ONE BEE BARRICADES CHURCH

Honey Carrier's Activities Cause Services to Be Held on Laws.

A bee with something other than honey on its hot, little mind flew around the front door of the First Congregational church of Blodgett, Ill., and made the morning service in the edifice impossible.

When other members of the congregation arrived, the bee was pointed out to them. He was clinging to the top of the church door and making a noise that indicated anger, determination and speed.

Newspaper Men May Go With Troop Trains

Washington, June 24.—To clear up misunderstandings, the War department issued orders to departmental commanders today, directing that newspaper representatives be permitted to accompany National Guard or other troop trains to the border, traveling at their own expense.

FEAR FIGHTING ON AGAIN IN MEXICO

Apprehension Exists at Border That U. S. Troops Battling in Two Places.

NEWS COMES FROM CHIHUAHUA

El Paso, June 25.—Apprehension that battles may be in progress tonight between American and Mexican troops in at least two places in northern Chihuahua gripped the border tonight.

American columns were moving in the direction of San Antonio and Ojo Caliente, while General Jacinto Trevino, commanding the Carranza army of the north, has ordered troops at adjacent points to attack them if they do not retreat immediately.

Forces May Have Met

While information concerning these movements reached here today from Chihuahua City, additional advices indicated that General Trevino's scouts reported the approach of the Americans yesterday and that his orders were issued immediately.

A lapse of twenty-four hours, it is assumed here that it is probable that the opposing forces may have met.

Little was known here tonight as to the strength of the American columns or their mission, but it was assumed that one of them might be a detachment sent by General Pershing to rescue the survivors of the troops of the Tenth cavalry engaged at Carrizal.

Army officers here also pointed out that the column headed for Ojo Caliente, about thirty miles southwest of Carrizal, probably is composed of the troops surviving the engagement there, the two squadrons of the Eleventh cavalry sent to reinforce them.

May Be Chasing Bandits

It is believed here that the American command, advancing in the direction of San Antonio, fifty miles southeast of Namiquipa, may be in pursuit of bandits.

While the lack of definite information begets apprehension, military men point out that General Pershing, with General Trevino's threat and the Carrizal fight before him, undoubtedly has taken steps to protect detachments he has sent out and that preparations have been made to reinforce the American columns if necessary.

INSISTS DE FACTO CHIEF REPUDIATE CARRIZAL ATTACK

Special Agent Rodgers at the Mexican capital has reported inability as yet to give any inkling as to what may be expected from Carranza.

Forebodings Hostile Attitude. If a reply has been prepared in the brief time the Carranza government has had to study its position, officials are inclined to believe it forebodings a hostile answer.

Private advices today still pictured the position of General Carranza as strongly inclined toward a peaceful termination of the present situation. He is said to feel that Villa is solely responsible for the grave crisis, and that a would mean the fulfillment of all that Villa hoped for when he ordered the dash over the line at Columbus, N. M.

Mr. Arredondo expressed confidence tonight that the American troops taken prisoner after the Carrizal fight would be released promptly and turned over to the United States unless there are other clashes.

While no statement is available of alternative plans should Carranza support the act of his commander at Carrizal and precipitate hostilities, there are indications that the complete military occupation of all northern Mexico would be ordered.

Probable Course of Action. With enough national guardsmen rushed to the border to relieve regulars now on patrol duty, an acclimated, well equipped force, nursed to campaign hardiness, would be made available immediately for the preliminary moves. It would be sufficient, officers believe, to seize and hold strategic points, while the remainder of the Guard was assembled and necessary volunteer regiments organized.

President Wilson is resolved to employ all the force at his command if he is forced into hostilities and attempt to make short work of it by weight of superior numbers, equipment and resources.

BREAKS THROUGH TRAP OF MEXICANS

Captain Boyd Leads Force Out of Lines of Surrounding De Factos.

