Lincoln has returned from Kearney, where he arrested Paul Egan, alias P. Egan, who is wanted in Ottumwa, Ia., for alleged violation of the Mann act. The man was arrested just as he alighted from a train. Lincoln brought him to Omaha, where he is held for the Ottumwa authorities. Returns from China—J. Coleman of New York City was at the local army recruiting station regarding the staff there on his adventures in the far east. He is enroute home from service in China, where he says he had an opportunity to see many of the German prisoners who are in the hands of the Japanese since the fall of Kiaochow. He says they are well treated and held in a concentration camp.

Williams Finds No Whispering in the Night High School The enrollment of the Omaha Evening High school has reached 1,082. Monday evening was the last opportunity for registration. R. B. Williams, member of the Board of Education, visited the school and made this statement: "I feel confident that money spent on this school will be money well spent. I was surprised at the large attendance and the interest shown by the attendants. All seem eager to improve their educational opportunities. I did not observe one case of whispering during the evening."

New Male Chorus Elects Officers The newly organized big male chorus held its second business session and its first rehearsal in the Lyric building on Monday evening. The constitution and by-laws were adopted and the following officers elected: A. C. Neuring, president; Dean T. Smith, vice president; M. F. McCollough, secretary; O. P. Beck, treasurer; Ralph E. Sunderland, business manager. Sixty singers, evenly balanced as to parts, form the nucleus of the chorus, which will be limited to 200 voices. A distinctive appropriate name is wanted. Suggestions will be very gladly received. Musical Director J. E. Carnal, or any of the officers, will report to the membership committee names of singers who wish to join the chorus. Membership fee has been placed at $4 and there are no other dues. It has been many years since Omaha has had a big male chorus and such an organization will add much to local musical interest. The first concert will probably be given during February.

Red Cross Seals Go On Sale Dec. 1 The sale of Red Cross Christmas seals will begin December 1 in Omaha, under the direction of Mrs. Robert Rutledge. Headquarters have been established in the Brandeis theater building. Mrs. Robert Lee Hamilton, formerly Miss Beasler, daughter of P. E. Her of Omaha, will take charge of the sale of seals in Lincoln. Mrs. K. R. J. Edholm is Nebraska agent for the work. The Nebraska Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, for whose benefit the sale is conducted, has $60,000 of the seals on hand, with a reserve order of 20,000 placed in Washington. It is expected that all these will be sold.

Now Look Out. When a cold hangs on, as often happens, or when you have hardly gotten over one cold before you contract another, look out, for you are liable to contract some very serious disease. This succession of colds weakens the system and lowers the vitality so that you are much more liable to contract chronic catarrh, pneumonia or consumption. Cure your cold while you can. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a great reputation. It is relied upon by thousands of people. Never disappoint them. Try it. It costs a quarter. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

Long-Tailed Yokohama Chicks Will Have a Regular Style Show

In connection with the Greater Omaha Poultry Fanciers' association show which will be held in the Auditorium from Wednesday to Saturday, there will be a style show. It will not be a style show for human beings, but for poultry. Among the proud birds which delight in showing their fine feathers in public are the long-tailed Yokohamas. It is stated on good authority that in Japan a specimen was exhibited with a tail eighteen feet long, this being an extreme case. Specimens shown in this country frequently have tails from three to six feet in length. They are raised chiefly for ornamental purposes and command high prices. The males seem to have a monopoly on the show qualities. The chickens and ducks and geese throughout the countryside are busy preening their feathers in anticipation of the poultry show. Lame ducks are being commiserated because they will not be taken to the show. The goose that laid the golden egg will be at the show and the little brown hen will see and be seen. Visitors to the poultry show will be convinced that birds of a feather flock together and that it is not wise to carry all of one's eggs to market in one basket. Mr. Turkey is not taking a keen interest in the poultry show. He is meandering around the barnyard, wondering whether he will get it where Queen Lis wore the ruff. His former proud strut has been changed to a melancholy, or a mirthless marking of time; either one is as good as the other. Anyway, the turkey is not boosting the poultry show. One of the educational features of the poultry show will be to illustrate in a concrete way the advance being made through local and national organizations of the poultry raisers. It will be educational and interesting for the poultry people and the public.

