

PADEREWSKI WILL PLAY HERE MONDAY

Great Polish Pianist to Be Fourth Member of the Retailers' Charity Concert Course.

HIS FORTUNE TO CHARITY

Ignace Paderewski will be the fourth world-renowned musical attraction offered to an Omaha audience in the Retailers' Charity Concert course, and will appear at the Auditorium tomorrow evening.

The appearance of the great pianist on the concert stage after his retirement several years ago is due to the fact that he spent his fortune to help his stricken countrymen in Poland. The Chicago Herald in a recent editorial has this to say of him:

"Ignace Paderewski is returning to the concert stage to which he had previously withdrawn some time ago. Doubtless many will smile, more or less satirically, when they read the news.

"By the power of his genius and through the universal admiration it excited the great pianist reaped golden harvests. When he retired he was more than a millionaire. His accumulations were close upon $2,000,000.

"But today Paderewski is so poor that he must go to work again. What has become of his ample fortune? Squandered? Lost in bad or foolish investments? Neither, unless it be foolish to feel acutely a spectacle of human distress and spend all without sparing or thought of self to relieve it.

"Paderewski has given away his whole fortune—every dollar he had—to help his stricken fellow Poles, to lift from them the crushing weight of war and famine. He has literally stripped himself for suffering Poland. He has 'owned the toes of blood and race' as have few men.

"Having given away all he had, Paderewski plays again that he may live, and still give to his native land's people."

Program for Monday Night.

- Paderewski's program at the Auditorium is a comprehensive one, as follows:
- 1. Fantasia, Op. 15, Schubert
- Allegro con fuoco, Adagio, Presto, Allegro.
- 2. (a) La Rondelle, F. Couperin
- (b) Le coucou, F. Couperin
- 3. Etudes Symphoniques, Schumann
- 4. (a) Nocturne in E minor, Op. 9, No. 3
- (b) Etudes Nos. 36, 7 and 10, Op. 25
- (c) Mazurka in A minor, Op. 17, No. 4
- (d) Scherzo in E-flat minor, Chopin
- 5. Rhapsodie Hongroise, Liszt

Advice to Students.

Some time ago Paderewski wrote an article giving valuable advice to piano students. He lays stress on the value of scales and says a student who is taking up music as a professional should give four hours daily to study, and if taking up music as an amateur the student should give two hours daily to study.

"As technical studies," wrote Mr. Paderewski, "I recommend Czerny's Op. 740 and Clementi's Gradus and Parnassum, Taubert's edition. The Czerny is pure technique and the Clementi is extensive and brilliant. These together with some special finger exercises by the teacher, suited to the individual need of the pupil, will, for a considerable time, be quite sufficient in the way of purely technical studies. Afterwards the Wohltemperirte Klavier of Bach, indispensable in training the independence of the fingers and the tone, should be taken up, and in due course the studies of Chopin.

Playing of Scales.
"It is only by playing the scales with strong accent, and the slower the better, that precision and independence of fingers are secured. First play the scales through, ascending the notes according to natural rhythm. Then, as in speech, let the accent fall upon the weak note instead of upon the strong one and play the scale, ascending every second note, afterward place the accent upon every third note, and then upon every fourth.

"I advise first Mozart because it becomes with our modern nerves and becomes difficult to play with calm and simplicity. And these are the qualities that are required by Mozart. Second, I advise Mendelssohn whose sense without words are of such admirable use in acquiring a singing quality of tone. For brilliancy of technique I should advise Weber and for advanced pianists I recommend the playing of Moszkowski among modern composers."

Speakers Coming for Mass Meeting

Announcement is made that Henry D. Eastbrook, who is to be the principal speaker at the banquet of the State Historical society, has also consented to address the republican mass meeting which has been called for Lincoln on the following day.

Invitations have also been extended by those engineering the plan to Senator Cummins of Iowa and Senator William Alden Smith of Michigan, and while Senator Cummins is unable to be present, it is possible Senator Smith may yet accept.

