NORRIS PULLS OUT OF PRIMARY RACE

Nebraska Senator Announces He Will Not Permit His Name to Be Used for President.

ONLY FORD'S NAME YET LEFT

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Dec. 27.—(Special.)—Nebraska's primary law slipped another cog this morning when the secretary of state received a letter from Senator George W. Norris declining to have his name used in connection with the republican nomination for the presidency.

"WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Charles W. Pool, secretary of state, Lincoln. Dear Mr. Secretary: "From the public press I learn that my name has been filed under the Nebraska statutes as a candidate for the republican nomination for president of the United States. Assuming that the press reports are true and that such a filing has been made in your office, I hereby withdraw my name and request that the name be not printed upon the official ballot. Yours very respectfully, "G. W. NORRIS."

This is the fourth slip in the present-making machine in this state, the first being Justice Charles E. Hughes of New York, the second, Mayor Thompson of Chicago; the third, Theodore Roosevelt, and now comes Senator Norris with a declination of the honor which enthusiastic friends have tried to force upon him. Secretary Pool announces the name will be withdrawn.

There is still one left, that of Henry Ford, the peace pilgrim who already has his face turned toward the United States.

Administrator Of Nichols Estate To Be Asked For

AURORA, Neb., Dec. 27.—(Special.)—It was reported today that Judge W. F. Button of Hastings will soon file papers, signed by heirs of the late A. B. Nichols, asking for the appointment of permanent administrator of his estate.

Button is said to represent Attorney Tunniff of New York city who makes a specialty of cases where the heirs are unknown. Mr. Tunniff is said to represent a Mrs. William H. Gary of Boston, who claims to be a sister of A. B. Nichols and Bertram Nichols of Alden, N. H., who claims to be a nephew of the deceased.

Alden S. Nichols died about a month ago and left an estate of about $50,000. Nothing about his effects or any clue as to the names of his father or other kindred. It was known that he came of the old New England Nichols family and that he left Massachusetts for the west in 1855 and never returned. In the absence of kindred, T. E. Williams, president of the First National bank was appointed special administrator.

Charles Ernst, Who Read Two Million Letters Quits Job

TECUMSEH, Neb., Dec. 27.—(Special.)—When Charles Ernst, the mail officer and interpreter of the Kansas penitentiary at Lansing, gave up the work a few days ago, he closed a career as a letter reader that is hard to beat. After twenty years' constant work in the prison, Mr. Ernst gave up the position, brought his wife back here, where they lived before going to Kansas, and he is building a house near the home of his daughter, Mrs. Herman Myers, east of Tecumseh, by their occupancy. He is a brother of William Ernst of Tecumseh.

In his twenty years' service at the prison Mr. Ernst had read over 2,000,000 letters, and he knew more about the inner life of the inmates than any other officer about the institution. Soon after Mr. Ernst was appointed to a position in the prison it was discovered that he was a fine linguist, being able to speak several languages fluently. Accordingly he was called to act as an interpreter and to read the letters written in foreign languages. Later the letter censoring was taken from the chaplain and all was placed in Mr. Ernst's hands. For twenty years he read along with reading 72 incoming and outgoing letters at the Lansing prison average 200 per day or more than 100,000 per year.

Mr. Ernst has letters of commendation from the six warden he served under, Landis, Tomlinson, Jewett, Haakell, Coddling and Botkin. He gives up the work for the simple reason that he is getting weary along with reading 72 letters a day and because he and his wife desire to retire and come to Nebraska to spend the remainder of their life in quiet, having many relatives living in Johnson and Nemaha counties.

Judge Button Says He Has Found Heirs To Nichols Estate

HASTINGS, Neb., Dec. 27.—(Special Telegram.)—Judge W. F. Button today announced that as attorney for clients in the east he will file a claim to the estate of Adam F. Nichols, who died intestate at Aurora recently and without known heirs, leaving a $60,000 estate to be fought over the same as the John O'Connor case here.

Nelson H. Tunniff of New York former Omaha attorney, who found the evidence on which the Olson brothers claim the O'Connor estate, has helped Button look up the evidence in the Nichols case.

Judge Button said today that he had uncontrovertible evidence in support of his claim. He said he was surprised that people in Aurora had not discovered the heirs, since he had found the information of their location on a short visit there last week. He says a sister, Mrs. Elvira Gary, lives at Boston, and a nephew, Antrim Nichols in New Hampshire.

Sixty Years of Service.

