MONTH A BUSY ONE

June Weddings Are Always Preceded by a Gauntlet of Social Events Bride-to-Be Must Run-

AFFAIRS FOR MISS DARLOW

By MELLIFICIA, June 21. "June brings roses and wedding Mona Cowell, presents, commencements, class-parties, sweet girl graduates, to say nothing of brides and honeymoons. Proverbially it is the most joyous ngurance test for the bride-elect. It is a sort of marathon, testing the destined bride's capacity for consuming pink tea and going to ten parties per week. The remaining waking hours she spends sewing madly, visiting the dressmakers, selecting linens, writing "thank you" notes for wedding gifts and at last walking up the church aisle a bedazed and beveiled person, so tired that she promises to obey."

Miss Ida Darlow, whose marriage to Lloyd Delos Burdic will be celebrated next Tuesday, is the muchfeted bride of this week, one and two entertainments being scheduled for each day this week.

Given-in-honor affairs for a popular July bride, Miss Helen Epenter, will begin on Saturday with a luncheon by Mrs. Chester Dudley of Council Bluffs at her home.

The Misses June and Lucile Brown, who will have a double wedding this month, have been the recipients of much social attention.

Dost Thou Know a Good Thing When Thou Seest It?

We rather like Quaker phraseology; there is a closeness of touch-an intimacy, a kindness, about it which adapts it in a peculiar way to this store. The headline of this ad we hope will cause thee to reflect a little. Let us tell thee what caused us to use it. At our Silk Sale recently a piece of silk was taken from the shelves to show to a customer. The goods on sale on the counter were 98c per yard. Another customer came along and was attracted to the piece taken from the shelves. This piece was not on special sale—it was an entirely different silk, but she liked it and asked the clerk to cut her off a number of yards. He said the price of that piece is 85 cents per yard, it is not on special sale. Then said she: "I don't want it." Now, friends, you can see we lost a sale and lost an opportunity to make 13 cents per yard extra profit. She would have been satisfied. She would have thought she was getting a bargain, but we would have felt like the mischief. Now isn't our kind of store the kind thou likest, for it matters not whether thou knowest values or not, thou canst rest assured no advantage will be taken of thee and thou wilt always get full value for thy money.
