FOR AN OMAHA GIRL

Miss Margaret McPherson Married at "Auburn," Country Home of Family.

IS TO LIVE ON LONG ISLAND

By MELLIFICIA-June 5.

There is something about a southern wedding in the ancestral home of the bride that gives a thrilling touch of romance that even the most stolid northerner cannot resist. Sentiment is especially moved when the heroine has been a local favorite, distinguishing herself in musical as well as social circles, as did Miss Margaret Mc-Pherson, who was married to Mr. Clement Edward Gardiner Saturday at Thurmont, Md.

The wedding was in keeping with traditions of the old southern line of this Omaha born and reared girl, marrying her in the manner in which her grand dames have been given in marriage back into colonial times. There was the same procession down the same staircase, through the hall and into the drawing room where the bride's ancestors had been hosts to the bearers of the greatest names in and net gown, overdraped with princess lace. The only ornament worn was the bridegroom's gift, a bar of emeralds and diamonds, and the bridal bouquet was a shower of lilies of the valley. The matron of honor, Mrs. William Smith McPherson, was gowned in cream colored net and green chiffon. The bridegroom's sister.