OTHER TROOP IS OUTFLANKED

Men Are Outflanked. Captain Morey was shot through the shoulder while advancing with Troop K on the irrigation ditch. His men, however, were outflanked by a superior force of Mexicans and were forced to take shelter in an adobe house.

When last seen by the stragglers, they were returning a spirited fire through windows and loopholes punched in the adobe walls to the Mexicans, who entirely surrounded their shelter and were pouring a stream of bullets at every opening.

Charge Into Ambush. Trapped and fighting against heavy odds, the troops of the Tenth cavalry engaged in a battle on Wednesday night directly into the jaws of the ambush which the Mexicans had laid for them.

With bullets in his arm and shoulder, Captain Charles T. Boyd, the commander, remained in the saddle, leading his negro troops until they had captured the concealed Mexican machine gun trench, when he fell mortally wounded with a bullet in the eye.

This was the gist of the first detailed account of the engagement from American sources, which was brought to General Pershing today by Corporal Green of Troop C, who was at Captain Boyd's side until he fell.

Flanked on Both Sides

The Americans were flanked on both sides by the Carranza army who had paraded directly at the little command during a conference between General Felix Gomez, the Mexican leader, and Captain Boyd. In front was a concealed Mexican machine gun trench, from which a stream of leaden death unexpectedly was poured into the American ranks.

Corporal Green said that Captain Boyd, although wounded in the arm and shoulder by the first fire, immediately gave the order to charge, and the detachment rode at top speed in a head of bullets directly at the Carranza leader.

The Mexicans retreated to cover in a near-by adobe shack. Lieutenant Henry Adair assumed command and ordered a second charge, which drove through the shack, scattering the Mexican command. Green said he did not see Lieutenant Adair after this charge, and believed he lost his life in it.

Occupies Another Hut

Meanwhile Captain Lewis S. Morey, commanding K troop, which also was partly surrounded during the parley, occupied another adobe hut with his men, from which he engaged a second detachment of the Mexicans.

While it is assumed here that Captain Morey was wounded in the leg, neither Corporal Green nor any of the other survivors reaching here knew anything of the outcome of his part of the battle.

It is believed here, however, that he may have collected the scattered remnants of the American command, is bringing them slowly, and through heart-breaking obstacles, to General Pershing's.

The survivors arriving here said that the Carranzistas circled far around Carrizal at the capture of the Carranza command and captured a number of soldiers who had been holding horses back beyond sight of the battle ground where the fight began.

All But 21 Accounted For

Piecing together the fragmentary reports which have reached field headquarters, all except twenty-one of the eighty-four men engaged in the fight have been accounted for. These reports indicate that thirteen were killed, seventeen taken prisoner and thirty-three have come into camp here in the last two days, most of them coming afoot over a blistering desert suffering the greatest hardships from lack of water.

News Dispatches from Chihuahua

City yesterday indicated that with the capture of five additional prisoners the captives in the hands of the Carranzistas now number twenty-two, leaving sixteen of the men engaged at Carrizal, unaccounted for.

Baker Receives Report

Washington, June 24.—Secretary Baker tonight received General Pershing's latest official report on the fight at Carrizal. He made public the following excerpts: "A report received this morning from Major Jenkins reports five men of Troop C and one man of Troop K have been found at the San Luis ranch. The men state that Captain Boyd's Troop C occupied the left of the line and that Captain Morey's Troop K occupied the right."

After the firing began, Troop C advanced 250 yards toward the Mexican positions along an irrigation ditch, taking it and capturing machine guns. Captain Boyd was twice wounded in the arm and shoulder before reaching the position and was killed at the irrigation ditch.

"Troop C continued to advance through the town under Lieutenant Adair. This was the last seen of Troop C by these men."

Withdraws Short Distance

"Troop K was outflanked and withdrew a short distance occupying an adobe house. Captain Morey was wounded in the shoulder. This house was surrounded by Mexicans and was under fire for some time. The men with Jenkins say that they believe that twelve of Morey's troop who occupied the house escaped. It is believed that full particulars will be secured and that the remaining men who escaped, will be found."

