With prohibition going into effect in Colorado January 1, 1916, it will be a difficult matter to get liquor on any railroad passenger train operating in the state after that date.

Passenger and dining car men of the Omaha-Denver roads assert that they will with considerable satisfaction the coming of prohibition, so far as it applies to railroads operating into Colorado.

SIX PERSONS SHOT TO DEATH IN HOME

Farm Hand Believed to Have Slain Farmer and Family, Another Hired Man and Self.

MURDERED AS THEY SLEEP

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 28.—Six persons were found shot to death in a farm house on a country road three miles south of here last night. Five of them had been murdered while the sixth apparently committed suicide after shooting the others.

A farmer and his family were killed while two farm hands, apparently foreigners, also were shot to death. One of the employees, according to the authorities, did the shooting last Tuesday night, and then killed himself.

The dead: SAMUEL WEITZMANN, 50 years old, SARAH WEITZMANN, his wife, DAVID KIGNER, 25 years old, son-in-law, MRS. BEATRICE KIGNER, 24 years old, his wife.

TWO FARM HANDS, apparently Polish, names unknown.

In Lonestown, Pa. House. That the murders were committed Tuesday night and were not disclosed until, was due to the remoteness of the Weitzmann farm house. It is located on a lonely cross road a quarter of a mile back from the turnpike.

Weitzmann, a prosperous farmer had been accustomed to deliver milk daily in New Brunswick. None having been delivered since last Tuesday morning, an investigation of the lapse today resulted in the discovery of the tragedy.

Weitzmann and his wife had been shot in the head apparently while they slept. In another bedroom was found the body of Mrs. Kigner, who also had been shot in the head while she slept. In still another room were the bodies of three men—the two farm hands and Kigner.

Killed While Kneeling. One of the farm hands lay dead while he evidently was kneeling in prayer on his bed. He was shot in the back of the head. On the floor lay the body of Kigner.

In another bed there was the body of the other farm hand, who the investigators believe, did all the shooting. In his right hand was a revolver. This man had been employed by Weitzmann only one month and the motive for the murder and suicide is unknown to the authorities.

RUSSIAN WINTER MAY DRIVE BACK GERMANS

(Correspondence of The Associated Press.) PARIS, Nov. 28.—Predictions that the approaching winter will be very severe have inspired comparisons between the German campaign in Russia and Napoleon's Russian campaign of 1812.

Abbe Moreaux of the Bourges observatory points out that a curve indicating the European localities where the average temperature in January is zero centigrade, or 32 above zero Fahrenheit, would pass along the coast of Norway, protected by the Gulf stream from greater cold, ascend abruptly along the west coast of Denmark, and follow a line considerably westward from Berlin, turning eastward in the region of Trieste to the Black and Caspian seas.

Another curve marking a zone where the average temperature is 14 degrees above zero Fahrenheit, would comprise Berlin, Vilna, Riga, Dvinsk, Moscow and Petrograd. To make up this average, however, zones of greater cold are comprised, the maximum at Petrograd being 38 below zero, and at Moscow, 47 below zero Fahrenheit.

Examining the situation from a meteorological point of view, Abbe Moreaux finds confirmation of the predictions of naturalists in reviewing the natural return of periods of extreme cold in the past. We are approaching, in his opinion, a period of cold winters, and he thinks that the German soldiers may experience the same vicissitudes as those that cost Napoleon 400,000 men from the "Grand army."

Larrey, who wore a thermometer during Napoleon's Russian campaign, has left records showing that as early as November 14 the "Grand army" had to endure a temperature of 13 below zero Fahrenheit on the line from Vilna to Moscow—the retreat having begun October 28. From November 11 the thermometer went down rapidly to 23 below zero, December 3, to reach 34 below zero when the retreating army reached Maloeyev.

BULGARIAN DESCRIBES NOW OVERRUN ROUMANIA

(Correspondence of The Associated Press.) LONDON, Nov. 18.—Bulgarian deserters arrived in such numbers in Roumania after Bulgaria's entry in the war that the Roumanian government was considerably embarrassed as to what to do with them, says the Bucharest correspondent of the Near East. At Calafat no less than 50 Bulgarians in full military equipment crossed the river and large numbers arrived at other points in Roumania. Their excuse for deserting was that they did not wish to fight Russia.

Bulgarian reservists in Roumania left the country at the call for mobilization with apparent reluctance, while the Greeks responded enthusiastically to their own call. Processions composed both of Greeks and Roumanians accompanied the Greek reservists to the train with patriotic songs and cheers for each others country.

City Commissioners Consider Regulating Some Saloon Men

These are days of conferences among city commissioners. One commissioner will call a conference for this or that purpose, and another commissioner will call a conference for that or this purpose.

