OLD SOUTH HIGH LONG CRUMBLING

Former Principal Graham Remembers Bricks Falling Years Back.

OFTEN PUT THROUGH INSPECTION

"It has been discovered," so says the unconcerned observer, "that the Central school (meaning that of the South Side) is again unfit for safe occupation by school children or other tenants! Another annual inspection has been made, this time by R. F. Williams, member of the board, who has found in his search for the proper facts that the building should be condemned.

Fifteen years ago when the building had only recently been removed from its high base on top of a thirty foot hill, several bricks are remembered to have fallen from the roof and sides of the structure and its base was far from secure. Present Assistant Superintendent of Schools N. M. Graham, who was at that time principal of the South Side High school which name the school house went by, remembered one of these instances last evening. Five years ago following a protest by citizens as to the danger of the building, a company of building inspectors from both South Side and Omaha held an inspection and although finding it outwardly rather shaky predicted that it might still have a few years to stand.

Even as late as last week when a small fire broke out in the basement the building still stood. Residents of that district who had children attending the institution again made a protest fearing for the safety of their offspring and again the Board of Education ordered an inspection. Mr. Williams investigated and returned the same ancient report, although he advised that it be condemned.

"It might stand five years and it might crumple tomorrow. You can't tell," he said last evening.

So people have been waiting for the old building to fall. Years have passed and still it stands as one of the oldest landmarks in South Side. It was the first high school and main school building of that city and was one of the first bricks to be erected in the South Side's earlier days.

The Board of Education did not hold a special session to accept the report of the committee according to Mr. Williams last evening.

DENIES RAMY WILL BE ORDERED HOME

Says There is Nothing to Reports Expeditionary Forces to Be Recalled from Mexico.

ORDERS TO FUNSTON STAND

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Categorical denial by Secretary Lansing late today was the official answer to persistent reports that the American troops might be withdrawn from Mexico shortly, regardless of developments in the hunt for Villa. Both Mr. Lansing and Secretary Baker of the War department indicated that there was no present indication of changing the original orders given General Funston.

Official comment was refused regarding statements credited to Consul Garcia of the de facto government at El Paso that the punitive expedition had accomplished its ends in dispersing the outlaws and that he would be glad to see it withdrawn. The matter was given scant consideration by high officials, who apparently deemed it an unauthorized expression by the consul.

Supplies Are Shipped.

News from the border that a trainload of supplies, shipped by private firms, had left Juarez today for Casa Grandes and Pearson, where they will be available to General Pershing, caused satisfaction here. Although the army authorities were not the actual shippers, it was believed the practical result would be the same.

Even without further action by or concessions from Carranza, such use of the railways, some officials think, may meet the needs of the United States without causing embarrassment to the de facto government.

Secretary Baker indicated today that, in the present status of the Mexican campaign, the motor truck lines from Columbus are to be the principal artery for supplies, with whatever use may be gained from the railways as merely supplementary. State department dispatches during the day from Special Agent John L. Rodgers at Queretaro told of continuance of