CENTURION MEMBERS CALLED BEFORE AX-GRINDER

The big, handsome, ornate dolls are being held by their sponsors awaiting a home where all the modern conveniences may be had, say the guardians of these dolls, who are prominent bachelors and members of the Centurion club of the South side.

Morris Howard, guardian of Oogy; Joe F. Powers, guardian of Belita; Henry Heston, guardian of Caracasp; Leo Wardlaw, guardian of Basama; and H. Ashenbrenner, guardian of Callina, have been summoned to appear before the royal ax-grinder and show cause why they should not be deprived of their charges. Rumor has it that the activities of these bachelors during the short span of the leap year needs investigating.

J. J. Fitzgerald, to whom the care and welfare of the sixth doll, Castoria, had been entrusted, has refused, and still refuses, to provide the necessities of life, and must also appear before the club January 22, Thursday evening, and make an accounting.

That this will be one of the biggest social events of the club is predicted by those staging this affair.

COMMERCIAL CLUB DINING ROOM BECOMES POPULAR

Business in the Commercial club's dining room picked up in 1915 over 184, according to a report of the house committee of the club. There were 74,222 meals served during the year, as against 62,300 the previous year. The club's restaurant gave an improved showing over the previous year to the extent of $2,500.

"Valkata," or "The Outcast," a Lithuanian play, was produced by a number of young folk of the Lithuanian colony in South Side, the proceeds to go towards the war relief fund. This is only one of five plays which the Lithuanian Dramatic club has presented, the proceeds from the others having gone to purchase a Lithuanian-English library, which is maintained at the home of one of the members, Miss Minnie Redecki. The club plans to bring speakers from other nearby Lithuanian colonies and to work for the betterment of their people generally. About thirty are included in the membership. May 1 is the date set for the club's next production. George Bilunas is president, Miss Kate Bazar, vice president; Anton Pozkus, secretary, and Miss Redecki, treasurer of the dramatic circle.

Committee Chairmen for Manufacturers Selected by Besley

Chairmen of the new standing committee of the Omaha Manufacturers' association have been announced by President Besley as follows: Industrial, R. A. Leussler; transportation, rail and river, J. W. Gamble; insurance and taxes, W. L. Burgess; legislation, F. S. Knapp; entertainment, E. A. Higgins; trade excursions, G. W. Claibough; membership, F. R. Vierling; advertising and "Buy It in Omaha," W. H. Clarke; good roads, J. L. Baker; city and county affairs, Duane Arnold; and manufacturers' exhibits, W. J. Monahan. The chairman of each committee will select from the membership of the Omaha Manufacturers' association a list of members he desires on his committee and submit the list at the next meeting of the directors. The entire board of directors will be a committee on new activities.

Give Dinner for New Penn Freight Agent

Norbert F. Kenney, succeeding L. W. Bessig here as agent for the freight department of the Pennsylvania lines, has arrived from Spokane, Wash., and last night at a banquet at the Hotel Rome was the guest of honor. The banquet was given by the local freight men and besides being to introduce Mr. Kenney, was a farewell to Mr. Bessig, who has been transferred to Minneapolis. Mr. Bessig is a brother of Vice President Kenney of the Great Northern. He has been with the Pennsylvania since 1902. Three years later he became traveling agent and in 1909 was sent to Spokane as agent.

TODAY'S BEAUTY HINT

It is not necessary to shampoo quite so frequently if your hair is properly cleansed each time by use of a really good shampoo. The easiest to use and quickest drying shampoo that we can recommend to our readers may be prepared very cheaply by dissolving a teaspoonful of castor oil, obtained from your druggist, in a cup of hot water. This rubbed into the scalp creates a thick lather, softening and cooling in its action, as well as very beneficial to scalp and hair. After rinsing, the scalp is fresh and clean, while the hair dries quickly and evenly, developing a bright luster and a soft fluffiness that makes it seem very heavy. Advertisement.
