CAMP FIRE GIRLS HAVE A LUNCHEON

Table Decorations Are Most Unique with Lake and Canoes and Tepees.

NATIONAL SECRETARY IS HERE

By MELLIFICIA—April 7.

The guardians of the different camps of the Camp Fire Girls in the city met this afternoon after their council at a luncheon table that one might say was most picturesquely decorated. There were lakes with canoes and Indian figures at the pedicels, stretches of shore and woodland with tepees, and all sorts of Indian scenes and life in miniature. Even the place cards were different, looking to perfection as if they were little burned edged bits of birch bark that just happened to be blown along the table, one to each cover.

The affair was given at the Young Women's Christian association and was to honor the visit of Miss Edith M. Kemphorne to Omaha. Miss Kemphorne gave a talk after the luncheon which was listened to with rapt attention, for the national secretary of the Camp Fire Girls is a young woman who can tell experiences quite out of the ordinary, living as she has in Alaska and places out of the path of the average traveler. Among the guests at the luncheon were:

Misses— E. M. Kemphorne, New York, Ruth Pelt, Council Bluffs, Helen Ryan, Nelle Ryan, Emma Ellsworth, Bertha Vaughan, Helen Garvin, Misses— Leta Holdrege, Riva Randa, Nobara, Helen Lawrence, Glen Hooper, Oliver Brain, Pleasant Stallard, Helen Garvin, Misses— Yvonne Sage, Gladys Crook, Martha Clark, Catherine Torres, Alice Carr, Lorena Traves, Gladys Ross, Margaret Gortale, Misses— Ruth Knapp, Ruthine Douglas, Janetta Harsh, Mercede Strand, Frances Walgreen, Kibel McCullough, Louise Craighead, Roberta Coulter, Hylla Hoyer, Helen Hester, Ardie Carlin, Jan Wallace, Ruth Watson, Irene Dukes, Madeline Metz, Winifred Dolan, Katie Jolan, Wanda Travis, Misses— Lawrence Peacock, Raymond Sage, Harry Mole, Robert Clark, Morris Ogle, Will Robinson, Will Roberts, Waldemar Thomson, Guy Williams, Porter Egan, Truman Redfield, Vincent Shook, Leonard Weirich, J. E. Latsch, Paul Hingate, Walter Prengel, Douglas Ibsa, Misses— Ilex Wood, Raymond Sage, Catherine Landon, Ben Paulina, Charles Moriarty, Edward Ahnstrom, Erwald Loveloy, George Carter, Iris Horton, Harold Nelson, Floyd Fagnier, Lester Hansen, Nancy Steinhilb, Reed Zimmerman, Harvey Shookoff, Howard Robinson, Jack Lorimer.

Women Have Military Training Camp at the National Capital

TOP—MRS. GENEVIEVE CLARK COCK OF OMAHA, BOTTOM—MISS MARY WILSON.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—If the time ever comes when the women of America are called upon to follow the example of Mollie Pitcher, heroine of the Revolution, they will be ready in order to make sure of that, they are preparing to open a military instruction camp at Washington, D. C., May 1. There women and girls will be instructed in tactics, cipher communication, sea-walking, wireless telegraphy, scientific cookery, first aid to the injured and other subjects of use in war time.

Women and girls prominent in society, in army and navy life, and in both state and national political circles, will attend the school.

Among those prominent in the project are: Miss Ruth Hitchcock, daughter of Senator G. M. Hitchcock of Nebraska; Mrs. James M. Thompson, daughter of Speaker Champ Clark; Miss Callie Hoke Smith, daughter of Senator Hoke Smith, and Miss Mary Wilson, a great-granddaughter of President Andrew Jackson.

The women will wear a uniform of blue flannel blouse, khaki skirt, brown boots and the cavalry type hat of brown felt. They will live in tents, each of which will contain five cots, five dressing tables and five small mirrors. The camp will be guarded at night by picked men from the Washington police force.

The camp of the National Service school, as it is called, will be in a ten-acre field given for the purpose by Senator Francis Newlands of Nevada. The field is near the fashionable Columbia and Chevy Chase clubs.