TO REST BESIDE HER SON AND DAUGHTER

Body of Mrs. Thomas Kilpatrick to Be Taken to Cleveland, O., for Burial.

FUNERAL SERVICES YESTERDAY Funeral services for Mrs. Thomas Kilpatrick were held at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at her late home, 2100 Chicago street, Rev. E. H. Jenks, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating. The following were pallbearers: Sanford Richardson, Ezra Millard, C. C. Belden, Harry Doorly, Hal Yates, W. F. Baxter and Robert Cowell. The body was taken to the station immediately after the services to be transported to Cleveland, O., Mrs. Kilpatrick's former home, for interment. George Mixer of Rock Island, Ill., Mrs. Kilpatrick's son-in-law, will accompany the body. Following is a tribute written by one who knew her well: The Passing of a Gentle Woman. Harriet J. Kilpatrick became the wife of Thomas Kilpatrick more than forty years ago in Cleveland, O. Three children were born to them in that city. The youngest, a beautiful boy (Charlie) died in 1883. The loss of this bonnie child was a grievous blow to the parents, one indeed from which they never fully recovered. Mrs. Kilpatrick joined her husband in this city some twenty-seven years ago, coming here from England, where she had gone for the benefit of the health of her eldest daughter. This daughter, Jessie, died soon after the family came to Omaha. Mrs. Kilpatrick was interested in all things for the good of the community and music, art and literature found in her a cordial patron. She was, we believe, a charter member of the Woman's club. The Young Men's Christian association and the Young Women's Christian association received her generous support. Her heart went out to the poor and afflicted everywhere, and she was especially interested in the old and those of tender years. Active in the Croche, she was one of its directors from the starting of the institution. Many were the recipients of her bounty privately, and these will miss her very much, for it was her custom to call on many of them with her husband from time to time. He with whom she trod life's pathway will feel very lonely now. While Mrs. Kilpatrick was still ailing for some time, no one expected so sudden an ending. She attended a lecture on last Friday. Since that time she had gradually grown weaker and on Sunday she may have felt as she visited with her husband: Life we have been long together. Through pleasant and through cloudy weather. 'Tis hard to part when friends are dear. Perhaps 'twill cost a sigh or tear. Then steal away, give little warning. 'Tis hard to part when friends are dear. Say not good night, but in some brighter clime Bid me good morning! The only surviving child, Florence, married George D. Mixer of the John Deere Plow company. They reside at Rock Island, where they have a sweet little daughter who was a great joy to both grandparents. How true it is that here we "see as through a glass darkly." It is comforting to think that now the mystery is over, and we love to believe that she was greeted on the other shore with the welcome sound. "Mother" from the daughter and son who had gone before. "Papa, how far from home?" "Not far, not far tonight." "A flight of spray, a seabird's flight. A flight of tossing foam." "And then the lights are out." After all years are not long, nor lives, the longest that survive. This gentle woman's place in the community will not be easy to fill. Ever courteous and considerate, she had hosts of friends. One of these friends remarked, "If she ever thought unkindly she never uttered an unkind expression." Omaha was better for her coming and is poorer for her going. Her remains will rest in Lake View cemetery, Cleveland, O., by the side of those of her dear daughter, Jessie, and her darling son, Charlie. Mrs. Kilpatrick's father was at one time mayor of Ohio City (what is now Cleveland). His remains also, and those of his wife, rest in the same beautiful spot. — R. C.

Militia Has No Coin to Pay for Repairs on McMillan's Kite

To fly or not to fly—that is the question perplexing Captain Ralph McMillan of the Nebraska National Guard aviation corps.

