the withdrawal of political positions; now Attorney General Reed has refused to approve a letter submitted to him by Insurance Commissioner Billy Eastham to be mailed out to insurance companies, and has consigned it to the waste basket, and has prepared one himself which suits him better for the commissioner to send out.

The controversy covers the "electricity clause" in policies for fire insurance, which has caused much trouble, and the attorney general takes the bovine by the horns and insists that the companies shall be told in no uncertain language what is what, and that they will not, and can not, and shall not use force in showing that the insurance board has approved their objectionable forms when it has not.

Outside of these controversies and a few more which could be mentioned, the democratic family in the state house is a perfectly happy and loving political family.

INCENDIARY BLAZE WRECKED ANSELMO STORE

ANSELMO, Neb., Nov. 14.—(Special Telegram.)—Fire destroyed the stock and fixtures of the Anselmo Mercantile company early this morning with a loss of $2,500; insurance $2,500, loss on building $500, insured. Shortly after the fire was discovered and while the firemen were working to subdue the flames, another fire was discovered in the Taylor meat market, one block from the first one. This was soon subdued and the loss was confined to fixtures, amounting to $500, insured.

Evidence points to incendiarism, as a strong smell of coal oil was in evidence at both places. At the Taylor market the panel in the front door was out with a pungent and a piece large enough to admit a man's hand with the loss was confined to fixtures, amounting to $500, insured.

Evidence points to incendiarism, as a strong smell of coal oil was in evidence at both places. At the Taylor market the panel in the front door was out with a pungent and a piece large enough to admit a man's hand with the loss was confined to fixtures, amounting to $500, insured.

Just one year ago Anselmo was visited with a bad fire of mysterious origin. Many stores were destroyed, and certain parties at that time, but no definite clues were unearthed. Fire Warden Ridgell has been notified and developments may be looked for shortly.

DEATH RECORD.

B. J. Hornung. PLATTSOUTH, Neb., Nov. 14.—(Special.)—At noon Ben. J. Hornung, who has been sick with a cancer for many months, died at his home just south of this city, where he had lived all his life, having been born in the same house in which he passed his last illness and died. He was born July 15, 1870. Mr. Hornung lived with his mother, and had a host of friends. He was a member of the Unitarian Brethren church. The funeral was held today at the United Brethren church, south of the city.

KEARNEY Will Have Good Roads Fair. KEARNEY, Neb., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—A good roads fair will be held by the Kearney Commercial club early in January for the purpose of raising funds for the permanent improvement of roads leading into this city. Several similar affairs will be held this winter, and it is believed that a large sum can be raised for the work on highways in Kearney and vicinity. It will be used for permanent improvement and will benefit everyone.

Liver Complaint Makes You Unhappy. No joy in living if your stomach and liver don't work. Stir your liver with Dr. King's New Life Pills. All druggists.—Advertisement.

Wants Investigation. CLIFTON, Ariz., Nov. 14.—Guy Miller, a union organizer, sent a telegram to Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, asking the federation to request William H. Wilson, United States secretary of labor, to send federal investigators to inquire into conditions in the Arizona copper mining district.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF M'KELVIE

Former Lieutenant Governor Issues Address Concerning His Candidacy for Governorship.

HE BELIEVES IN PROHIBITION

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 14.—(Special.)—S. R. McKelvie, former lieutenant governor of Nebraska, today gave out a formal statement addressed to the republican voters of the state announcing his candidacy for the republican nomination for governor. He says in part:

"It is after most thoughtful deliberation that I have decided to announce my candidacy for governor of Nebraska, subject to nomination in the republican primaries next April.

"For me to announce a definite platform now would hardly be looked upon by the voters as premature. At this time the voters are more concerned with the things which reflect the fitness of the candidate for the nomination and it is with this in mind that I set forth some thoughts which have a bearing in that direction.

"My position on prohibition is not a matter of policy—it is my conscientious belief that the prohibition amendment should prevail. It will be my purpose to enforce the law regardless of whether the prohibition prevails, or not. While no doubt should be left in the minds of the voters regarding the honest attitude of the candidate on the prohibitory amendment, I think that one's candidacy should not be so restricted by a support of that question as to lose sight of equally important issues over which the chief executive will have much greater influence and responsibility in the enactment.