TO SELL FLAGS TO HELP THE BELGIANS

Saturday and Sunday to Be Belgian Flag Days for 'Daughters' All Over Country.

SEVEN CENTS SUPPORTS ONE TWO HUNDRED IN THE CONTEST

Today and Sunday are Belgian Saturday and Sunday are Belgian "Flag Days." All over the country daughters of the American Revolution will sell Belgian flags for 7 cents, the cost of food for one destitute person in Belgium for one day. Saturday is King Albert's birthday and the appeal to observe this day for Belgian relief emanates from the Board of General of the Daughters. Mrs. William Cummings, story of New York, special prayers will be offered in churches on Sunday.

The food and clothing for the 9,000,000 civil population in occupied Belgium and northern France are furnished through the C. R. B. (The Commission for Relief in Belgium). Three million of these people are entirely or partly dependent upon charity. The need of help will continue until the war is over. There is no other channel by which help can be sent to these stricken people and except for the C. R. B. they must perish.

The amount received is to be used for both food and clothing. It is part of the appeal.

"Please point out to all persons accepting flags that Belgium is not asking for our own help for preparedness," is a small note appended to Mrs. Cummings' directions to Daughters.

Members of the two local chapters, the Omaha and Mayor Isaac Sneider chapters, headed by Mrs. F. R. Straight and Mrs. William Archibald Smith, have spent the week selling these flags. Eugene Van Vorst, a representative of the Belgian Relief commission, has been in the city assisting in the work.

STEWART WHITE WINNER OF PRIZE

Is Awarded Prize for Best List of Reasons Why Omahans Should Join Commercial Club.

Over 200 Persons Had Entered the Contest. This Made a Total of over 1,400 Reasons for the Committee to Consider.

J. Stewart White of the Cady Lumber company was awarded the $25 prize offered by the Commercial club for the best list of seven reasons why men should belong to the Commercial club of Omaha.

Over 200 persons had entered the contest. This made a total of over 1,400 reasons for the committee to consider. After repeated meetings, extending over a period of some weeks, the committee finally decided the contest at noon.

The prize is awarded to the man who has more of his reasons accepted than any other contestant. This does not mean that all of his seven reasons were accepted.

Honorable mention is given by the judges to R. H. Wallace, Miss L. Bellman, Dr. R. E. Marble, Stanley M. Rosewater, P. M. Rileau, Miss Ione C. Duffy, Victor White, G. W. Noble, F. E. Molten and E. A. Chaberskin.

The following are the seven reasons accepted by the committee of judges:

"Because there is no other organization that centers all its energies into the upbuilding of the individual and collective business interests of Omaha.

"Because the Commercial club establishes and develops new markets and locates new industries in Omaha.

"Establishes New Markets.

"Because the Commercial club intelligently directs the united influence of its members; it brings clearly to the people's representatives in national, state and local offices the opinions of Omaha's business men; it watches closely any contemplated legislation likely to affect Omaha's interests. The stronger the club, the more potent its voice will be.

"Because it helps protect Omaha against unjust discrimination and unfair competition; its traffic bureau secures relief from rates prejudicial to your interests and in favor of your competitor in other cities.

"Develop Civic Pride.

"Because your acquaintance with progressive business men is a decided asset; your contact with men of an energetic, ambitious and shrewd as you are will broaden your viewpoint and your co-operation with these men for Omaha's advancement will develop yourself and your civic pride.

"Because the Commercial club advances Omaha's advantages, growth and prosperity to the world through its members and its publicity bureau.

"Because of the club privileges to its members; its handsome and commodious quarters; its restaurant where the families and guests of members may be entertained; its public affairs luncheons, where prominent men of affairs speak; its membership cards admit to every important Commercial club in the United States."

TRAVELS THROUGH IOWA WITHOUT SEEING ONE CAR

To tour 10 miles through the wealthiest section of Iowa, a state famous for its large number of motor cars, without meeting a single automobile was the strange experience, or, at least, what he considered one, of L. Heming of Pipestone, Minn., who passed through Omaha en route to Kansas City.