He made a successful and speedy flight from Lincoln to Omaha Sunday, and even exceeded the regular army's record for average speed per minute in long flight. Now he and Adjutant General Phil Hall of the militia are trying to decide whether McMillan had better overhaul his aeroplane and fly back to Lincoln, or had better ship the machine back by express. The machine was slightly damaged when Captain McMillan alighted on a rough spot Sunday, and to repair it immediately would sadly deplete the present small funds of the aviation corps. General Hall will go to Fremont tonight to negotiate with the Commercial club there for a donation to the fund in case McMillan flies back to Lincoln by way of Fremont. The Ashland Commercial club made a donation to get the aviator to stop there for a few minutes Sunday. Keep Bowels Regular. GET-TOGETHER SOCIAL AT Y. M. C. A. SATURDAY

All members of the Young Men's Christian association will join in a big get-together social at the building Saturday evening. The 500 new members, who joined the association during the recent whirlwind membership campaign, will have an opportunity to get into closer touch with the other members and the officers and secretaries. There will be music, refreshments and a program of short speeches. President George F. Gilmore, General Secretary E. F. Denison, Membership Secretary Ralph Yeoman and others will take part.

LIMIT NUMBER OF SALOONS IN OMAHA

Council Passes Resolution that 1916 Liquor Licenses Shall Not Exceed Present Number.

SOUTH SIDE PERMITS HOLD OVER The city council will limit retail and wholesale liquor licenses in Greater Omaha for 1916 to a number not exceeding the present licenses in preference to new applicants.

Commissioner Kugel offered a resolution on the subject and the council adopted it unanimously. This action commits the council to a policy for next year. The resolution carries a provision that the council reserves the right to reduce the number of retail or wholesale liquor licenses. In giving preference to those now holding licenses the council will consider worthiness of applicants and the locations. The effect of this action by the council will mean that the 1916 applications of retail and wholesale liquor dealers now operating will be considered before new applicants, regardless of the time of filing applications. There are 350 saloons now operating in

STOP CATARRH! OPEN NOSTRILS AND HEAD Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Relieves Head-Colds at Once.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed and you can't breathe freely because of a cold or catarrh, just get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head, soothing and healing the inflamed, swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief. Ah! how good it feels. Your nostrils are open, your head is clear, no more hawking, snuffling, blowing; no more headache, dryness or struggling for breath. Ely's Cream Balm is just what sufferers from head colds and catarrh need. It's a delight.—Advertisement.

To Make Hair Curly and Wavy in One Night Here is how your hair can be curled nicely, easily and harmlessly. Before retiring, apply a little liquid salinizer with a clean tooth brush. In the morning you will find the hair has dried in just the prettiest curls and waves—and it will look and feel so natural you'll never think of going back to the bothersome way you've been accustomed to. You won't be troubled any more with hair stringing around your face—with burnt, uneven ends, nor with that dull, dead appearance. Any druggist can of course supply you with liquid salinizer, and a few ounces will last you a long time. It is neither sticky nor greasy, and is really a delightful thing to use. It is doubly useful because also serving as a beneficial dressing for the hair.—Advertisement.

Greater Omaha, South Side liquor license will expire May 1, 1916, in which case renewals will be granted for the remainder of the year in order that the license year of the merged territory may be uniform. Commissioner Kugel stated he has received various calls from Council Bluffs saloon men who are anxious to open saloons in Omaha at the first of the new year, when they will close up across the river. A clause of the resolution adopted by the council expressed the opinion that there are enough saloons at the present time in Greater Omaha. The council will not grant another wholesale license in the Minneapolis Brewing company until the case now pending in the state supreme court shall have been adjudicated. Considerable pressure was brought to bear on the commissioners last year to increase the number of saloons, and this action is taken so they may have an answer ready. Exceptions have been made in cases of new hotels. A Room for the Roomer, or a Roomer for the Room. See Want Ads Do the Work.

OLD ALIBI FAILS TO WORK AND BYERS IS FINED $25

Walter Byers, colored, 218 North Eighteenth street, and his wife, Mamie, appeared before Judge Foster to explain how Mamie became the possessor of a black eye. "We were tusslin' on each side of a do'ah, judge, when an let go and she got it in the eye," asserted Walter. "I believe you, every word, with the exception of the door part of it—$25 and costs," said the judge, and Walter was led back to the bullpen.