Yesterday Commissioners Hummel, Kugel and Jardine were meeting in the council chamber as an equalization board, when Commissioner Drexel happened in.

Informally they discussed the advisability of the city council adopting a policy for saloon license regulation. Commissioner Kugel suggested that it might be well to investigate some of the saloon men who have been charged this year with violations of the liquor laws, this investigation to have some bearing upon their applications for 1916 licenses. It was proposed to bring in some of the saloon men who have been "cheating" and warn them against further misconduct. No formal action has been taken.

It is understood that at another conference it was given out that this week the mayor would bring in the name of Fred Anheuser for confirmation as prosecutor of the South Side police court. A few months ago the commissioners were outspoken in opposition to the confirmation of Mr. Anheuser. The mayor has carried this official along as a "holder-over." Another canvass of the situation would indicate that a majority of the commissioners are still opposed to this appointment.

It is rumored in city hall circles that a change in the heads of two departments is being considered. This can not be confirmed just now, but there seems to be foundation for the rumor.

NO SHOW CENSOR IN DUBLIN

Public Greatly Exercised Over Morality of Theaters and Movies as a Result.

(Correspondence of The Associated Press.) DUBLIN, Ireland, Nov. 18.—Dublin is at present greatly exercised about the morality of its theaters, music halls and moving picture shows. There is no censor in Ireland, and the only way of punishing an offender on the stage is by a police court prosecution. No such prosecution has been instituted and the only occasion when the police court discusses the matter is when a member of the audience is prosecuted for disturbing the performance by expressing disapproval.

One such case has just occurred where a man was brought before the magistrate for protesting at the exhibition of a film called "The New Magdalen." The evidence of some influential citizens was given as to its objectionable character, balanced by the evidence of other members of the audience, including some women that it was all right.

The magistrate thought it would require a Solomon to decide between the witnesses and determined to be his own witness. A special exhibition was given all to himself. He did not see anything wrong in the film, and the defendant then alleged that the performance for the magistrate was a fake and that he did not see the same film. This suggestion was scouted out of court and the defendant was fined and has served notice of appeal.

It is, however, the revues which have provoked most agitation. They run at several theaters, including the principal ones, and have almost banished the legitimate drama from the Dublin stage. The costumes are often very scanty and the songs and business sometimes beyond the border line of the decent. Lately in the newspapers vigorous protests were made by individuals. The manager of one of the leading houses expressed his willingness to remove everything considered objectionable, and incidentally revealed the fact that the first performance in each week was in the nature of a trial trip. If the public on which it was tried stood without protest it went on all the week. This has now been remedied and the trial

Japs Interested in Prison Reform

(Correspondence of The Associated Press.) TOKYO, Nov. 22.—The experiments in prison reform conducted by Thomas Mott Osborne, warden of Sing Sing prison, New York, have attracted attention in Japan, not only because the Japanese are always keenly interested in the social movements of the west, but for the special reason that a system for self-government similar to that which is being tried at Sing Sing was followed in the prisons of Tokio as far back as the year 1910.

It is intimated that if Warden Osborne's Sing Sing experiments succeed, there is a possibility that the self-government scheme may be inaugurated, or rather revived, in Japanese prisons.

Kotiro Yamashita, who is chief engineer in the present department of justice, has found that in 1900 the inmates of Tokio prisons chose their own officials for the maintenance of order, and a great deal of authority was vested in those officials, even the power to impose the sentence of death. So far as the records show the Tokio system worked out satisfactorily, but for some reason it dropped out of vogue.

Japan has always watched the course of prison reform in the United States, and when a movement was started to improve the Japanese prisons in 1911, commissions were sent to the United States, as well as Europe, to make a study of prison conditions. Owing to the difference in life and customs, western methods could not be wholly introduced into the Japanese prisons, but in 1913 a great step forward was made by placing all the prisons of the empire directly under the Department of Justice and by inaugurating the separate-cell system.

Famous Stained Glass Window Taken to Safety. (Correspondence of The Associated Press.) LONDON, Nov. 12.—The east window of St. Margaret's church, adjoining Westminster abbey, which has been called the finest specimen of stained glass work in London, is being removed to a place of safety in view of the recent Zeppelin raids.

The window was made at Gouda, Holland, and was presented by the magistrates of Dart to King Henry VIII for the chapel of Whitehall palace. The king, however, gave it to Waltham abbey. The glass, of which the blues and greens are remarkably striking, suffers sundry removals and vicissitudes, and at one time was buried to escape the seal of the Puritans. Eventually it was purchased by the wardens of St. Margaret for $2,000. It is now valued at twenty times that sum.
