The man is wanted by authorities at mails. He is also wanted in St. Joseph. bank Thursday noon, Mo, on more serious charges.

Local detectives visited the boarding nouse and found John Mosar and Jim also Roumanians, hurriedly packing their trunks as if to make a hasty departure. Arrest followed and Detec-Mosar was to meet Pacala at the Havens hotel the next afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. according to appointment, the detectives and government men were at the hotel and made the arrest immediately after the wanted man entered,

He will be transported to Zanesville at nce to answer the charge there. It is probable that St. Joseph officials will want him next.

Night School Wanted. A night high school in the South High chool building is the popular idea among local educators and citizens. Since the aunching of the venture in Omaha hunfreds of local people have been calling Principal Moore of the local high school daily desiring to enter a night school at the building at Twenty-third and J streets. Every evening a score or more f working young men and women appear at the high school building and ask when the school will start.

Some weeks ago a call was sent out to scertain the approximate number of those who would wish to enter a night high school. The statistics were sent up to the Omaha authorities, but no action was taken in the matter. Now that the Commercial High plan has become so popular hundreds are wishing for a South Side night school. To a probable maority car fare to the Omaha school would be too much for them to afford.

The facilities at hand at the local school make it an ideal center for a night high school. With every practical line of endeavor possible, from printing to domestle science and sewing, given a prominent place at the school building, with the modern and up-to-date equipment represented, the local school building is regarded an ideal center for a high school where all practical industries that would be beneficial to the working student are Crepe is hung about the doors of the police station in recognition of the former police officer. Ambler at the time of his last sick ness was in the employ of the stock yards company. He is well known in the South Side. The body will be sent to western Nebraska in the earlier part of the week for burial.

Centurion Musical Success. The musicale given by students of the Omaha Conservatory of Music, Patrick O'Nell, leading, under the anepices of the South Side Centurion club, last Thursday evening, turned out a distinct success. O'Nell, a popular Irish tenor, only just recently engaged in the conservatory, received great applause and proved a master at singing "Art," a maserplece. The rooms were prettily decorated with palms and cut flowers. The lights were shaded. Preparations are already under way to stage the great opera, "The Bohemian Girl." on a future date. The conservatory pupils are already working on the execution. The proceeds of the concert will be given to St. Bridget's school, recently erected.