"I was one of about a dozen republican members of the house in the year 1911 who aided a majority of the members of the party, then in control, to pass the initiative and referendum. Without our aid the bill could not have been passed. We did this so that the liquor question with all its pernicious connections might be removed from politics. Through that law the question is now in the hands of the people to decide and candidates should be relieved of the odious effects of a rough and tumble fight on the excise question.

"I believe in efficiency. If the business of the state is properly managed the taxpayer's money will be so used as to get the largest returns from its expenditure or investment. The vote getting properties of the economy plea should have long since been dispensed and instead should come the policy of efficiency in state business the same as it is sought after in private business.

"I cherish with pride the fact that the party with which I have always been affiliated has done more than its share in inaugurating the good reform legislation which now graces the statute books of our state. At this time there is not so much need for radical reforms. If anything, it is time that a little more attention be given to constructive legislation, which will aid in the development and promotion of the state's industries and enterprises.

"In the past years legislative attention and aid have been given to the production side of farming and live stock husbandry. There is yet need for development along that line; but of greater importance to the farmer right now is legislation which will aid in the intelligent financing of his business and the marketing of the products of the farm.

"Of almost equal importance to agriculture is manufacturing. In this regard Nebraska is far in the rear. The things which will develop Nebraska's manufacturing enterprises along healthy lines should be intelligently done.

"Back of all industry is labor. Not only do I think that every thoughtful protection and encouragement should be thrown about the industrial worker, but education should be directed to enhance his efficiency."

He also emphasizes his devotion to the cause of better schools, good roads and water power development.

YOSHIMITO TAKES PLACE AS DIETY

(Continued from Page One.)

attended by his suite, made his entry into the "hall of bathing." Courtiers carrying lighted torches led the procession. The dancing flames, the noiseless advance over silent corridors, the hush of the spectators—all contributed to a scene that was profoundly impressive.

The emperor retired and took a bath of purification, and a Japanese courtier carrying lighted torches led the procession. The dancing flames, the noiseless advance over silent corridors, the hush of the spectators—all contributed to a scene that was profoundly impressive.

Meantime the Japanese dignitaries who had assembled in the waiting hall were escorted to a pavilion built outside the main gate to the south of the shrines. As they moved forward, strains of music arose from the imperial cooking hall. This was the ancient song of the rice-hullers played by court musicians on flutes, bells and drums. The sacred rice was being hulled, cleaned and boiled by the ritualists. Besides the rice other food was being prepared—cakes, ear-shell soup, seaweed soup, sacred cake and other things.

Carry Food Offerings. This preparation over, ritualists proceeded to the two shrines carrying food offerings from the Yuki and Suki districts consisting of dried salmon, dried cuttle-fish, salmon, ear-shell, edible seaweed, chestnuts, dried persimmon, pears, bean rice cakes and sake. They also carried a stick of white wood. A jug, a knife-bowl, a towel-bowl, a chop-stick war, and sake cups of unglazed earthen ware.

Then the chief ritualist proceeded to the Yuki shrine and offered a Shinto prayer before the altar, announcing to the spirits of the deities of heaven that the emperor would personally offer the sacred food. The emperor, dressed in Shinto ceremonial costume, came into the Yuki shrine from the bathing hall through a corridor covered with pure cotton cloth and reed matting. The matting was spread by the ritualists before the emperor as he proceeded on his way and rolled and removed by other ritualists after he had trod upon them.

No member of the retinue was permitted to touch the emperor's feet. At the head of the imperial household, and directly in front of the emperor a chamberlain walked with the sacred sword and jewel, and another chamberlain walked close behind his majesty, carrying a chamberlain who held a huge umbrella of curious and ancient shape over the head of the emperor. Another chamberlain held the umbrella's cord. When the procession, which included the members of the imperial court, costumes, reached the veranda of the shrines the chamberlain entrusted with the sword and jewels mounted the step and placed the sacred objects on a table.

