

LILLIAN SEES HER FIRST REAL INDIAN

Young Woman Just in from Brooklyn Disappointed Because Lone Bear Wears Store Clothes.

GETS SQUINT AT SCALPING KNIFE

Direct from a convent in Brooklyn, N. Y., Lillian J. Campbell had the time of her life in Omaha yesterday afternoon.

Lillian saw an Indian. She spent the afternoon with Chief Same Lone Bear, Colonel Bill McCune, and her uncle, Dan Gaines of the Merchants hotel.

Mr. Gaines brought his niece to the hotel where the Indian was stopping. She saw a powerful young Indian, handsome, obliging and well-mannered—one of the kind that would not shake hands without removing his glove, when she had expected to stand every moment in fear of his scalping knife.

Obliviously Sam dug down in his trunk and brought out his war equipment. He fished out his leather shield, his scalping knives, his rifle, and his eagle-feather war bonnet, which has $100 worth of real eagle feathers in it.

Miss Campbell's eyes popped wider and wider, and when she was about ready to flee from the hotel in fear, the Sioux explained that he has been with Buffalo Bill's show for exactly twenty-five years, that he has been in New York, Washington and all the large eastern cities, lecturing to the women's clubs and other social organizations on the life of the Indian, and that he is only going to the agency for a few weeks or months to make preparations to start out in the show business again.

Miss Campbell calmed herself. "So you've been to Europe several times with Cody?" some one asked Lone Bear.

"How would you like to be there now?" "No, not me when there is war going on," answered the brave. "They must be all crazy over there. Indians wouldn't act that way."

Freight Congestion Between Chicago and New York Revealed

CHICAGO, March 4.—Only one of the through railroads between Chicago and New York has its tracks clear, according to a story which will be published in the Chicago Tribune tomorrow.

The story will say there are 100,000 cars loaded to the roofs, backed up on storage tracks between the two cities.

"Goods that left Chicago in December have not gotten within 200 miles of New York."

"The docks, piers, private warehouses, public storehouses and finally the bare ground are littered with delayed freight. The freight lying on the ground alone will total millions of dollars."

The story is credited to a traffic expert sent out to investigate the car shortage situation for a big Chicago corporation.

The expert will be quoted as saying that "ugly rumors" have been afloat that undue influence has been used to expedite the movement of munitions of war, but that these rumors have never been confirmed.

"Americans probably do not realize the full extent of the munitions movement. A banking authority in New York told me that the Bethlehem plant alone was turning out more munitions than the English plants put together."

Germans Use Only Part of Forces in Attack on Verdun

PARIS, March 4.—While it appears certain that Verdun remains the principal objective of the Germans their offensive is full of possibilities which will be revealed as the great battle progresses.

It became evident that the Germans in the battle lasting from February 21 to 25 used only part of their force. Although they had put in line seven army corps, there must have been an imperative reason for this dividing their forces, and it is attributed to the lack of space, the sector which was the scene of the furthest advances being extremely small—not more than ten kilometers long.

Various documents found on prisoners establish without doubt that the object of the offensive of the Germans is Verdun, "the last rampart of French resistance."

One of the German general orders of the day found on an officer and signed by the chief of the German staff requests the troops to conduct themselves worthily in the battle, "which will decide the fate of France."

Not Tree Left After Battle in Forest

BERLIN, March 4.—(By Wireless to Sayville.)—The conquest of the forest of Haumont, which was the beginning of the attack against the French fortress of Verdun, is described in a letter from the front to the Koelnische Zeitung, says the Overseas News agency, as follows:

"Between the German positions near Glaix and Haumont there is an open plain which presented to the French a clear target to shoot and would have cost immense sacrifices if the defending infantry was not sheltered. Haumont was fortified with the most modern guns known, but the German heavy artillery justified itself again this time.

"In the forest there was not a tree that had not been broken like a toy and the whole underbrush had been leveled."

Gas for Toothache Nearly Causes Death

Mrs. Martin Weaver, 81 South Twentieth street, was overcome by gas when she inserted the tube of a gas heating apparatus in her mouth and turned on the jet. It was ascertained at the house that she had been suffering from a toothache and had attempted to stop the pain in this way. Her husband denied that any attempt at suicide had been made. Mrs. Weaver was attended by Dr. R. Kuskoftsky.

GETS SPECIAL PERMIT TO SHOOT PIGEONS AT SCHOOLS

The superintendent of public schools received from the chief of police a permit to allow janitors at Central High school to shoot pigeons which infest that seat of learning.

Shooting of firearms is not allowed within the city limits, but the law has been suspended in this case because these pigeons have been declared a public nuisance.

The disposition of the dead pigeons has not been determined, according to information given at school headquarters. The slaughter will be done after regular school hours and on Saturdays.

MALCOMB CANNOT STAND PACIFIC COAST CLIMATE

Boy, the young son of A. R. Malcomb former assistant general freight agent of the Missouri Pacific, recently transferred to San Francisco as general agent, with the coast country as his territory, cannot stand the western climate and is coming back to Omaha. The boy will make his home here with H. E. Taylor, commercial agent for the Missouri Pacific.

While in Omaha the Malcombs and Taylors were close friends. This fact will result in the Taylors becoming sort of god parents to the Malcomb boy.

