

BRITISH POWER SHOWN AT BASE

Correspondents, Under Escort of Officers, View Mighty Force of Cruisers and Subscas.

A VAST NAVAL RENDEZVOUS

LONDON, Jan. 9.—Under escort of officers assigned by the admiralty, a correspondent of the Associated Press and a party of foreign journalists were given the first opportunity to visit one of the great naval bases on the coast where cruisers, destroyers and submarines are assembled for their watch over the North Sea and from which point big ocean-going submarines are sent on forages to the Baltic and the Dardanelles.

It was an impressive sight of concentrated power and alert readiness with long lines of battle-scarred cruisers stretching seaward and headed by the famous Arcthusa, back of them a vast flotilla of destroyers, then a countless number of submarines of the latest D and E type, which have recently performed such brilliant work from the Dardanelles to the Bosphorus and throughout the Baltic.

It was typical of the rigors of the North Sea, with rain pelting the sailors in splashing, a north wind cutting the sea into foam and seagulls everywhere. The little fishing village on the coast had been transformed by the war into a vast naval rendezvous with storehouses stretching a half mile, prepared to equip an armada and send it back to sea within two hours of its arrival.

Here also were the "mother" ships ranged in long lines along the quay, ready to receive back their fighting children each time they came from a raid or a battle.

The huge establishment was vibrating with energy, and in the harbor mine sweepers were coming back from their work; hydroplanes were maneuvering and black smoke from the funnels of the cruisers and destroyers told of their readiness to dash out to sea after an enemy craft.

The Arcthusa and the light cruiser squadron had just returned from scouting along the German coast in search of a German fleet which was said to have ventured out from the Kiel canal.

Nothing had been seen of the German ships and the British officers—the same who had received their stars in the famous fights under Vice Admiral Sir David Beatty—were desirous at the idea that the Germans would venture forth.

One of the officers was in command of the torpedo tubes, when they fired the deadly missiles which struck the German cruiser Blücher and sent it reeling to the bottom in the great fight of last January. He pointed out these self-same tubes and told how they had worked.

"First we let go that one," he said, "and then this one. It was this one that hit the Blücher amidship. It was lying off there about 1,500 yards. The thing that impressed me after we hit it was the deadly stillness. It was terribly still until the great big ship threw up its bow, turned clean over and sank."

"Yes, this is the one that did it," and he peered this terrible death dealing engine affectionately, as if it were his child, as in truth it had been since he laid the Blücher low.

Scars All Over Ship. Scars of battle were all over the ship, which the officers pointed out with the pride that a Heidelberg student displays when he exhibits his wounds.

A deck gallery amidships had been entirely shot away, a mainmast shell having exploded in it. This had been rebuilt. One dent in the side armor was pointed out as big as a washbowl. The upper works were literally peppered with shrapnel, but the scars were neatly bandaged with two-inch riveted steel plates, so that the saucy Arcthusa was again as good as ever.

The party now went aboard the latest type of big destroyers, which are here ranged in great battalions, with steam up. They are very fast, some of them making thirty-seven or thirty-eight knots, and even touching forty-two knots or a measured mile, while all of them regularly do thirty-five knots on regular service.

Only as Monsters. Lying outside of them were the submarines of the D and E type, the latter being sea going craft of great radius, which are now making distant undersea voyages to the Baltic and the Dardanelles. The smaller D boats have the trim outline of an eight-oared racing shell, but the big new ocean rangers are as ugly as some submarine monster, with a steel fin running fore and aft and a camel's hump amidships for a deck. One of the commanders pointed out their fine qualities.

"They can stay under water for seventy-two hours," he said, "yes, three days without any inconvenience to the crew from lack of air. The D boats are good for runs of twenty-four hours under water."

Quinine that Does Not Affect Head. Because of its tonic and laxative effect Laxative Bromo Quinine can be taken by anyone without causing nervousness or ringing in head. There is only one "Bromo Quinine." E. W. Grove's signature on box. See advertisement.

Culled from the Wire. A suit to test the validity of Chicago's new ordinance to prevent coasting sailing was begun by the Cort theater.

Fifty western railroads at Chicago filed with the United States Interstate Commerce commission the new tariffs of passenger fares as increased in accordance with orders issued by the commission December 11.

One man was probably mortally burned and another seriously injured as the result of an explosion that wrecked the one-story chlorine plant of the International Chlorine Chemical company at Roosevelt, N. Y. Chlorine gas escaped through the residential section causing many persons to remain in their homes with the doors and windows shut tight.

MRS. JOSEPH L. MURPHY, the 32-year-old widow of the famous comedian of "Kerry Gow" fame who died last week, will probably inherit the $3,000,000 fortune left by the actor.