The emperor then ascended the veranda, and entering the hall, took his seat on a throne provided in the room outside the inner shrine. The lord chamberlain and chief ritualist followed and sat on the matting on the southern veranda around the hall. The crown prince, the princes of the blood, the ministers of state and other members of the retinue entered the pavilion provided in the southern yard of the shrine and took their seats. Next entered the high officials of the coronation board, attired in ancient ceremonial dress and wearing gold swords at the sides, followed by a band of court musicians.

Flute Breaks Silence. Suddenly the silence of the night was broken by the notes of a flute. There were played popular songs of the Yuki district by the court musicians—ancient songs of felicitation and joy. When the music was ended the crown prince, princes and princesses of the blood and other members of the imperial family offered worship to the deities of heaven enshrined at the Yuki shrine and subsequently the members of the imperial retinue and all dignitaries and other participants offered obeisance.

When the crown prince, princes of the blood and other male members of the imperial family had entered the Yuki hall there came a procession of ritualists and maids-of-honor carrying the sacred food offerings which had been prepared in the kitchen hall. The maids were attired in beautiful ceremonial court robes of bright and varied colors and each carried a tinner basket containing food offerings and utensils. Five eight-legged tables bearing sake-cups, sacred sake wine, soup, boiled rice and all the food to be tasted by the emperor were then brought in by ritualists. These preparations completed, a ritualist beat wooden clappers to announce the commencement of the holy ceremony of the emperor offering food to the deities of heaven.

The emperor, seated on the throne, facing the seat of the deities in the center. Emperor Worships Alone. Again purifying himself by washing his hands, the emperor alone and unaccompanied by his suite, made his entry into the "hall of bathing." Courtiers carrying lighted torches led the procession. The dancing flames, the noiseless advance over silent corridors, the hush of the spectators—all contributed to a scene that was profoundly impressive.

Meantime the Japanese dignitaries who had assembled in the waiting hall were escorted to a pavilion built outside the main gate to the south of the shrines. As they moved forward, strains of music arose from the imperial cooking hall. This was the ancient song of the rice-hullers played by court musicians on flutes, bells and drums. The sacred rice was being hulled, cleaned and boiled by the ritualists. Besides the rice other food was being prepared—cakes, ear-shell soup, seaweed soup, sacred cake and other things.

Carry Food Offerings. This preparation over, ritualists proceeded to the two shrines carrying food offerings from the Yuki and Suki districts consisting of dried salmon, dried cuttle-fish, salmon, ear-shell, edible seaweed, chestnuts, dried persimmon, pears, bean rice cakes and sake. They also carried a stick of white wood. A jug, a knife-bowl, a towel-bowl, a chop-stick war, and sake cups of unglazed earthen ware.

Then the chief ritualist proceeded to the Yuki shrine and offered a Shinto prayer before the altar, announcing to the spirits of the deities of heaven that the emperor would personally offer the sacred food. The emperor, dressed in Shinto ceremonial costume, came into the Yuki shrine from the bathing hall through a corridor covered with pure cotton cloth and reed matting. The matting was spread by the ritualists before the emperor as he proceeded on his way and rolled and removed by other ritualists after he had trod upon them.

No member of the retinue was permitted to touch the emperor's feet. At the head of the imperial household, and directly in front of the emperor a chamberlain walked with the sacred sword and jewel, and another chamberlain walked close behind his majesty, carrying a chamberlain who held a huge umbrella

HIGH COURT ACTS

Action for Damages Against Street Railway Company Set Aside by Judges.

HUSBAND'S LIABILITY IS FIXED

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Nov. 14.—(Special.)—Supreme court opinions handed down yesterday were as follows:

"In counties of 30,000 or more inhabitants the regular panel of thirty judges for each judge of the court must be drawn by lot from the regular jury list, and cannot be filled by the sheriff by calling bystanders.

"The case of the regular jury list should be exhausted, so that the panel could not be filled as the law requires, talesmen might be called if required in such court for trial of any case, but the regular panel cannot in any case be filled in that manner."

This is the opinion of the supreme court in the case of Eva Belle Hahnt against the Omaha & Council Bluffs Railway.

Judgment Set Aside. This case aside a former judgment of the supreme court and reverse the judgment of the Douglas county district court, wherein the case was won by the street car company.

Justice Letton dissents to the opinion which was written by Justice Sedgwick, and Barnes and Pawcett join in the dissenting opinion.