TEACHERS' ANNUITY ASSOCIATION ELECTS

At an annual meeting of the Teachers' Annuity association of the Omaha public schools the following officers were elected for the year:

Mrs. Agnes M. Harrison, president; Mrs. Nora Lemon, first vice president; Martha L. Powell, second vice president; Alice D. Orr, financial secretary; Mary R. Goodman, recording secretary; Emma

Stop The Cold And Avoid Grip

Coughs and Colds Should Not Be Neglected

The lack of resisting power that precedes all kinds of ill-health causes coughs and colds. The theory of some people to "let a cold run its course" should be supplanted by the safe rule to "never neglect a cold," because it is from coughs and colds that grippe, pneumonia and other serious ailments usually develop. No it behooves any who are prone to "take cold" to find a remedy to fore-stall it.

In this connection Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey will prove one of the most effective remedies you have ever tried, if taken in tablespoon doses in equal amounts of water or milk before meals and on retiring. Because Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is an absolutely pure tonic-stimulant, it assists in building up the weakened and run down system by its beneficial action on the stomach, the source of most ill. If the system is in a healthy condition it is invariably able to resist and throw off coughs, colds, grippe and bronchitis prevalent at this season. Remember, do not neglect a cold but get Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey at once from your local druggist, grocer or dealer, $1.00. If he can't supply you, write us. The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

Mrs. Doris Kruger to Be Buried Today

The funeral of Mrs. Doris Kruger will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. from her late home, 302 South Thirty-first street, Rev. O. D. Beltz officiating. Mrs. Kruger was a pioneer Omahan. She came here in 1883 with her husband, Henry F. Kruger, who died five years ago. She was 72 years of age and was born in Johannsdorf, Germany.

She leaves eight children, as follows: John Kruger of St. Anthony, Idaho; Mrs. Gus Kense, H. H. Kruger, Misses Elizabeth, Bertha and Christina Kruger, all of Omaha; William Kruger of Fort Calhoun and Mrs. Thomas Walker of Florence. Mrs. J. Thompson, her oldest daughter, died three years ago.

Burial will be in the Masonic section, Forest Lawn cemetery.

VISITING IOWA EDITORS INSPECT SMELTING PLANT

Thirty editors from western Iowa, members of the Western Iowa Editorial association, are visiting in Omaha, guests of the Commercial club and the bureau of publicity.

They were shown through the big smelter, which was the plant they selected since there was but time to visit one or two points of interest in Omaha during the morning. They had intended to go to see Omaha's municipal water plant at Florence during the morning, but when the matter was put to a vote of the crowd they decided upon the smelter instead.

They were in tow of E. V. Parrish of the bureau of publicity, J. L. Goodwin of the Western Newspaper Union and Manager McDonald of the American Press association.

RETAILERS INTERESTED IN GOOD ROADS BONDS

Retail merchants in Omaha are greatly interested in the proposed $1,700,000 bond issue for good road construction in the county. They realize that nearly $2,000,000 worth of hard paved trunks leading into the metropolis would mean to business generally.

They are to discuss the proposed bond issue at the regular monthly meeting of the Associated Retailers at the Commercial club rooms next Thursday noon, March 9. Clarke G. Powell, who has made a comprehensive study of the road situation and what the proposed bond issue could accomplish, is to address them.

COLONEL M'INDOE STOPS FOR SHORT VISIT WITH FRIEND

Lieutenant Colonel McIndoe of the army was in Omaha a short time yesterday, calling on his old friend and college classmate, Rev. J. A. Maxwell, pastor of Calvary Baptist church.

The colonel was on his way to Kansas City, coming from Valentine, Neb., where he had been to look over some government work done on a dam there. He is now on detached duty, having been assigned to look after the river improvement work that is to be done on the Missouri during this year.

DANCING LEADER GOES TO PALM BEACH FOR SEASON

There was weeping and wailing among society girls and devotees of the dance when they learned that Carl Tiffany, dance professional at the Fontenelle, had left for other parts. The debonaire master of the dance who led their steps in the newest wrinkles of the terepichore for the last few months, has gone to Palm Beach, so it is announced at the hotel.

Since dancing will be less popular during approaching Lent, no one will replace Mr. Tiffany for some time, according to Abraham Burbank, manager of the hotel.

FOR RPESIDENT NEBRASKA'S NATIVE SON

HENRY D. ESTABROOK

Henry D. Estabrook made a great hit in Minneapolis as an after-dinner speaker. Of the audience of four hundred who listened to him few knew him even by reputation. "The mystery of Henry D. Estabrook grows," says Charles B. Cheney, who writes "Minnesota Politics" for the Minneapolis Journal. He wonders how this unknown man of the west, coming out of the east, has the nerve to answer before he is called. He started the mighty Minnesota men at the banquet. They stamped their feet as they have to do to keep warm in the winter time; they clapped their hands and shouted, stirred by an unexpected eloquence. And less than a month ago a southern Minnesota newspaper had the effrontery to inquire, "Whothehell is Estabrook?" We are proud of the fact that he is a native of Nebraska, carrying with him the atmosphere, the energy, the eloquence of Omaha. Our old state is rather slow to catch on, but not dull of appreciation when you burrow under the crust of snow, and get down to where the people live.

Who shouldered off that crust of snow. And made the old Twin Cities glow. When it was ten degrees below?

Estabrook. Who with sheer eloquence and wit, With words appropriate and fit, Went in to win and made a hit?

Estabrook. Tell me what fair Nebraskan's name Stands highest on the scroll of fame? I'm proud to say it, all the same—

Estabrook.
