HIGH COURT CUTS ATTORNEY'S FEES

Commissioner Martin Rules in Douglas Suit Lawyers May Not Eat Up Estate.

HEIRS MUST HAVE A CHANCE

Lincoln, June 17.—(Special).—In opinions handed down by the supreme court commission this morning there are five reversals, as follows: Newell against Stull, Cass county; Schultz against Abrams, Kearney county; Walker against Richey, Adams county; Jollenstein against Ohlund, Keith county, and Winch against Kaley, Douglas county.

In opinions made by the commission no written opinion is filed by the clerk except in cases of reversal.

The Douglas county case is a controversy over the allowance of attorney fees rendered in the estate of Seth F. Finch, the opinion being by Commissioner Grant Martin. In the settlement of the estate, which went through several terms of court, four attorneys were connected with the estate and received different amounts.

J. L. Kaley and L. D. Holmes received $750 in cash each and an allowance of $500 more each by the district court. W. A. Saunders or his estate was allowed $500 additional to the $500 already assumed to have been received. Charles Hafkue was given $200 for services rendered the executor and A. L. Reed, executor, and his assistant was given $500 for services rendered.

It was contended that no allowance should have been given to Hafkue or the executor and that the allowance made to Kaley and Saunders was excessive.

The executors realized $20,000 from the sale of the estate, of which $14,000 went to pay off the mortgage indebtedness, court costs, taxes and litigation expenses. The executors have a balance on hand of $5,000 and in reversing the judgment of the Douglas county district court Commissioner Martin holds that while the attorneys saved the estate in one instance $1,000 alone, and the amount allowed the attorneys for their services was not too much, there are other factors entering into the controversy.

In the words of the commissioner, "Four attorneys rendered service in this case. It seems to us that one attorney could have taken care of these matters and that where two or more rendered service their fees should be no greater than the service rendered by one." The estate was small and no matter what the services rendered were worth, the court cannot permit the estate to be eaten up by attorneys' fees.

"We find that Kaley should receive $250 instead of $500 allowed him by the court; that the estate of said Holmes should not be allowed any sum in addition to the $750 it has already received; that the estate of said Saunders should receive $500 as full compensation."

According to the court, Hafkue should be allowed $150, A. L. Reed $200 and the legal representatives of the estate of Frank Foster $200.

Hammond of Fairbury, two miles northeast of Fairbury, October 29, 1914, has been filed against the Rock Island railroad here and will be tried at the next session of the district court. Koon and Hammond, two youths, aged 21 and 22, soliciting for a film and portrait company of Chicago, were struck in a covered buggy by the Jersey passenger train northeast of the city. This damage suit was first filed in Cass county by Calvin Chapman, administrator of the estate of W. Hammond, but has been transferred to the Jefferson county district court.

To receive school credits for the work each member must exhibit a trio of his own raising at the fall agricultural exhibit.

Phelps Fair Date Fixed

Holdrege, Neb., June 17.—(Special).—The board of directors of the Phelps County Agricultural association chose the first week of October for the annual exhibit date, providing a suitable amusement company could be booked for that time. Poultry will be included for the first time this year. No definite action was taken on enlarging last year's territory, which included Phelps and the north tier of townships of Harlan county. The following chairmen were appointed: Dr. H. C. Collette, live stock; Tom Hufford, cereals; C. S. Marzoff, horticulture; John F. Nelson, poultry.

GOVERNOR STOPS AT SPRINGS

Chief Executive of Nebraska Does Not Immediately Hike for Home.

SOME OFFICERS REACH HOME

(From a Staff Correspondent.) Lincoln, Neb., June 17.—(Special).—The good book says that "the wicked flee when no man pursueth." The manner in which acting Governor Pearson flew back to the fastnesses of his short grass country home when he believed Governor Morehead was likely to drop in this morning, indicates that the real governor might not approve of the acts of the acting governor, and it might be wisdom to flee from danger.

However, acting Governor Pearson acted to hastily. He might have remained a few more days and wielded the scepter of power over the state a little longer, for Governor Morehead has not returned and is not even within the state, having stopped off for several days at Excelsior Springs.

