

ALL CROP YIELDS SHOW BIG GAINS

Potato Crop in Nebraska This Year Thirty Bushels Per Acre Over Ten-Year Average.

CORN GAINS FIVE BUSHEL

Nebraska's potato crop shows a far greater yield per acre this year than the average for the state, taken from the yield of the ten years past. This is one of the interesting points shown in a report of the United States Department of Agriculture just issued for November.

It shows that the yield of potatoes in Nebraska this year is 32,272,000 bushels, or an average of 104 bushels per acre. The average yield in the state for ten years past is only seventy-three bushels.

Sweet potatoes yielded 105 bushels per acre, while the average yield for the ten years previous is 91 bushels.

The corn yield per acre is 35.5 bushels, while the average yield for the last ten years is but 29.3 bushels. The aggregate yield of corn for the state, as estimated by this report of the federal government, is 212,219,000.

Buckwheat yielded 23 bushels per acre, while the average yield for the ten years past is 17 bushels.

Pleaseweed yielded 11 bushels per acre, while the average for the ten years past is 8.5 bushels.

Apple Crop Big. The apple crop is given as 1,367,000 bushels, or 50 per cent of a full crop, while the average for the last ten years was 80 per cent of a full crop.

The pear crop is recorded as 15,000 bushels, or 70 per cent of a full crop, while the average for the last ten years has been 50 per cent of a full crop.

Another interesting fact recorded in the statistics made up by the government is that wheat and oats are a trifle lighter per measured bushel this year than in 1914. Wheat in the state this year weighs 47 pounds per bushel, while last year it weighed 49.2. Oats weigh 30 pounds, as to 22.3 last year per measured bushel. Barley holds its own in weight, weighing 46 pounds per measured bushel both years.

Clean Clothing is Wife's Parting Gift to Felon Husband

Percy Farrell, who stole eighty jars of fruit from the home of Joseph Friedel in order to reduce the high cost of living for himself and his young wife, Mrs. Florence Farrell, was taken to the penitentiary at Lincoln to serve a sentence of from one to ten years by Deputy Sheriff James Musgrave. Farrell had pleaded guilty to the charge.

"Where is my husband?" she cried. "The wags carrying two packages wrapped in paper."

"He has gone to the Union station," she was told.

"Oh, I must find him," Mrs. Farrell said. "I must say good-bye and give him these packages."

She rushed away, caught the next street car and reached the station just in time to kiss her husband good-bye and to hand him the packages.

"I love you and I believe in you," she told her husband.

They both sobbed when they parted. The packages contained clean clothing. The Farrells are poor and she had no other gift to make her husband. She went to the police station yesterday, secured some articles of clothing which had been held there since Farrell's arrest, washed them clean, ironed them in the morning and just had time to put them into his hands.

Mrs. Farrell declared she will be waiting for her husband when he is released.

Mohler and Munroe Find West Country Business Better

President Mohler and Vice President Munroe are both back from a month spent along the Pacific coast and in the interior of the states west of the mountains. President Mohler was in the northern country and out in Oregon Short Line territory; while Vice President Munroe did most of the coast country south of San Francisco. Both officials note an increase of business all through the west. Vice President Munroe says:

"There is a marked better feeling all through the country west of the mountains and along the Pacific coast. Everybody is feeling good over present conditions and the prospects for the future. Financially and otherwise the exposition at San Francisco has been a great success."

Suspended Sentences Given I. W. W. Men

J. J. Rogers, organizer for the Industrial Workers of the World, was arraigned in police court, with eighteen others of the order, and was given thirty days suspended sentence.

Rogers asserted after court that the order of the Industrial Workers of the World have no quarrel with the authorities, "and if the majority of the departments throughout the country understood that we are organized for the education of the workmen and not violation of the law, they would be for us." He further asserted that the order is about 250 strong in Omaha, and is rapidly growing. "We have criminals among us, the same as any other organization, but we are not banded together for anything other than the advancement of our class," James Kiley, who refused to take an oath, was ordered back to the bullpen by Judge Foster.

