WOODLAND MADE ALUMNI HEAD

of Nebraska University Association.

ABBOTT COMMENCEMENT ORATOR REFLECTS CREDIT TO LINCOLN

(From a Staff Correspondent.) Lincoln, June 6,-(Special Tele-gram.)-Frank H. Woodland of Omaha was elected the new president of the Alumni association of the University of Nebraska here this after-noon. Mr. Woodland was a member of the class of 1900.

Other officials elected were: Miss Frances Gere, Lincoln, vice president; Leonard Flansburg, Lincoln, treasurer; board of directors, Newton A. Buckley, North Platte; Miss Bess Smith, Seward; E. M. Pollard, Ne-hawka; R. M. Tibbets, Hastings;

Luncheon at Farm.

Alumni were entertained at the state farm today, preceded by an auto tour of the city. Class day stunts, a picnic luncheon at the farm and the annual meeting in the afternoon, with the pageant tonight completed the Chancellor Avery in his annual report called attention to the increased enrollment at the state university and the generally improved conditions. Salaries of professors have been raised so Nebraska is now able to hold its own against sister institutions, he said Ned Abbott of Nebraska City was the alumni orator.

Abbott's Address. That the college man's chances for success over those of the man who has not had the advantage of a college education are greater and are due largely to the former's ability to handle books and because of the in-spiration he has received in school, was the assertion of Mr. Abbott.

The greater chances of the college man for success in life, he averred were due, first, through learning to nandle books-to read-and second, by coming into close personal con-tact at an impressionable period in life with many men and women of high ideals—officers, professors and instructors in the university—and catching the glow of their personali-

Reciprocal Duty. "A reciprocal duty is laid upon us,"
r. Abbott continued, "of giving back to society in unstinted measure these greater powers-powers which are ours through enlarged opportunity."

Mr. Abbott culogized several of his former associates and instructors at the university, paying tribute to, among others, A. H. Edgren, Ellen Smith, DeWitt D. Brace, Charles E. Bessey and James H. Canfield.

Cadets Charge on Mess Tent as First

Valley, Neb., June 6 .- (Special.) The cadet regiment of the Central High school of Omaha arrived in Valley at 10:30 yesterday to start the dets put on a burst of speed in pitch-ing their tents and by 12 o'clock noon were set to make their first charge on the mess tent.

Company H, commanded by Cabtain Philip Thomas, got the jump on the other companies in the competition for clean company streets. Several foxy members of this company came to Valley last Saturday and carefully combed H street with rakes and a lawn mower. As a result, Cap-tain Thomas has a big advantage over his rivals for honors. Regimetnal parade was held yesterday afternoon at 4:30; Company G. commanded by Captain Colin Hodge, had the best line in the parade, with Company F, Captain Fred Walrath, second, and Company C. Captain John Tolliver, third. Company B, in charge of Captain Edward Ziffel, went ou guard fol-lowing guard mount and Company C

LINCOLN DEPICTS GLORIES OF OMAHA

Omaha Graduate Chosen President Splendid Tribute by the Second City to Metropolis When Lincoln Sings Omaha's Praises.

Imagine yourself, dear reader, seated in the grandstand of the State University Athletic field at Lincoln where several hundred Omahans and several thousand other people were seated yesterday afternoon and evening to see "The Gat City," a masque of the city of Omaha

The Omahans had gone down in special trains, regular trains and in automobiles. The Board of Governors of Ak-Sar-Ben and the executive committee of the Omaha Commercial club were in the afternoon audi Amos Thomas, Omaha; F. M. Hunter, ence yesterday. They had come down on the special and were entertained by the Lincoln Commercial club. Some of the Omaha city commissioners were there too. And other prom-

Tribute to Second City. They saw a very pretty compliment paid by the second city of Nebraska to the first city of Nebraska. For "The Gate City" not only presents the beauties of the ancient tribal customs of the Omaha Indians, but it sings the glories of the city of Omaha. Near the end of the presentation where Coronado in search of gold learns that the riches of the Kingdom of Quivera are but a myth, he vows that in that land some day:

"The Rainbow City of the Gate shall be

The golden town of Coronado's dream." As he finishes speaking a curtain steam is interposed for a moment and when it has stopped the forest at the rear of the stage has disappeared and there, framed in the rain-bow of hope is a view of the sky-scrapers of modern Omaha.

Compliment to Omaha. Besides being a pretty compliment to Omaha, this year's Pageant of Lincoln is a splendid production that reflects great credit upon the Lincoln Commercial club and the University of Nebraska under whose auspices it is given; upon the pageant com-mittee, the author of the book, the composer of the music, the directors of the pageant, the music, the dances and the costuming; and last but by no means least, upon the scores of actors who took their parts in singing, in speaking, in dancing with such skill and grace. The stage of this pageant lies before your grandstand seat in the form great semi-circle about 100 feet in diameter.