LATIN DELEGATES LANSING'S GUESTS

Addresses Re-emphasize Growing Tendency Toward Closer Relations.

GRAY URGES PREPAREDNESS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Delegates to the second Pan-American Scientific congress, which ended a two weeks' session yesterday, were guests of Secretary Lansing last night at a banquet featured by addresses re-emphasizing the growing tendency toward closer relations among the American republics.

Secretary Lansing, Ambassador Eduardo Saurez-Muica of Chile, president of the congress; Judge George Gray of Delaware, chairman of the United States delegation, and Ignacio Calderon, Bolivia's minister here, were among those on the after-dinner program.

Toast to President. Mr. Lansing expressed the gratification of the United States for what the congress had accomplished and Ambassador Saurez, responding for the organization, proposed a toast to "The president of the United States as a symbol of the country that has entertained us so fraternally."

In delivering a farewell to the departing delegates, Judge Gray urged that the American republics which "need no formal treaties to imply us to unity of thought and action" should not neglect in their friendly relations with each other to take steps for military preparedness. Another endorsement of President Wilson's Pan-American policy was made by Minister Calderon, who declared it a "great doctrine, which excludes no man, threatens no country, but is the culmination of that great universal yearning for freedom, for peace, for justice and for amity."

Will Make Tour. Monday as the guests of the United States government, the foreign delegates will leave for a tour north as far as Boston, which will end at New York, January 18. They will visit Philadelphia, Princeton, New Haven, Boston and various other cities.

Secretary Lansing told the delegates he hoped each of them would return to his country "an apostle of Pan-Americanism, teaching his fellow citizens the truth as to other republics, wiping away the doubt as to their sincerity." It is a "great doctrine, which excludes no man, threatens no country, but is the culmination of that great universal yearning for freedom, for peace, for justice and for amity in all times."

QUIET AFTER RIOT IN EAST YOUNGSTOWN

Members of Ohio National Guard Patrol District Lately Scene of Looting and Burning.

STRIKERS MAY BE DEPORTED

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 9.—Quiet prevailed throughout yesterday with members of the Ohio National Guard patrolling the principal streets of East Youngstown, where, Friday night, drink-crazed mobs ran riot, looting and burning property and causing the loss of one life and financial loss amounting to $1,500,000, but rumors of fresh demonstrations tonight resulted in renewed vigilance on the part of the militia.

Meetings of strikers were held in the hills back of the town this afternoon, at which plans of action were said to have been discussed. It was learned also that employes of Mahoning valley, now on strike, will hold a demonstration here tomorrow. According to the plans the men will assemble on the outskirts of East Youngstown and march past the zone of last night's rioting and on to a big hall, where speakers will address the crowd.

Regiment in Reserve. Militia officers indicated that they had been informed of such plans, but refused to indicate what attitude the militia would take in the matter. They admitted, however, that the Fourth regiment, composed of nearly 1,000, was being held in reserve at Berlin Center, fifteen miles west of here, for any possible emergency.

Although troops began arriving here about 5 o'clock this morning, none was taken to East Youngstown for patrol duty until nearly noon, when Mayor W. H. Cunningham of that place requested that militia men replace police officers there in order to permit the men to get a much needed rest. The remainder of the troops stayed on the trains, which were backed into the yards of the Youngstown Steel and Tube company, where they will be quartered while here.

Efforts on the part of the state to effect a settlement between the strikers and the Republic Iron and Steel company and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company will probably open here tomorrow.

Saloons Are Closed. For the first time in the history of the city saloons were closed in Youngstown on a Saturday. This action was taken by the city authorities in an effort to prevent further disorder. Saloons in East

INTENSE ITCHING OF RED BLOTCHES

On Hands, Went Up Arm to Shoulder, Then on Face, Awake Nights Scratching.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"At first I noticed little red blotches on my hands, and they went up my arm to my shoulder and then on my face. My hands were rough and inflamed and the itching was so intense that I had to scratch, which made them bleed. I used to be awake nights scratching all the time. I was not able to put my hands in water or do my work because it was so painful. My hands were disfigured something terrible. I heard of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I thought I would try them. Two boxes of Cuticura Soap and two cakes of Cuticura Ointment and my cure was complete." (Signed) Miss Herbertine Duden, 3447 Auburn Ave., Chicago, Ill., July 14, 1915. Sample Each Free by Mail. Youngstown and Struthers were also closed, but those in Girard, five miles away, were open, and cars running to that town were crowded. Today was pay day at the plant of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company. Owing to the burning of the pay office by the rioters last night the men were compelled to line up in the streets to receive their checks.

Reports from Struthers, where threats had been made to blow up the Yellow creek dam, which would result in the flooding of the business section of that place, said it was quiet there. A detachment of soldiers was sent to that point and these aided by armed citizens patrolled the district all night.