The case was one for damages sustained by the plaintiff while stepping from a car of the defendant company.

Husband Not Liable. "A husband who is living apart from his wife and is paying temporary alimony awarded in a suit for divorce is not liable to a third person for necessities furnished to her, the same being chargeable with knowledge of those facts."

The opinion of the supreme court in a Douglas county case wherein the Wisa Memorial Hospital association sued Lacey E. Peyton for the expenses incurred by Cordelia Peyton, his divorced wife, while a patient at the hospital, and affirms the opinion of the district court, which dismissed the case.

Holds for Railroad. The court reverses a judgment secured by the estate of William Davies for $2,000 secured against the Wabash Railroad company in the Douglas county district court.

The accident occurred in Page county, Iowa, while the deceased was walking along the track on his way from Coht to Lincolnard, and was struck by a freight train.

The court holds that a person walking upon a railroad track at a place where there is no public crossing and where pedestrians have no right to the use of the track, is a trespass, and if dead should use extraordinary care, and if struck by a train is guilty of contributory negligence.

SANDALL GIVEN BOOST BY STROMSBURG PEOPLE

STROMSBURG, Neb., Nov. 14.—(Special.)—The members of the Commercial club, with their women, held their monthly 6 o'clock dinner Friday, 150 being present.

Senator C. E. Sandall of York was in invited guest. Toastmaster Erland Lommer mentioned the possibility of Mr. Sandall being the next governor of Nebraska.

Mr. Bushnell of Lincoln gave a talk, also Rev. E. H. Jackson of this city. The dinner was served by the women of the Eden Baptist church.

New School Dedicated.

LAWRENCE, Neb., Nov. 14.—(Special.)—Dedication exercises for the Lawrence public school building, recently completed, were held Friday evening. This building was erected at a cost of $30,000, and is complete and modern in every respect, being equipped with electric lights, water vapor heating system, gymnasium, domestic science and manual training rooms, in addition to ample quarters for the regular high school and grade work. Addresses were given by President of the Board of Education Jay M. Riley, Treasurer H. E. Bowman, County Superintendent E. L. Seely and State Superintendent A. O. Thomas to an audience of 200 people, assembled to celebrate the completion of the structure. An informal reception took place in the gymnasium at the close of the program.

Church Dedicated at Oakland.

OAKLAND, Neb., Nov. 14.—(Special.)—The final service of the dedication of the new Swedish Free church was held tonight. Many former pastors and former members of the congregation have been attending the series of services, which opened Thursday evening. The first meeting today was at sunrise. The new building was erected on the site of the old structure where the congregation worshipped for many years. It cost $3,500. This is the third church built here this year. The new mission chapel will be dedicated early in December.

Buffalo County Breeders Organize.

KEARNEY, Neb., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—An organization is being perfected in Buffalo county of a stock breeders' association, which will be composed of stock raisers who are actively engaged in the business in this county. The purpose of the association is to encourage the breeding of a higher grade of animals than the average farmer now handles. The movement has met with general favor and, it is believed, will do much for the raising of thoroughbred stock in this section.

Prompt Action Will Stop Your Cough.

Dr. King's New Discovery will stop your cough. The first dose helps. Good for children. All druggists. 50c.—Advertisement.

GET NEW KIDNEYS!

The kidneys are the most overworked organs of the human system, and when they fail in their work of filtering out and throwing off the poisons developed in the system, the result is to encourage the breeding of a higher grade of animals than the average farmer now handles. The movement has met with general favor and, it is believed, will do much for the raising of thoroughbred stock in this section.

VON HINDENBURG AND KAISER CLASH

Field Marshal Threatens to Resign if He Has to Attack Without More Men.

CHIEF WANTS RIGA, DVINSK

LONDON, Nov. 14.—A dispatch to the Times from Petrograd gives a story told by German prisoners of a meeting between Emperor William and Field Marshal von Hindenburg, at which the emperor insisted that another attempt be made to take Riga and Dvinsk at all cost.

The field marshal is reported to have demanded reinforcements, which the emperor refused on the ground that men could not be spared from other fronts.