Female Marriage Will Insure to This Country Healthier and More Intelligent Family of the Future

"We have criminals among us, the same as any other organization, but we are not banded together for anything other than the advancement of our class," James Kiley, who refused to take an oath, was ordered back to the bullpen by Judge Foster. Will insure to this country healthier and more intelligent family of the future, and many a woman, obviously unfit for marriage, has had her health restored by the timely use of Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the most successful remedy for female ills the world has ever known. FARMERS AROUSED AT RAILWAY RULE

Will Fight Proposed Order to Abolish Sale of Produce Direct from the Railroad Cars.

MEETING CALLED FOR LINCOLN

Farmers and fruit growers are anxious to continue the sale of fruit and produce from the railway cars direct to the consumer.

They will fight the proposed order of the Burlington and Union Pacific, seeking to abolish this method of disposing of produce.

The Railway commission has the proposed order under advisement.

Claiming that the adoption of this ruling would prevent the Nebraska farmer from selling direct and the Nebraska consumer from buying fruit, vegetables and farm products grown in the state, direct the various organizations, fruit growers, farmers' unions, labor unions and organizations of consumers have become thoroughly aroused over the proposition. It is asserted that the railroads are seeking to gain control of the rapidly expanding agricultural resources of the state in order to distribute all products into faraway sections, leaving the Nebraska consumer to depend upon products grown in other sections and handled by the wholesale commission men.

Plans for effectually combating the proposed order will be discussed. After making a determined resistance to the order, the representatives of the farming interests held a brief conference. As a result a meeting of the various organizations and interests involved has been called for November 23 at 11 a. m. at the State Capitol building in Lincoln. The Farmers' union, the Farmers' congress, the State Federation of Labor, and a Consumers' league, the State Horticultural society, the fruit growers, the potato producers, and many others will be present.

Chief of Detectives Maloney, who has gone to Wichita to bring back to Omaha Art Hauser, alleged murderer of W. H. Smith, is keeping his movements decidedly secret—that is as far as those outside the department is concerned. When he will return with the prisoner has not been made public, and little information can be had as to when he may be expected.

Before leaving Maloney asserted that the movements of the prisoner would be kept quiet, as feeling in the city runs high against the man. "A great deal stronger than the average person believes."

Governor Capper of Kansas has honored the Nebraska requisition for Hauser, according to dispatches from Topeka.

Cured Boy of Croup

Nothing frightens a mother more than the loud, hoarse cough of croup. The labored breathing, straining, choking and gasping for breath call for instant action. Mrs. T. Neureuer, Eau Claire, Wis., says: "Foley's Honey and Tar cured my boy of a serious attack of croup after other remedies had failed. I recommended it to every one, as we know from our own experience that it is a wonderful remedy for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough." It clears the passages, soothes and heals. REAL ESTATE MAN AND WOMAN MIX

Each Makes Charge Against the Other When Taken to the Police Station.

WORDY ROW ON THE STREET

Asserting that she had been 'talked out' of approximately $4,000 and was left stranded here, Miss Olive Clarkson, 35 years old, and a former resident of Denver, followed H. F. Williams, real estate man, around the city until both were so exasperated that their heated words attracted the attention of Police Sergeant Dillon. He sent them both to headquarters on a charge of being disorderly.

WELL KNOWN PRINTER DIES FOLLOWING AN OPERATION

George C. Lawrence, 259 North Thirty-first street, died at the Swedish Emmanuel hospital Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. For twenty-four years he was foreman of the composing room of the Omaha Trade Exhibit, where he continued his work until late Friday afternoon. He was taken seriously sick Saturday and was taken to the hospital early Sunday morning, where he died following an operation for 'loosers of the stomach. Mr. Lawrence was one of the best known printers of Omaha and was always prominent in Typographical union affairs. He was a printer of exceptional ability and a man whose character made him ardently admired by all his friends. He was 44 years old, and besides his wife, he leaves three young children, his mother and a brother. Funeral services will be held at the home Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Twenty Prisoners Placed at Work on Old Jail Building

Twenty prisoners who were sentenced yesterday by Police Magistrate Foster start today on cleaning the old county jail building to the rear of police headquarters. The structure will be thoroughly overhauled and will be used to house the sentenced offenders, who will work for Omaha instead of being kept in idleness as heretofore. Superintendent of Prison Work H. B. Hase is supervising the remodeling of the old county jail.
