out of the business of passing on disputed questions, golfers elsewhere, especially in the United States, have the right to expect that some arrangement will be made by which the attitude of some controlling body shall be made known in relation to current changes in

Outside the British Isles, the most powerful body in the world is the United States Golf association. Moreover, this untry, up to date, is the only great nation remaining out of the war, and consequently the governing body here i the only one that is free from the perturbations of the war and able to discuss golf matters properly.

Hence, if anything is to be done in the way of giving out authoritative utterances on disputed points, the task might well be confided to the United States Golf association. There is no foreseeing the end of the war. It may end soon, or it

While the officials of the national association have not as yet sanctioned any Unless something unforeseen occurs it a likely that the eastern team will move toward California by way of the clay court championship tournament of the United States, which begins at Clevethe courts at Del Monte. The result is a fair reason for assuming that the com petitors will be most admirably tuned for the intersectional clash in San Francisco about the end of the first week of July. From that point the schedule for the Californians closely follows the program of last season. The influences of Palmer Pug to Come West for Bout with E.