Its circumference is marked by great trees, made out of limbs of real trees and waving in the wind realistically. From the basky depths of this forest shrubbery the actors have their entrances and take their places upon the greensward stage.

feminine beauty in the guise of "Morning Stars," "Earth Spirits," "Women" and so on.

No ownder the Omahas were a peaceable and contented tribe with such lovely women to comfort them and make glad their days. They came dancing upon the stage in lovely costumes and sang their parts in most engaging manner. Dorothy Ellsworth made a beautiful "Morning Star in her costume of red. Charlotte Whedon did some splendid dancing in this part as the "Earth Spirit," and in the second part as the "Genius of the they carried. This first first part, Tree of the Omaha Tribe," is founded n an incident in the early history of the Omaha Indians. Superintendent Receives Rabbit Head Nicely Mounted For Use.

PERSINGER BACK UPON VISIT

Lincoln, June 6.—(Special.)—Most people believe that a rabbit's foot car-ries good luck, and they carry it around in their hip pockets to keep from getting run over by automobiles instead of carrying accident policies. However, State Superintendent Thomas thinks there is luck in a ribbit's head, and this morning received from Cyrus Black of Kearney the head of a big jackrabbit nicely mount-ed, which he has hung over his desk chair. This is supposed to keep any ble to fall down most any minute, and which shows day by day more and more signs of toppling to the earth. Persinger on Visit. N. R. Persinger of Sheridan, Wyo., who for several years was chief clerk in the office of the Banking board, is visiting in the city and called on Indian a Traitor. This part differs from the first in that the parts are not sung but spoken. The scene is a glade in the forest. Here Coronado and his fellow-seekers after the kingdom of Quivera and its gold appear after traveling many weary days. Here they discover that "The Turk" the Indian who has been leading them, is a traitor. This he finally confesses with the words: Till windy deserts with your bones ship

After the Indian had been disposed of in good old Spanish fashion, Coronado, rising from his despair, makes his prophecy and see the vision.

Fine Stage Work. The rolling away of the heavy for est scenery under protection of the steam curtain was a splendid piece of stage machinery. The appearance of the vision of Omaha called forth tremendous applause from the Omaha contingent and from all the spectators.

Yuan Shi Kai Dies at Peking After Illness of Several Days, Due to Stomach Trouble.

The death of the president apparently solves the heated political crisis. Li Yuan Hung's succession to the prestdency meets the demands of the leaders in the southern provinces.

Probably because of the strict censorship news regarding the situation at the capital is meager.

Yuan Shi Kai was reported to have been taken seriously ill on May 28. At that time dispatches from China said it was believed in Peking the president had been poisoned, but this report was denied by the Chinese ambassador at Washington, who in sisted the president was not even ill. Yuan Shi Kai died while the storms of revolution were gathering in in-creasing strength. The revolt broke out in December, 1915, when the president announced his intention of establishing a monarchy and ascend ing the throne as the first emperor o new dynasty.

His coronation was set for early in February of this year, but was postpened indefinitely owing to the extra ordinary rapidity with which the reolt spread through southern China. Several attempts were made upon the president's life and a bomb plot was discovered in the imperial palace.

Rebellion Progresses Rapidly.

The establishing of a monarchy was strenuously opposed by Japan and the final abandonment of the plan was largely credited to the represen-tations made by Tokto.

The revolt progressed, however, and in March the governors of the Chinese provinces demanded the resignation of the president. In May the prov-Shansi and Shantung an nounced their independence and apan and dispatches from Toxio said

Washington, June 6 .- A cablegram the State department today from announced the death of Yuan Shi Kai, president of China.

Officials of both the State depart-ment and the Chinese legation here regard it as singular that no official report of an event of such importance as the death of Yuan Shi Kai came om American Minister Reinsch or the Chinese foreign office in Peking until after the lapse of more than twenty-four hours. It was realized that if Yuan fell the victim of conspiracy one of the first acts of the onspirators probably would be to cut the telegraphic communication between the Chinese capital and the table ports.

It was recalled by the officials here that in the early days of the Boxer uprising in 1900 reports from Shanghai stated positively that all of the foreign ministers in Peking had been done to death in boiling oil. But it was also recalled that the assassination of the German minister in Pe-king emanated from Shanghai just twenty-four hours in advance of the attack upon that official.

It has been reported persistently that within the last fortnight atempts have been made to This has been officially denied by the legation here after an inquiry by cable.