Then, according to the story, von Hindenburg announced his readiness to resign should the emperor still insist upon the capture of Riga and Dvinsk.

PICKLING AND PRESERVING PLANT WILL ENLARGE

BRIDGEPORT, Neb., Nov. 14.—(Special.)—The capacity of the pickling and preserving plant, which packed twenty carloads of pickles and kraut this season, will be enlarged to 100 cars. A preserving company at Topeka, Kan., will take the entire output.

The establishment of this concern as a paying concern is a matter of great importance to this valley as it opens up an avenue of income heretofore not open to the irrigation farmers of the locality. With the factory assured the opportunity for small farmers is unlimited.

A good family five acre can make a good revenue out of ten acres of pickles and cabbages has been proven here this past season, the gross profit from cucumbers running from $50 to $60 per acre. Contracts for the output are closed in the winter and every small farmer is assured a market for his crop.

Oakland May Put in Electrolites.

OAKLAND, Neb., Nov. 14.—(Special.)—The Oakland Electric company is installing a second engine and promises a day service in the near future. It has also enlarged its plant so as to be able to handle the street light business. The new future will possibly see Oakland's street lights, now gas, replaced by a new system of lighting and electrolites for Oakland avenue, the main business street.

New Bridge Over Platte.

KEARNEY, Neb., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—A new steel bridge, one-quarter mile long, is just being completed over the Platte river, near Gibbon. A fill of 1,000 feet on the south side of the channel will narrow the channel on this side proportionately, as was done last year with the north side.

RICH, NATURAL COLOR TO GRAY AND FADED HAIR

Rich, Natural Color to Gray and Faded Hair

Stop trying to "wash away" your young gray hairs. Do what your young-looking friends do—bring back the natural color with Hair Health. Prove that it's an easy matter to get rid of gray hair permanently. Not a soul can know it because it's a permanent restoration gradually and naturally, bringing back the natural color to faded hair, keeping your hair glossy and wavy and removing all dandruff. Be a young, active-looking man. Don't get in the "gray-haired" class. Get a bottle today if it doesn't prove to you that your hair can be natural colored, and that you can be as young-looking as you want to, your money will be given back by Sherman & McConnell Drug Co. stores.

The Stewart-Toozer Motor Company

Offers an exceptional opportunity to anyone who wishes to purchase a used car. We have marked down the prices on all of our used cars to make it possible to dispose of them in a hurry, as we need the space for new cars. Our selection of used cars ranges from Ford and Dodge to Chalmers and Pierce-Arrow.

You can save money by buying one of these cars right now. If you cannot call in person write for list of cars and prices.

STEWART-TOOZER MOTOR COMPANY Distributors of Chalmers and 2048-52 Farnam Street Pierce-Arrow Motor Cars.

BELLANS Absolutely Removes Indigestion. One package proves it. 25c at all druggists.

USE THE BEE WANT ADS.

The Modern Fireside

Gives cheer to the family circle.

PERFECTION SMOKELESS OIL HEATER

Be sure to use Perfection Oil.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY (Nebraska) Omaha

GAYETY ALWAYS GOOD USUALLY GREAT

Devoted to Brilliant Musical Barlettes TWICE DAILY ALL WEEK Mat. Today

The Greatest Laughing Show Burlesque THE GOLDEN CROOK With That Funny Kobo, BILLY ARLINGTON

DEAR READER: The Golden Crooks have no connection with Omaha's alleged crime wave, but at that they need watching—and what a mob of watchers I expect all week. I'm "in" on the watching, too. The show is that good. About my triple-plated guarantee of your money's worth. E. J. KILBURN, Mgr. Gayety.

Evening, Sunday & Holiday Mat. 10c, 25c, 50c and 75c. A Few Day

LADIES' 10c AT ANY WEEK TICKETS DAY MATINEE: Baby Carriage Garage in the Lobby

BOYD'S Theater

Tuesday, November 16 One Evening Only. Harold Bauer IN PIANO RECITAL Under Auspices of TUESDAY MORNING MUSICAL CLUB. Prices, $1.50, $1.00, 75c, 50c. Seats on sale at Box Office.

Our Magazine Page

Will interest every woman who likes good heart-to-heart talks with other sympathetic women.