One hundred and sixty-seven persons have been arrested in East Youngstown as a result of the riot. All have been transferred to the county jail and will be held pending the outcome of their trials. Five continued to smoulder in the ruins along Wilson avenue tonight, casting a lurid glow down the ruined street, which had been roped off to prevent the curious from approaching too near to tottering walls. A lighting system, which had just been completed Thursday night at a cost of $10,000, was wrecked by the mob and tonight the street, which is the principal thoroughfare of East Youngstown, was in darkness.

Despite rumors that at least four persons had been killed last night, search by the police today showed that two men, George Get, aged 21, who was shot as he was smashing a glass in a building, and Robert Davis, brakeman, were killed. Davis was hit by a stray bullet. Twenty-two persons are in hospitals suffering from injuries, one of whom is in a critical condition. According to the police, at least 100 other persons suffered minor injuries, chiefly gunshot wounds, but were able to be taken to their homes.

Common Pleas Judge Barnum of this city tonight communicated with United States District Attorney E. Lowery Humes of Pittsburgh with a view of instituting deportation proceedings against the foreigners who participated in last night's rioting.

No Sign of Trouble. East Youngstown has a population of 15,000 persons, but of this number only 400 are voters. Five hundred militiamen under Major Arthur B. Houts of Cleveland with a machine gun tonight patrolled Wilson avenue and the adjacent hills. There was no semblance, however, of any trouble, but the militiamen refused to allow crowds to assemble.

County authorities early tonight raided the homes of thirty foreigners in East Youngstown and confiscated a wagon load of beer alleged to have been taken during the rioting last night. The officers who participated in the raid claimed that much other loot which was taken when business houses along Wilson avenue were sacked and burned, was also found. Mass meetings were held by the strikers in the light of big bonfires in East Youngstown tonight and although no official statement was issued it was said they voted against mediating their difficulties, insisting that their demands be granted.

MUSICAL EDUCATION IN SCHOOLS URGED BY WOMAN

Dr. Alma Webster Powell will give a free lecture at the University of Omaha Tuesday evening, January 18, at 8 o'clock. Her subject will be "Music is a Human Need." She will sing type songs of various countries, playing her own accompaniment. Dr. Powell is seeking to have free schools of music established throughout the country. Nearly everything else is taught now without cost to the student, and she believes it is a grave oversight to deny the people free musical education. She is a graduate of Columbia university and has studied in Berlin and other places abroad. She lectured here about a year ago.

WOMEN WOUNDED WHEN THEY RESIST ROBBERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—Mrs. Emily Broadberg was probably fatally injured and Miss Rose Rea was shot through the arm yesterday, when they refused to deliver a cash box to two unidentified negroes, who entered the office of a salary loan concern in a Market street office building during the evening rush and demanded money. After the shooting in which five shots were fired the men escaped through the crowded corridors. Miss Rea, the bookkeeper, was first to meet the bandits. She was struck by a bullet fired through the cashier's window. Hearing the shot, Mrs. Broadberg, manager of the concern, came from an adjoining room and was shot in the abdomen.

DEATH RECORD

Mrs. Margaret Hotelling. TECUMSEH, Neb., Jan. 9.—(Special)—Mrs. Margaret Hotelling, died at the home of a daughter, Mrs. William Jones, in Crab Orchard, Friday afternoon, after a long illness. She was aged 75 years. For a great many years Mrs. Hotelling lived near this city. The funeral was held at the Jones' home Tuesday afternoon.

John Dane gave up, and sold his farm for $2200. And the man who bought it got his money back in two seasons. For 20 years John Dane failed to make a living on 64 acres. He tried corn, truck and other crops that he could have sold in a good market four miles away. But the farm did nothing except sprout seed. The new owner took it in the winter. Although there was no rain from May 10th to September 1st, he produced and fed $1800 worth of silage to beef cattle—the first good crop that farm had borne in 20 years. And that first summer he increased the fertility so much that the next season he got the whole purchase price back. And he's made a living plus ever since. How? He did it by practicing the kind of farming that is found every week in The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN. What crops to raise, what seed to buy, how to increase the fertility of your soil, how to choose between diversified crops and a specialty, how to plan crop rotation—all these practical problems are covered in a practical way in a regular page called GOOD METHODS IN THE FIELD. Short, crisp, clear suggestions sent in by men who have tried them and found them money-makers. This is but one of twelve regular departments of the great national farm weekly. The other departments cover poultry, fruit, market gardening, dairying, livestock, farm buildings, farm recipes, sewing and fancywork, etc., etc. And every week from six to ten special articles by special farm investigators.
