The size of the local entry, too, surprised many. To William F, Weber, upon by the Amateur association in 1888 chairman of the local entry committee, Dick Grotte, C. E. Terrell, L. M. Holliday and George Zimmerman is due the cred t for this. This quintet with hard labor built up the local entry to its large proportions. The large proportion of the entry itself presented many perplexing problems in the way of arranging the schedule, but when Association Secretary day who can make 105 pounds, and most players engaged in the pastime, but the George C. Lowe of Kansas City and local tournament Secretary Cain, ably assisted by Assistant Secretary Eldson grabbed the steering wheel there was little or no trouble and the most strenuous schedule ever made up was run off without a hitch or break.

The entertainment of the visiting howlers was left to Chet Weeks and it would be waste of time and space to mention all the good things which could he said about the successful manner in which Chet did the work.

The good results of the tournament are many. It has placed before Omaha the greatness of the ten-pin game. To those who formerly looked on the game as a weekly leaguo matches it has created a different aspect. The presence of hundreds of bowlers from all parts of the middle west, all rolling matches on a schedule conducted like clock-works for prize money passing the $7,000 mark. combined with good fellowship and sociability, has shown many that bowling been acquiring as trap shooters. The Kawasaki Dock Yard company o Kobe has contracted for the manufacture of a large quantity of shells for the Russian army. The company has started the work of erecting a big melting furnace at its branch factory in Hyogo, near Kobe. An order for 10,000 tons of copper and 5.000 tons of sinc has been recently placed with the Mitsui Bussen Kaisha by the Russian government.

It is understood that the company has accepted the order only for 5,000 tons of copper. The annual yield of copper in Japan amounts to 60,000 tons, but it appears that the supply for several months ahead has been fully booked. On the other hand the turnout of zinc is estimated at 1.600 tons. In ordinary times It would not be difficult to enter into a contract for the supply of 5,000 tons, but leading refineries have orders placed up to April next. Besides, the military sreenals are also taking an enormous supply of the metal. The Russian sinc order will therefore not be met in this country.

COACHES FROM THE SIDE LINES. NEW YORK, Dec. 4 .- Writing in the Evening Post on faults in Harvard's foot ball system, "Fairplay" says: So completely effective is the modern Harvard foot ball system that it would seem the Crimson could win its victories without the aid of certain questionable adtake in the course of an important contest. At least, I think that all fairminded followers of foot ball, whether Harvard men or not, will subscribe to the theory that it would enhance the interests of good sportsmanship if the Crimson would try to win without the assistance of its foot ball mentors and without the employment of dilatory tactics when the game is nearing its close, to the field.

Evade Strict Rule.

The rules stipulate strictly against coaching from the side lines, and while many coaches evade them, it would appear that Harvard offends most grievously in this way. And it is not becoming to the university which stands as tro modern gridiron leader. Haughton's prestige, great as it is, would be greater to all persons with high ideals of sportsmanship if he let his team, once on the field, play the game as it can. Haughton insists upon clean playing and decent demeanor on the gridiron-why not go farther? As to the delays caused by Harvard in the progress of the contest, there are delays that may legitimately be caused through punting and the throw ing of farward passes. But, in the final quarters-although playing no part in the outcome of the game-Harvard's actions were decided unfair, and had the referce been as strict in this respect as he was in the Carnell-Harvard game, when he penalized the Ithacans at least once, he would have done justice to Princeton. Still another point lies in the number ing of players. Princeton players with ing of players. Princeton players with numbers on their backs showed a regard for the pleasure of the spectators as to the identity of the Harvard player who did thus and that, and, it might be said. did thus and that, and, it might be said,
