GILLIGAN HANDS ROURKES DEFEAT

Spavened Twirler Allows but Five Hits and Booster Sluggers Hammer Home 3 to 2 Victory.

TRIPLE BY JONES TURNS TRICK

Inability to connect with the teasing slants of the spastned Mr. Gilligan resulted in the ignominious downfall of the Rourkists yesterday, with the result that Omaha lost a ball game, 3 to , and some 400 to 500 lady bugs and an equal number of the violent sex went into mourning.

Mack Allison was the victim yesterday. The rude boosters gave him a rap in the teeth in the eighth frame of the affair and he expired a beaten man.

Jones Cracks Triple.

With a man out in the fatal eighth, Bill Hunter cracked a double to right and old Texas Jones, who evidently had an idea he was on the Mexican border, got belligerent and smacked a triple through Cy Forsythe's hoofs, counting Rochester Bill. Fitz Meloan lifted a sacrifice fly to Krug, and Jones lumbered over the rubber. Sad music from the lady bugs.

The other Des Moines run was garnered in the third on a hit by Ewoldt, Miller's miscue, Gilligan's infield out and Hahn's fielder's choice to Kilduff, whose throw to the plate failed to nip Ewoldt.

Omaha also chalked up a tally in the third. Hunter dropped Burg's fly and Smith sacrificed. Forsythe's single to left counted Burg.

Rally Falls Short.

The Rourkovinians kicked large feverish bruises on the heels of victory in the final frame, but couldn't quite overtake it. After Eckman called Marshall out on strikes, much to that youth's disgust, Priest sloughed a double down the first base line and counted on Oklahoma Pete Kilduff's single over second. Ernie Krueger was derricked from the confines of the dugout to bat for Allison, but Ernie fluked in the pinch and rolled a puny grounder to Ewoldt. Burg rolled one to the same gent, who can always make errors except when you want him to, and the fans slowly trailed for home.

The fray was staged in the rapid time of one hour and thirty minutes. It was a lackadaisical sort of a pastime, however, without any of the thrills the spectators clamor for.

The final game of the series between Omaha and Des Moines will be played today. The game will start at 3:15. Score:

Cubs Are Ordered to Cut Players' List to Twenty-One Men

CHICAGO, May 1.—A telegram received by President Charles Weeghman of the Chicago National Base Ball team from President Tener of the National league, informing the Chicago club that it will have to reduce its list of players to the regular number of players, twenty-one men, caused considerable comment among followers of the team.

The Chicago club is now carrying twenty-six men, including Manager Joseph Tinker. The player-limit rule, if enforced, will require that at least four men be released at once, as the rule takes effect May 1. President Weeghman, it was said, was told at the time of the signing of the peace agreement between the Federal league and Organized Base Ball that he would not have to observe the rule when he combined the Cubs and the Whales.

It is said that the Cubs will suffer severely if the rule is enforced. Tinker has nine pitchers on his list, so if a cut has to be made, it is considered probable that part of the cut, at least, will come in the twirling staff.

CINCINNATI, O., May 1.—The Chicago National league club must name twenty-one players eligible to take part in National league contests, and only these men can play, but the club is allowed until next season to dispose of other players whom they may retain, but who are not eligible to play in the National league.

This is the construction placed by Chairman August Herrmann of the National commission on the agreement entered into with the Chicago Cubs at the peace agreement here last winter.