That there is a grave situation confronting the democratic state administration from an invasion is admitted even by them. The invasion of a strong "Hughes for president" sentiment has already created a feeling that the democratic party in Nebraska is terribly unprepared to meet an invasion of that kind.

Those who returned this morning to Lincoln were Food Commissioner Harman, General Hall, Dr. Hall, Gene Mumford, Louis Tobin, Herb Gooch, Jimmie Murphy, and their mascot, Crawford Kennedy, whom they admit they were unable to convert to democracy.

Governor Morehead, Insurance Commissioner Eastham and one of two others stopped off at Excelsior Springs, to recuperate.

NEBRASKAN FINDS BODY OF CERVANTE

us. I knew that one troop of cavalry had gone in that direction, so I beat it over there, where I wound that Lieutenant Merchant and Captain Lawrence, Seventeenth infantry, had hit what apparently was a rear guard, which had dismounted and were hiding in the rocks to delay any pursuit. We chased this bunch up the gorge for about three miles, but they scattered and we lost them for awhile. You must remember that these mountains are a continuation of the Rockies, and the gorge and canyons almost impassable. To find a bunch once scattered is like locating the proverbial needle in the hay stack.

Bodies of Bandits Sent to Town

"Later I went back and directed that our dead—Private Marksbury had died in the meantime—and wounded, with the bodies of two Mexicans, be taken into camp in our wagon. I rode in ahead and reported to Captain Walton that I was sure we had Cervantes. He immediately wired General Pershing at Namiquipa. We had the body identified here by six Mexicans and all declared it was Candelario Cervantes, so we buried the men. At midnight three trucks came in from Namiquipa for the bodies of the notorious bandits. We dug them up and sent them down. The next morning General Pershing wired that our identification had been correct. The men were Cervantes and Jose Bencomo, aide and body guard."

Burial of Marksbury

"We buried Private Marksbury here yesterday, and, for this wild, lonesome place, it was very impressive. We made a coffin from hard tack boxes and dug the grave under a lonesome tree on a high knoll overlooking camp. We draped our storm flag about the coffin, put the body in the truck, and the procession started. The pallbearers were six noncommissioned officers of the company. Then came the firing squad, followed by the company and the machine gun company. "When we reached the grave the men formed a square about it. Captain Walton made a few appropriate remarks, there being no prayer book for the regular burial service in the camp. Three volleys were fired over the grave and the musician played taps. It was a simple and crude burial, but the surroundings, and the circumstances, made it most impressive."

Loan and Building Associations Will Meet at Auburn

The record will be appropriately observed with addresses and other features. President Gillan of the league is an Auburn man.

A large delegation from Omaha will participate in the festivities and the business of the meeting. Six formal papers are on the program, as follows: Address, "An Urgent Tax on Thrift," Thomas D. Why Spend your Money,—"with a Spade"?

THRIFT does not mean Penuriousness! Its first principle consists in getting FULL VALUE for each Dollar of income expended. Getting less is not complimentary to the intelligence of even a Millionaire.

Being liberal and generous, in affairs where it is proper and deliberate to be so, differs widely from being thrifless, thoughtless and careless in buying things, on a business basis.

A habit of "Jumping at Conclusions," instead of Thinking out these Conclusions, costs many a man a lifetime of Un-success.

TOO many Americans indolently act upon the shallow theory that an article "must be" WORTH more, merely because it Costs more.

They are thus taxed a heavy price, all through life, for such an indolent habit of Thought.

They work hard, industriously and intelligently, to acquire money.

Then (for their personal needs) they "Spend it with a Spade."

Is this complimentary to the judgment of even the Wealthiest?

Do people become Wealthy who acquire the careless HABIT of "Spending Money," instead of intelligent, thoughtful BUYING with it?

MONEY cannot make BETTER Fabric Tires,—at ANY price,—than Goodrich 47-Year Experience,—300,000,000 lbs. Purchasing-Power, and Deliberate Intention, are now producing.

No Rubber Concern in the world could afford to offer the low Fair-List Prices here quoted, on Fabric Tires (for such HIGH quality) without the enormous Goodrich VOLUME, which so reduces Cost as to make these lowest prices possible.

When, therefore, you pay MORE than these Goodrich Fair-List prices for ANY Fabric Tire, you are NOT getting "better" Tires.