WEEPING WATER, Neb., Dec. 27.—(Special.)—Sixty years of almost continual service as a railway mail clerk is the phenomenal record made by Sam Strain of Warren, O., father of Mrs. A. E. Jamison of this city. News has just been received of the death of Mr. Strain, which calls to mind this record of service. Mr. Strain entered the mail service at the age of 19 and worked up to within three weeks of his death. With the exception of a year and seventeen days his service during the sixty years was continuous. His layoff for the one short period occurred during the Cleveland administration, when everyone was thrown out of his job because of the political change. Then then Mr. Strain was among the last to be removed and among the first to be reinstated.

HAVELOCK FIGHT WARMS UP

Postmastership of Shop Town Becomes Bone of Contention Among Democrats.

MANY LAWMAKERS GATHER

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Dec. 27.—(Special.)—The situation at Havelock over the choice of a new postmaster is getting interesting. It was given out a week ago that Senator Hitchcock had arranged for an election in which none but democrats should participate, the result of the primary to be decisive.

There are four candidates in the field, or rather there were four before the senator issued his election proclamation: Dan Campbell, editor; Sam Hinkle, former mayor and now chief clerk of the State Banking board; W. D. Dore, a merchant, and Joe Tighe, also a merchant.

Since the issue of the proclamation Mr. Tighe, it is said, has declined to run and Mr. Campbell has refused to abide by the result of the election. Mr. Campbell is joined by County Committeeman Jake North, who protests against the holding of the primary and says his endorsement has gone in for Campbell and it will stay in.

Now it is understood that the two committeemen from Havelock will ask Senator Hitchcock to call an election so that the patrons may select either Mr. Hinkle or Mr. Dore.

Ex-Members Gather.

For a while it looked as if a session of the legislature was imminent this morning, several of the members appearing at the state house. Among the number were Speaker Jackson, Bates, Cheyenne, Foster of Lancaster, Parrott of Nemaha and one or two others who were gathered in a little bunch in the lobby.

Speaker Jackson desires it understood that the report he had moved to California was wrong. He has no desire to leave Nebraska and will probably be a candidate for the legislature again. Bates also will run again as will also Foster, but Parrott, being one of the supreme court commissioners will stick to his present job.

Mr. Bates says that everything looks like the republican party was going to sweep things next fall and that the sentiment in his part of the state is decidedly that way.

Outlawed Claim Received.

PAN-AMERICAN SCIENTISTS MEET

Delegates to Congress Representing All Countries on Continent Welcomed by Vice President.

AMBASSADOR SAUREZ RESPONDS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Vice President Marshall, in the absence of President Wilson, today welcomed the delegates of the South and Central American republics at the opening session of the Pan-American Scientific congress.

In his brief address he declared the ideal of Pan-Americanism should be to prevent unjust interference in the affairs of the American nations and that the United States would be the first to resent such interference with any American country.

Secretary Lansing, as head of the governing board of the Pan-American union, welcomed the delegates in an address, in which he advocated a Pan-Americanism that would be "one for all; all for one," and declared that Pan-Americanism was an expression of internationalism. In behalf of the congress its presiding officer, Eduardo Suarez, the ambassador from Chile, replied, referring generously to President Wilson's recent address to the American congress in which he discussed Pan-American relations at length.

Response by Suarez.

"Although representing only one of the republics," said Ambassador Suarez, "I am convinced that I am interpreting the thought and feeling of each and every one of them when I say the government of the United States today completes the erasing with a friendly hand of the misunderstandings and jealous, malicious interpretations which had in former times clouded the horizon of America.

"No doubt there had prevailed before now in the atmosphere in American foreign offices uncertainties, misgivings and suspicions whenever the well-inspired and unquestionable beneficial declarations by President Monroe was bandished in the United States with a view to practical application. There was lacking the precise definition of the meaning and extent of that memorable document and many of the weaker American nations seemed afraid and apprehensive whenever the news reached them of a possible practical application of its declarations.

"Let us, we delegates with the Latin soul, prove that we are equally capable of generating energy to insure the well being of our American brothers. I request that I request that the delegates, with all standing up, it shall join me in sending the homage of our respectful greetings to the president of the United States, who is to us the highest embodiment of the national entity of this republic."

Enthusiastic responses marked the conclusion of the ambassador's speech.

Greeting from President.

The following telegram from President Wilson to Director General John Barrett of the Pan-American union was received: "Please present my warmest greetings to the delegates to the Pan-American Scientific congress and extend to them on my behalf a most cordial welcome. It seems to me to be of the happiest omen that the attendance upon the congress should be so large and the interest so great. I hope that the greatest success will attend every activity of the congress and that the intimate intercourse of thought which it produces will bind Americans still closer together throughout both continents alike in sympathy and in purpose."

