

BENSON WOMAN IS BURNED TO DEATH

Mrs. I. N. Jones Builds Fire In Chicken Brooder House and Burns Herself to Death.

AFTER ATTACK OF DEMENTIA

Mrs. I. N. Jones, 67 years of age, residing on a five-acre tract at Fifty-ninth and Fowler avenue, died at yesterday, following an attack of dementia, during which she burned herself in a chicken brooder house. While her husband was plowing in a field she gathered up some straw and went into the brooder house, where she started a fire. Neighbors rushed to the woman's rescue and summoned the husband. Dr. J. F. Heumann of Benson and a nurse were called, but the burns were too severe to save the victim's life.

Mrs. Jones is survived by four children: A. R. Jones of Florence, Dr. B. J. Jones of Monroe, Mich.; Mrs. J. L. Brownlee of Oursay, Colo.; and Mrs. Frank Alexander of Whitewood, S. D.

Girls of the domestic science class will conduct a sale of home-made candies. A small admission charge will be made.

James Bates Case, Involving Estate of $50,000, Postponed

Settlement of the James Bates $50,000 estate, which Attorney General Willis E. Reed asserts should escheat to the state, has been postponed until Monday because of the inability of Judge Bryce Crawford to dispose of more pressing matters.

Bates died, leaving his fortune to Hans Anderson, the guardian appointed by court. He had no relatives nor dependents. Reed declares Bates was not competent to make a will and, therefore, he says, Anderson has no claim on the money and it should be turned over to the school fund.

Hot Water for Sick Headaches

Tells why everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it before breakfast.

Headache of any kind, is caused by auto-intoxication—poisoning of the system by liver and bowel poisons called toxins, sucked into the blood, through the lymph ducts, excite the heart, which pumps the blood so fast that it congests in the smaller arteries and veins of the head, producing violent throbbing pain and distress, called headaches. You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish and miserable, your meals sour and all most nauseous you. Then you resort to acetaminophen, aspirin or the morphia which temporarily relieve, but do not rid the blood of these irritating toxins. A glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of phosphate in it, drunk before breakfast for awhile, will not only wash these poisons from your system and cure you of headache but will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary canal. Ask your pharmacist for a quarter pound of phosphate. It is inexpensive, harmless as sugar and at most tasteless, except for a certain taste which is not unpleasant. If you aren't feeling your best, if tonight is quiet or you wake up with bad taste, bad breath or have colds, indigestion, biliousness, constipation, or sour acid stomach, begin the phosphate hot water—see to it that your system of eating and poisons.

BLACKHEADS GO QUICK BY THIS SIMPLE METHOD

Blackheads are one of the most annoying and persistent of all skin troubles. They are caused by the accumulation of dirt and oil in the pores of the skin. They are most common on the nose and chin. They are not only unsightly but they also give the skin a rough and uneven appearance. There is a simple and effective method for their removal. It is to use a special preparation which will dissolve the dirt and oil in the pores and bring them to the surface. This preparation is called "Blackhead Remover" and it is sold in every drug store. It is a simple and effective method for the removal of blackheads.

ROTARY WELCOMES NEWEST CITIZENS

Dinner in Honor of Naturalized Americans Given at Henshaw Hotel.

WOODROUGH MAKES BIG TALK

The widespread idea that the native American looks with patronage and ill-concealed tolerance on the naturalized citizen was corrected last evening when the Omaha Rotary club gave a dinner in honor of naturalized-citizens of Omaha. The Rotarians, in true Rotarian spirit, acted the part of big brothers to the men from across the seas. Amid the polish of mahogany and silver and cut glass and fine linen they sat together and partook of good viands and sang patriotic songs and had speeches made to them. It was an Irishman, if the records of history be correct, who remarked that "one man's just as good as another, begorra, an' a darn sight better." The Rotarians exemplified the spirit which the Irishman or it may have been a Prussian, a Frenchman or a Russian—meant to express, the brotherhood of man.

Lafayette in Cabaret
The first part of the evening was devoted to eating and the singing of popular songs from the official book. Abstracter Frank Norton and "Grain Exchange" Adams were so carried away by their feelings that they passed among the tables with violent contortions and local eruptions in a correct imitation of cabaret singers, winning great applause.

With the coffee and cigars the big automobile horn at the speakers' table honked, and Dr. E. C. Henry, toastmaster, rose and delivered a welcome to the new citizens. He pointed out the great heritage which they have in common with the native born, a heritage of liberty and opportunity found in no other country; and he assured them that they are welcome to this land and to Omaha and that their native-born fellow citizens are proud of them and interested in their success.

Greatest of All Titles.
Response was made by Eugene J. Gardos, a native of Hungary and now an American citizen, who declared earnestly that the title "American citizen" is the greatest that a man can aspire to. The United States oath of allegiance was read by Harry O. Palmer. District Judge W. G. Sears made some observations upon naturalization. The principal address was delivered by Joseph W. Woodrough, newly appointed federal judge for the district of Nebraska.

"America has been well called the melting pot of the nations," he said in the course of a short but earnest and why talk. "Here different races, varying ideals, ambitions, strivings are brought together, and out of them are made the American people. The melting-pot is a cruel sometimes, its heat is tremendous. But out of it comes a finer product than can be secured any other way. The clay that has gone through the fire of the kiln and become vitrified will withstand almost any amount of wear. The clay only half-baked is good for nothing. It is so with human character."

All of One Family.
"There are many people who come here from foreign lands and they live into themselves. They never work through themselves with their fellows. This dinner of the Rotary club is doing a great work in showing the foreign-born citizens of Omaha that they are our brothers and that we are all one family."

The Greek oath of allegiance was repeated by all the diners at the close of the program, and then there was a period of hand-shaking. Several telegrams and letters were read from absent Rotarians. Also a letter from "Pa" Rourke expressing his thanks to the club for bringing 1,000 school children out to the opening game of the Omaha base ball club. This move, he said, has probably won for Omaha the cup offered by Governor Capper of Kansas City to the city in the Western league having the largest attendance at the opening base ball game.

"Pa" Comes Right Back.
And "Pa" did the thing up right by inviting the Rotarians, their wives and sweethearts (that is to say, their wives or sweethearts, as the case may be) to be the guests of the Omaha base ball club any week day. The committee in charge of the dinner was composed of Dr. E. C. Henry, J. R. Hyland, C. H. English and Harley G. Moorhead.