Mr. Heming said that in his years of automobile touring he had never covered such a long stretch of highway in this section of the country without meeting at least a few cars—and this, he remarked, in Iowa, with its reputation of a motor car for every dozen or so people. The Pipestone tourist reported the roads to be in excellent condition.

GOES TO KANSAS CITY TO FUNERAL OF LYLE GRIFFIN

E. C. Griffin, general agent for the Northwestern at Portland, Ore., for a long time assistant general freight agent here, accompanied by Mrs. Griffin, was in the city Thursday night en route to Kansas City, going there to attend the funeral of his brother, Lyle Griffin. The body will be taken to Batavia, Ill., the old home, for burial. N. F. Kenney, W. H. Rowland and Fred Fogel, all of the Des Moines line and all old friends of the deceased, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Griffin to Kansas City.

Chicago Singers Charter a Special Train to Omaha

The lineup of the first of the singers who are coming to the Swedish Union Singers' association, to be held in Omaha June 19-21, has been announced. The Chicago Singing society, 150 members, has arranged with the Milwaukee for a special train that will reach Omaha June 18. The association meeting is expected to bring from 1,200 to 1,500 singers to Omaha for the three days' meet. The place of meeting has not been decided upon, but it is likely that the concert will be held in the Auditorium. Chorus singing will be the rule, though there will be a large number of soloists and several quartets. The singers come from the area between the lakes and the Rocky mountains.

Sartorial Scream Enlists in Navy

Earl W. Frazer of Farmington, Minn., enlisted in the navy at a hospital apprentice at the local recruiting station. Earl is the most immaculate youth, the most striking exponent of the sartorial miracle of the late Beau Brummel who ever enlisted at this station.

He looked like one of these fifty chaps you see in the clothing ads. His perfectly fitting blue suit, his pink shirt with French cuffs and "class" in his silk handkerchief peeping from his breast pocket, his latest style flat worn at a jaunty angle, all bespoke dressy taste. He had one of these white silk ribbons around his neck. Most men don't even know what they're for, but he looked right on Earl! With his fine complexion, big blue eyes and gentle smile, Earl seemed every fitted to be a movie hero than a stern man of the sea.

Cupid Stubendorf Relates Few Laughs

Funny occurrences take place every once in a while in the office of the marriage license clerk at the court house.

"I get at least one laugh a day," asserts "Cupid" Stubendorf.

"The other day a big fat woman of about 50 years came in, leading a short, slim kid of about 21. I thought he was her grandchild, or something.

"Gimme me a marriage license," she says to me.

"For yourself or your son?" I says.

"You darn fool!" she snaps, and picking up her man by the arm, she rushes away. As she gets to the door she turns around and gives me a dirty look. "You're entirely too fresh, young man. If you don't appreciate my patronage I'll just go somewhere else where they do!"

"Last week a woman of about 58 came in with a youth and got a marriage license.

A couple of young lawyers were standing around, idly wondering who to sue next, when the woman suddenly yelled out:

"Just write our ages down as 'over 21' please. I don't want them smart-aleck prattlers to put it in the paper that I'm taking a chicken home to raise."

Marriage license records show that in the last six months more old women are marrying young men than ever before.

"War brides, maybe," hazards "Cupid."

Republicans Hold Rally at Florence

The republicans of Florence held a big reputation rally at the Eagles hall Thursday night under the auspices of the Abraham Lincoln Republican club. Over 200 were in attendance and listened to the principles of republicanism as expounded by ex-Governor Aldrich, N. H. Looney, Charles F. McDrew, H. V. Knowlsey, Benjamin Baker and other candidates for nomination at the primaries. R. Beecher Howell came near causing a conflagration when he touched a match to the local question of the electric light bonds to be voted upon April 18. Several in the audience wanted to debate the question with him, but R. L. Platts, the chairman of the meeting, refused to allow any discussion at this meeting. The Eagles military band furnished the music for the occasion.

MR. AND MRS. C. N. DIETZ ARE BACK FROM FLORIDA

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Dietz have returned from a two months' absence at Miami and other Florida points. The great popularity of Florida's wintering places is attested by Mrs. Dietz's comment, by the fact that they met a large number of persons from the north who have visited Florida regularly for several years at the same time they were there.