Meeting in Continental Hall.

The first general session took place in Memorial Continental hall, national headquarters of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The meeting place had been changed from the Hall of the Americas in the Pan-American building in order to better seat the members, totaling almost 1,000. Men and women from every capital of South and Central America, from scores of other Latin-American countries and from all parts of the United States were present. They included the official delegates, the guests of the Carnegie endowment, and men and women famous for scientific, literary and educational work, who had come without official standing. Four languages were used, though the Portuguese of Brazil was the language of Haiti were almost unheard in the volume of Spanish from the other Latin-American countries and English that marked the Americana. Interpreters provided by the State department were used to reduce the whole to a common tongue.

After John Barrett, director-general of the Pan-American union, called the congress to order the first concrete production of the organization was presented. It was the "Pan-American Hymn," sung by the Home club of the Interior department. The words and music are by Eduardo Poirier and Enrique Sora of Chile, respectively. It was announced that this song would be the official hymn of Pan-America. Mr. Sora was present, having come especially to assist at the presentation of his music.

University Federation Proposed.

Ernesto Quesada, chairman of the Argentine delegation, suggested a plan to bring into closer intellectual union the countries represented at the congress. He proposed that three subsidiary unions be formed, one to confederate all the universities of the Americas, the second to create a bibliographical union and the third an archeological union.

Mr. Quesada said he had the support of the Brazilian and Chilean delegations. His plan for a confederation of universities provides for the interchange of professors and students and the holding of periodical assemblies. He would have the bibliographical union arrange for the exchange of publications and the publication of bibliographical lists in order that any one upon application might secure such productions regardless of where kept. His plan for the archeological union, is chiefly for the conservation of pre-Columbian records and to combine the activities of the ethnological museums.

BRITISH PAPERS TURN ON ASQUITH

Growing Feeling in Empire that He Is Responsible for Lack of Results.

LLOYD GEORGE MORE POPULAR

LONDON, Dec. 27.—Christmas passed without heavy fighting anywhere on the European fronts. The United Kingdom, however, witnesses a general abandonment of the truce between the political parties, which was observed during the early months of the war, and which apparently was cemented for the duration of the war when the coalition government was formed.

The last week has seen a steady growth of the newspaper attacks on the government, the general burden of which is the slowness, the lack of foresight and decision, and the mismanagement of the Dardanelles campaign. While all newspapers declaim any partisan motives, all the more prominent ones participating in the opposition, belong to the conservative party with the exception of the Manchester Guardian.

The newspapers generally hold Premier Asquith responsible for the conduct of affairs. The Northcliffe Group, headed by the Times and the Daily Mail, with the support of the Morning Post, was joined today by the Observer, which is the foremost Sunday paper, and the Referee, which has a large audience among the masses.

David Lloyd George is the only candidate advanced for succession. He commanded Lord Northcliffe's support some time ago in his speech charging the government with being "too late" at the most important crisis of the war and at the same time gained for himself a larger following.

The two latest counts of the indictment of the cabinet are the postponement until after the holidays, of the munitions bill and the postponement of giving the country any insight into Lord Derby's report on his recruiting results.

Decision Awaited.

In the meantime the verdict of union labor on Mr. Lloyd George's appeal to relax union rules in munitions work to permit of the entry of $5,000 unskilled laborers, is awaited with interest. One hundred and fifty delegates of the English society met in London this week to consider terms for settling all differences with the government.

Speculation over the attack on the entire allies at Saloniki continues. Some papers credit the central powers with a plan to bear down on Saloniki from three sides, the Germans forming the center with the Turks and Bulgarians on the left and right wings, respectively.

From different correspondents come various reports on the situation in the Balkans, some contending that the Bulgarians have accomplished all the territorial gains within their immediate ambitions and therefore will not move further. Other correspondents represent them as being determined to extend their boundaries to include the important port of Saloniki.

Germany Has Problem.

Germany probably is confronted with the problem of reconciling the conflicting ambitions of its two Balkan allies, Turkey and Bulgaria and also trying to keep the friendship of Greece, whose support, it is credited with still hoping to gain. The latest reported Greek move is the prohibition of the export of food supplies from Greece to the Franco-British army at Saloniki. General Castelnau, chief of the French general staff has visited King Constantine and met the Greek army staff and the ministers of the allied countries.
