B-Bid, A-Asked. CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Features of the Trading and Closing

Prices on Board of Trade. CHICAGO, Jan. 10.-Notwithstanding that wheat today at first showed strength the market later became neavy on account of a liberal enlargment of the United States visible supply total. Prices closed weak, % the to Pac net lower with May at $1.24%, and July at $1.17% I.17%. Corn scored a sain or 160 bette to 160 and oats of 160 to 170 c. Provisions finished at a range varying from 2% off to 17% advance.

Enlargement of the visible supply total received emphasis from the fact that the record at the corresponding time last year was a decided contrast, the 1915 year was a decided contrast, the 1915 figures having showing a substantial failing off. Absence of any signs of fresh proceedings from Europe tended further to discourage the bulls. Bearish sentiment was augumented by the fact that no adequate relief had yet ben given to freight congestion at the scabbard and at intermediate terminals.

Transient strength in wheat during the first part of the session was due chiefly to higher auctations from Liverpool and

Transient strength in wheat during the first part of the session was due chiefly to higher quotations from Liverpool and to a decrease in arrivals at Minneapoils and Duluth. The final abandonment of the effort to open the Dardanelles appeared to have builish effect, and so did the commandeering of supplies in Italy. As for the diminished receipts northwest lowever, there was more than an west, however, there was more than an officet later in reports that Canadian wheat was coming to Minneapolis, one firm alone having obtained about a hun-

Corn went to a new high price record for the 1915 crop. Talk or a good European demand was chiefly responsible. The market afterward eased off a good deal.

Oats swayed with corn. Domestic demand was fairly good, and there was export inquiry.

Provisions had a notable advance, despite the huge supplies of hogs arriving here and at other western centers. Big exports helped the provision market upward, but seiling by packers caused a reaction.

CATTLE—This market, as well as all other markets, were heavily loaded with cattle, there being large runs everywhere. By reason of the large offerings the tendency of prices was generally downward. The trade at this point was a little slow, buyers being inclined to await advices from other points before filling their orders. For that reason it was well along toward midday before enough business had been done to really establish prices. Stock cattle and feeders were the first to sell, the demand for that kind being quite good, while the supply was light.

Killers of all kinds started out slow to a little lower.

Whil the trade continued slow all the day the cattle kept selling and in the end a good clearance was effected. Prices ranged all the way from steady to as much as loc lower in many cases.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—COFFEE.—A further sharp advance attracted considerable realizing in the market for futures and reactions followed, with July selling off from 7.55c to 7.55c, while December reacted from 7.75c to 7.57c. The market opened firm at an advance of 4 to 13 points and the active months sold 19 to 17 points above Saturday's closing figures on a good scattering demand from Wall street and cotton trade sources. Firm Brazilian cables encouraged the advance, but there was scattered selling by trade interests as well as realizing on the improvement of 69 points from the lowe level of last week and most of the gains were lost in the later trading, with the market closing net unchanged to 2 points higher. 7914 7914 Postal Clerks Want Circulars Dropped in Boxes Earlier

At the monthly meeting of the Postal Clerks' association, held Sunday afternoon, it was decided to hold their annual ball on Lincoln's birthday, February 12. A resolution was adopted favoring Senator Norris' proposed bill placing all offices, including the postmaster, under the civil service regulations. A resolution was also passed en-business men send in their heavy circular mail early in the day, so that it may be worked during the day. They say that it is a habit of the business houses to save their heavy circular mail until the last collection in the afternoon, and this piles a heavy load into the office late in the day, so that it is often imthus causing delay.

A committee of three was appointed to confer with the postmaster and to work with him to have him take it up with the Commercial club to see if some action could not be secured.

R. W. Besley, nowly elected president of the Omaha Manufacturers' association, starts his administration with a membership larger than the association has had in any year in the past. Twenty-one new members were signed in 1915, and the new officials now take over the running of the association with a total of 204 members on the rolls.

R. A. Leussier, the new treasurer of the association, takes over the hooks with something over $400 in the treasury, which is an exceptionally fine little balance with which to begin the year.

The new officers and new directors have already decided upon a strenuous campaign for new membership. All of Greater Omaha, which includes what was formerly Dundee and South Omaha, is to be included in the campaign, and the whole district is to be thoroughly canvassed. The directors also have been assigned a definite duty for the year. They are each to write a letter once a month to President Besley, suggesting new lines of activity and work to be taken up by the

William C. Rosecrans called at the postoffice and was introduced to Postmaster Wharton. Mr. Rosecrans has just been appointed by a grateful president and senator postmaster of Ashland, Neb.

He had heard what a bear of a postmaster Colonel Wharton is and mentioned several of the stories about him in The Bec. So he wanted to get first-hand information on how to conduct an office successfully. Petroleum V. Nasby Wharton declared warmly that it will ever be one of his highest pleasures to aid and assist in any way within his power and under our glorious constitution any post master, even a democrat,

Mr. Rosecrans' father was a cousin to General Resecrans of civil war fame. The new postmaster was a painter and decerator prior to his appointment, but has been suffering from lead poisoning for some time.
