WILKESBARRE, Pa., Feb. 9.-Seven workmen were killed and two injured by a gas explosion in the Ross vein of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company at Plymouth late today. All the victima were of foreign birth and several of them left large families. The injured, although seriously hurt are expected to recover. It is believed that some of the men were killed by black damp which followed the explosion

Gas ignited by the naked lamp of one of the miners is believed to have caused Eighty Monsters of the Air Now in the explosion. About 100 men were in the mine when the explosion occurred. They were hurled in all directions, sev eral of the dead and injured being found scattered along the gangway. Those who escaped the blast rushed to the foot of the shaft only to find that wreckage had made it impossible to helat or lower the carriages. A large rescue squad was quickly put to work and after several hours succeeded in forcing an opening through the wreckage and bringing the imprisoned miners to the surface. At midnight it was announced that all had been accounted for.

this week will see a dozen or so of small bronzes, fashioned by a master who can put brute force into inert clay. Amid the suave aptitudes and beatitudes of pastels and water colors and the wild jucubrations of the modern cult they will declare the primal and the strong.

These bronzes are by Arthur Putnam, the San Francisco sculptor. Mrs. A. B. Spreckets has purchased them, and will present them to the city when a permanent fine arts building is provided As they are now exhibited they will arrest the attention and tell their own story of powerful genius."

Mormon Church Says 'Ware the Avalanche

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Feb. 9 .- The first presidency of the Mormon church issued a formal warning today advising all persons to keep out of the mountain canyons on account of the unusually heavy snows and the consequent danger from avalanches.

Such warnings by the officers of the church were common in the early days of Utah, but it is said this is the first of the kind that has been issued for fifty Years.

More snow is in the mountains than for many years past. Several deaths have occurred through snow slides recently and railroad and other traffic in some of the canyons has been suspended for several days at a time in the last few weeks.
