

DEATH TAKES E. C. HUNT, OLD SCRIBE

Veteran of Newspaper Game Dies
After an Illness of Several Months.

HE CAME TO OMAHA IN 1887

After an illness of several months, Ernest C. Hunt, a veteran newspaper man of Omaha, died at his residence, 2208 Miami street, at 10:30 o'clock Thursday night. He was 52 years old.

Diabetes was the trouble that first began to undermine his vitality about eleven years ago. Some time ago he spent nearly a year in California, and finally came back apparently somewhat better.

About the middle of last April he suffered an attack of grippe, and since that time had been unable to attend to his work at the World-Herald.

Born in Blackstone, Mass. Ernest C. Hunt was born in Blackstone, Mass., July 1, 1864. He attended the public schools and later the local academy. After his graduation he did reportorial work on a newspaper in Blackstone. He came to Omaha in 1887.

Soon after arriving in Omaha he became connected with the editorial department of The Bee. For a time he had charge of The Bee's news bureau at Council Bluffs.

Later Mr. Hunt came to this side of the river and continued with The Bee, his entire employment covering a period of seven years. Following this, he quit the newspaper game for a time, for two years being engaged in the promotion business in the Black Hills. He was connected with the promotion department of the Transmississippi exposition, and when it closed he went to the editorial department of the World-Herald. He was connected with that newspaper at the time of his death.

Mr. Hunt is survived by his widow and a son, the latter being now in the United States navy, having enlisted several years ago. A sister resides in Omaha.

The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock from Forest Lawn chapel.

The large number of friends which Mr. Hunt had was shown by the many expressions of regret heard in the offices of the federal building, where he was very well known.

He had a sort of humorous brusqueness of manner which was distinctive of him and a pleasing part of his personality.

The pallbearers will be: H. C. Craven, Robert F. Glider, H. E. Newbranch, Keene Abbott, W. R. Watson, R. M. Jones.

Bowel Complaints in India. In a lecture at one of the Des Moines, Ia., churches a missionary from India told of going into the interior of India, where he was taken sick, that he had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with him and believed that it saved his life. This remedy is used successfully in India both as a preventive and cure for cholera. You may know from this that it can be depended upon for the milder forms of bowel complaint that occur in this country. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

Suit for V May Be Carried to U. S. Supreme Court

A disputed dentist's bill amounting to $5, which was appealed from justice court and is now being tried in district court, will be taken to the highest court in the United States, unless the jury finds for the defendant in the meanwhile.

Allan B. Schreiber, well-to-do hay and grain dealer, who is being sued for $5 by Dr. William L. Shearer, declared his intention while he was taking part in the trial before Judge Sears.

A year ago, with his wife, he called on Dr. Shearer to have one of Mrs. Schreiber's teeth pulled. The dentist said the job would cost $50. Shearer did not want to pay the amount, he says, so they went elsewhere. The bill for $5 for professional services was received a month later, and afterward suit was commenced before Justice Hascall, who found for the plaintiff. Schreiber appealed and said that if the jury now trying the case decided against him he would carry the case higher.
