POSTAL DEFICIT IS ELEVEN MILLIONS

Postmaster General's War Losses and Raise in Salaries More Than Offset Economies.

PARCELS BUSINESS INCREASES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13. - Postmaster General Burleson's annual report, made public today, says the European war has cost the American economies of administration have reduced the audited deficit to a little more than $11,000,000 for the fiscal year which ended last June. Considerations of service, the report says, were placed above all others, and notwithstanding adverse revenue conditions, expansion and improvement of postal facilities continued. Had which says that "agricultural impleit not been for economical reorganization begun before the war started and continued since, the postmaster general says the audited deficit a shovel is not. would have been at least $24,000,-000. Of the total deficit, however, his analysis of the department's finances declares that all but a little more than $300,000 was the result of increases of postal salaries and additional railway mail pay required

Chief among recommendations to congress are a renewal of previous proposals for a change from the weight to the space basis of fixing pay to the railroads for carrying mail; a renewal of recommendations for government ownership of telegraph and telephones; removal of the four-pound limit on first class mail, and the adoption of more liberal limitations on the weight and insurance of parcel post packages.

While the war has crippled the money order system, it has boomed the postal savings banks. The number of depositors and the amount deposited exceeded any year since the banks were established. More than a half-million depositors were on the books at the end of June, 1915, a gain of 35 per cent for the year, and they had on deposit nearly $66,000,000, a gain. Its supporters said the opponents of of more than 50 per cent. The increases in deposits in some cities was remarkable. The report says the department is working in close co-operaadvertising columns, and that during the year fifty-seven concerns or persons were banished from the mails, and 1,900 lotteries were barred out.

The subject of railway mail pay, which is one of spirited controversy between the Postoffice department and the rallways, the postmaster general's report treats at length. It describes the situation as acute and urgent, pressing for immediate adjustment, but expresses regret that the shed, to save the people from further tallway mail reorganization bill Was

LONDON, Dec. 13 .- The Evening Standard, reviewing the American to believe "that America is prepared to exact a proper penalty for the outrage." It adds:

"The note is firm and definite, yet in view of the fact that previous worse outrages ended in smoke, the public will prefer to wait before applauding the heroic stand." The Westminster Gazette says:

There is no weakness or hesitation in the note, which is more consonant with the position of the United States in the world than have been the messages in other cases of wanton outrage."

Contrast with Lucitania Note. Contrasting the tone of the note sent to the Austrian government by the United States with the note sent to Germany after the Lustrania disaster, the Daily Express concludes that "the note would have been more impressive if it had been addressed to the power capable of injuring the United States instead of to its ally, from which the United States has nothing to fear."

Continuing, the Express says: "It was a monstrous and cruel act, but not a whit more criminal than the sinking of the Lusitania.
