FORMER OMAHA GIRL IS TO WED IN JUNE

Cards Received Announcing Wedding Plans for Miss Margaret McPherson.

IS TO LIVE AT GARDEN CITY

By MELLIPICIA—May 16.

Cards reached Omaha Monday morning from Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Buchanan McPherson for the wedding of their daughter, Margaret, to Mr. Clement Edward Gardiner, jr., at 12 o'clock Saturday, June 3, at Auburn, Thurmont, Maryland.

It was at first planned that Miss Gretchen McConnell and Miss Helen Scobie were to be the bridesmaids, but the Omaha girls, finding it impossible to leave at this time, the arrangements were changed. The matron of honor will be Mrs. Will McPherson, formerly Miss Helen Forbes of Omaha, with Miss Helen Gardiner of Garden City, Long Island, sister of the bridegroom, maid of honor. One of the two bridesmaids will be Miss Dorothy Childs, a schoolmate of the bride at St. Mary's school at Garden City.

The wedding ceremony and festivities will be in the ancestral home of the McPherson family at Thurmont and a typical southern bridal affair with a house full of guests and all the kith, kin and friends there.

Miss Margaret McPherson, who was a pupil of Miss Mary Munchhoff, was one of the most popular members in the younger musical and social sets. She has a voice of exceptional quality and was much in demand at recitals, accompanied by her friend, Miss Gretchen McConnell.

After her marriage this former Omaha girl will make her home at Garden City, Long Island.

SLEEPLESS NIGHT AT HILLCROFT FARM

Young Guests Have Pillow Fights, While Chaperons Play Bridge and Walk Floor.

ALL ON ACCOUNT OF THE RAIN

Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Philbin gave a dancing party at their country home, Hillcroft Farm, near Fort Calhoun, Saturday evening. It was to be a dancing party and eleven cars were ready to take the young guests and their chaperons back to their homes later in the evening.

Sixty guests of the school set were present, with Mrs. Frank H. Myers, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Murphy, Miss Nan Murphy, Miss Helen Murphy, Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. E. O. Hamilton and Mrs. F. B. Aldous as chaperons, not to speak of several home guests of the Philbins. Then came the rain—a deluge—and the hostess was confronted with the problem of "putting-up" nearly 100 guests in five bedrooms.

The young people danced until after 3 o'clock in the morning, when the girls were sent upstairs to bed. The boys set about with sofa pillows and rugs to make themselves comfortable on the floors. The chaperons decided to spend the night, or rather the early morning, playing bridge on the stairs. Mr. Philbin and Mr. Murphy drew straws to see who might have the first sleep upon a couch downstairs. Mr. Murphy won and was to sleep until 3:30 o'clock, when Mr. Philbin's turn would come.

Musicians Only Sleepers.
About 4 o'clock Mrs. Philbin stepped softly to the couch to cover up her husband, who seemed sleeping most audibly, but with the covers on the floor. She lifted up the quilt gently to lay it over the sleeper, but it seemed very hard to determine where his feet at both ends. She switched on the light and found the two colored musicians, who had played for the dancers, sleeping like logs; they were on the couch to stay. Mr. Murphy and the host walked the veranda until breakfast.

Meanwhile the boys inside kept up their pillow fights, with all the howling, yelling and shrieking that accompany such tournaments. But the colored fiddlers slept on. They were the sole sleepers at Hillcroft Farm.

MRS. JOSLYN WANTS FARM FOR HORSES

Advocates Place Where Animals Which Are Worn Out May Go To Recuperate.

AGAINST BLINDERS AND CHECKS

Friends of poor, dumb animals are pressing the claims of the mistreated creatures this week, which is observed as Humane week all over the country. Mrs. George A. Joslyn, who is especially interested in the down and out, decrepit horses, advocates the establishment of a farm for worn-out horses.

"Poor people should be enabled to bring their horses here free of charge or for a small fee." Blinders which flap about until they succeed in blinding the horses and overcheck which draws the horse's head up so high he cannot see where he is stepping are other evils deprecated by Mrs. Joslyn.

"Old horses don't need those blinders. The overcheck, too, is obsolete. If people coming in from the country could only be brought to realize that they are no longer used in the city, I am sure they would give up the use of overchecks," said Mrs. Joslyn.

Women's Clubs Ask Men to Entertain Visiting Husbands

New York, May 16.—Husbands who accompany their wives to the General Federation of Women's Clubs beginning here next week will be turned over to the men's clubs of the city. The federation's committee on husbands announced this decision today after wrestling with one of the most perplexing problems of the convention. The only function on the program at which husbands will be expected next week is an excursion to the Edison Electrical plant. At other times the plan is to have them entertained by the men's clubs, which will extend hospitality.

What does he get?

IT is easy to exaggerate values.—Herbert SPENCER, greatest of English philosophers, had no university training.

Neither had FARADAY, perhaps the foremost name in 19th century science

(nor James WATT, nor FULTON, nor STEVENSON, nor EDISON, nor a long line of the most famous inventors.)

Neither did Quaker JOHN DALTON, founder of modern chemistry; nor the explorer SCHLIMMANN, who became the finest Greek scholar of his time.

Neither did LINCOLN. Yet his Gettysburg Address is now one of the classics of the English language.

Neither did Charles DICKENS, nor scores of other famous writers.

Nor Horace GREELEY, nor Joseph PULITZER, nor the elder BENNETT, nor many another distinguished editor; nor scarce one of our great business geniuses, like ROCKEFELLER, or CARNEGIE, or James J. HILL.

YET most of these men (and most great men) had minds which were veritable mines of information.

Herbert SPENCER was a kind of walking encyclopaedia in himself; and so are men like EDISON and James J. HILL. They typify in the highest degree the tremendous POWER of KNOWLEDGE. Now

1. They must have gained this knowledge somehow, somewhere.
2. The most compact, complete and authoritative treasure-house of human knowledge in the whole wide world is the Encyclopaedia Britannica.
3. In point of fact, most distinguished men—college graduates or not—are constant users of this incomparable work of reference (and so have been most of the foremost men of the English-speaking race, from Herbert SPENCER back to the days of FARADAY and Sir Walter SCOTT).

(And a very large number of them from Sir Walter SCOTT to the present day have been actual contributors to the Britannica, and helped to make it the famous work it is.)

KNOWLEDGE IS POWER—Wherever Obtained

Whether obtained from four years of university training at a cost of $4076—which was the average cost for this year's senior class at Yale—or from four years study of the Encyclopaedia Britannica at a cost of $64 to $100,—

KNOWLEDGE is the big factor in obtaining SUCCESS.

Courses in chemistry and physics and astronomy; in history and English literature; in French and other literatures; in psychology, mathematics and a dozen other things are given at a university. And every one of these courses may be obtained from the Encyclopaedia Britannica, and using no other text-book.

Two hours a day spent with the Encyclopaedia Britannica for four years would give a wider range of knowledge than most college graduates possess.

And if you are a college graduate already, there is no finer means of broadening and extending your education than through this vast treasure-house of learning.

Do you know how easily the Encyclopaedia Britannica is now to be had—that you can now obtain it, in a new, popular issue, complete and unabridged, at 1/3 the price of the expensive Cambridge University issue?

Now at 1/3 the Cost of the Larger Sized Cambridge University issue

But Not Much Longer

The remarkable bargain we are offering can last only a little while longer. The contracts for the "Handy Volume" issue were made before the war began.

The drastic increase in the cost of raw materials makes it impossible to renew them. Paper has advanced over 50 per cent.—leather more than 50 per cent.—binders' boards, 49 per cent., etc.
