THE BEE: OMAHA, SATURDAY, MARCH 4, 1916.

The committee of business men interested in the movement clung to a business session on the matter until 2 o'clock at the Commercial club rooms. Chairman W. A. Fraser of the special committee, to devise means of financing the building, was authorized at this meeting to have an advisory committee of men particularly familiar with matters pertaining to the financing of such a project.

Charles P. Genslinger of Washington, D. C., who has built a number of these clubs, had plans before the members at this meeting calling for a building to coat $740,000. This was shaved down somewhat by the members until a sort of tentative compromise was reached at $658,000.

This plan contemplates everything that a modern athletic club house would be expected to have, including big plunge baths, 150 hotel rooms and all conveni-

The initiation fee has been practically agreed upon at $100, with an annual due of perhaps $40. A life membership would be sold for about $500, it is said. Several of the men present pledged fifty memberships, and others pledged memberships of a greater or a less num-

"If the committee can make satisfac-tory arrangements with Mr. Genslinger," said Mr. Frazer, "the club house will undoubtedly be built."

NEW TORK, March 2 .- It was anmes that plans are under way for the bringing of a representative team of Swedish athletes to the United States next summer for a series of competitions with the beat track and field men in America. The plan to revive international athletics in spite of the world war that is draining Europe of its best men will be fathered by the leading men in athlettes in both Sweden and America. The team that will come here will be a rattling good one-one that will be well able to do the work for which it will be sent.

The Swedes will not meet the united strength of the United States in competition a any time.
