A N NOUNCEMENTS of annual meetings to be held this week brings to mind that the woman's club season is on the wane. The Omaha Woman's club, largest of them all, holds its final meeting Monday and at the same time celebrates its twenty-third birthday. What might have been a gala affair has been abandoned in deference to the memory of the late president, Mrs. N. H. Nelson, but club members will observe the day by making voluntary contributions to the state scholarship fund. A tree in memory of Mrs. Nelson will be planted on the site of the new Train school.

The Clio club, a group of women who come together fortnightly for study purposes, also celebrate its seventeenth birthday on Thursday, with a birthday luncheon at the home of Mrs. W. H. Anderson. Mrs. O. A. Scott, one of the earliest members, is president of the club.

Aside from the annual meeting of the Woman's club, the Omaha Society of Fine Arts also holds its final meeting of the year Thursday at the home of the retiring president, Mrs. Charles T. Kountze. The business meeting will be followed by a tea, which adds social importance to the event as well.

Closing meetings of the art and philosophy and ethics departments of the Woman's club will be held as well, the first named on Thursday, with Mrs. Robert Cowell, and the second on Saturday, with Mrs. T. R. Ward. Both will be in the nature of social meetings.

In Drama league circles the national convention, which opens in St. Louis on Wednesday, is of paramount interest. Miss Kate McHugh, president of the local center, leaves Tuesday evening for St. Louis to represent the Omaha league. Miss McHugh is very eager that some of the local members be in New York next month when Percy Mackaye's masque, "Caliban on the Yellow Sands," is produced for the Shakespearean tercentenary celebration. The idea is to bring the masque to Omaha in the fall.

Cards for the dinner to be given by the newly organized Society of Nebraska Daughters in New York in the Laurel room of the Hotel Astor have been received by Omaha clubwomen. The affair is arranged in honor of the Nebraska delegation to the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's clubs and will be Saturday evening, May 27. Mrs. E. C. Arnold, the president, writes that the program for the affair will soon be announced.

One of the promises of the after Lenten season is that dancing will be taken up with all the zest of the last two years. The Subscription club, which has kept Lent in the letter and spirit, will give a ball Wednesday evening in the Fontenelle ballroom, with a midnight supper. The affair, which is under the charge of Mrs. Arthur Remington, is being conducted strictly on a v. s. v. principle, for Mrs. Remington must know by Tuesday all who are coming that the reservations may be secured for the supper.

L ENT is ended—all who have kept it are glad they did so—those who did not now rather wish they had. But, whatever have been the faults of commission or omission, Easter is here and heartily welcomed.

Brownell Hall girls from near and far, old girl grads, new grads, those who attended but never graduated, and those who are attending and expect to graduate, and present and former faculty members—all will be present at the reunion of Brownell Hall girls which will take the form of a luncheon at the Hotel Fontenelle Thursday.

Most interesting to note is the loyalty displayed to their alma mater by old graduates who have sent their daughters in turn to Brownell Hall, and the prospect of a third generation soon to attend the Episcopal school, which was founded in 1883.

Not only Miss Marion Towle, president of the Brownell Hall Alumnae association, but also her mother, Mrs. John W. Towle, are graduates of this school, as is another daughter, Miss Naomi Towle. Mrs. George Cassels Smith, herself a graduate, has one graduate daughter, Margery, and two others, Winifred and Esther, who are now attending the school. Mrs. R. S. Hall and her daughters, Dorothy and Janet, all received their schooling here, and the mothers of three members of this year's class are old Brownell Hall girls. They are Mrs. Heyward G. Leavitt and her daughter Martha, Mrs. Anna Roberts and her daughter Frances and Mrs. H. A. Sanders of Papillion, whose daughter finishes this year.

Mrs. S. D. Barkalow and her daughter Carolyn, Mrs. B. P. Peck and her daughter, Mrs. Denise Barkalow; Mrs. F. H. Davis and three daughters, Mrs. Walter Roberts and the Misses Elizabeth and Menie Davis, and Mrs. T. L. Ringwalt and her daughters, Mrs. Thomas J. Hayes and Misses Dorothy and Betty, are other groups of mothers and daughters who have attended the same school.