The secretary also made public a report from Major General Bell at El Paso, crediting a prominent Mexican who reached there from Chihuahua with the statement that he saw three white men and fourteen negroes among the American prisoners in the Mexican city.

General Bell was instructed to obtain the names of all prisoners at Chihuahua from Mexican Consul Garcia at El Paso.

The two border reports were made public after Secretary Baker had laid his contents before President Wilson in a War department conference that lasted about one-half hour and ended at midnight.

Congressmen Joining Army Will Lose Pay

Washington, June 25.—Members of congress who join the National Guard in the federal service will lose their pay while with the colors, but retain their seats in congress, according to a report agreed upon yesterday by a house judiciary subcommittee appointed to investigate the subject.

MAKES DEFACIOS MEDIATION OFFER

Ambassador Inquires if Carranza Government Willing to Parley.

UNABLE TO SEE MR. LANSING

Washington, June 25.—Ambassador Calderon of Bolivia, speaking for several American republics, has asked Elizo Arredondo, Mexican ambassador designate, whether the Carranza government would be willing to accept mediation in the crisis between the United States and Mexico.

The Mexican ambassador said he would communicate the inquiry to General Carranza, but that he was not empowered to make a reply at this time. Mr. Calderon failed to see Secretary Lansing today on the same mission, but announced tonight that he expected to direct a similar inquiry to the American government Monday.

Form Not Disclosed

What form the inquiry from Minister Calderon took was not disclosed tonight. His conferences probably will be followed by others tomorrow between many Latin-American representatives to the United States.

Ambassador Naon of Argentina returned tonight with the authorization of his government to propose mediation. Dr. Gonzalo G. Cordova, the Ecuadorian minister, is expected tomorrow to discuss the subject with Minister Zaldivar of Salvador.

Details of Minister Calderon's conferences with his colleagues today were refused, but it was understood that he talked with several and was unable to see Secretary Lansing only because his discussion continued until the State department had closed.

Holds Conference

It was indicated tonight that Mr. Calderon asked his government several days ago to authorize him to take part in any mediation negotiations. Immediately upon receiving the authorization he conferred with other Latin-American diplomats and then took up the subject with Mr. Arredondo.

It was understood tonight that all the South and Central American representatives approached by Mr. Calderon agreed with him that a conflict between the United States and Mexico would be a calamity and that the American and Mexican governments should be asked whether they would be willing to accept mediation.

It was indicated in official quarters earlier in the day that the United States, engaged only in protecting American lives and property, considered there was nothing at this time to mediate so far as the policy of this government was concerned.

It was not denied, however, that future developments might permit mediation, State department officials explaining that so far no mediation offers were before them.

MOVING TRAINS AND BULLETS

What Would Happen if Rifle Were Fired From Back Platform.

A correspondent sends these two questions to the Scientific American: "1. If a train was running at a speed of sixty miles an hour and a man is sitting on the back end of the train with a gun that would shoot at the rate of sixty miles an hour and he shoots from the back end of this train in opposite direction, what effect would this condition have on the bullet?"

"2. If the man with the gun was on the front end of this train and was to shoot back at a man on the back end of the train, and the train to be going sixty miles an hour and the gun would shoot at the rate of sixty miles an hour, what would be the result?"

To which the editor replies: "1. In the case you propose, the bullet, after it left the gun, would still move forward with the speed of the train and backward with the speed of the train and backward with the speed given it by the powder. Since these two speeds are equal and opposite in direction the bullet would drop to the ground directly under the point where it left the gun."

"2. In this case the man at whom the bullet was shot would be killed if the aim was good. This may be made clear, perhaps, by asking if you could not throw a ball on a train to a man at the rear of the place where you are standing? Could you not toss a biscuit to a person in the next seat in a car either toward the front or rear? If you could toss a biscuit, you could fire a bullet in either direction with the usual result when a bullet is fired. This matter seems very simple to us. We do not know why it causes so much discussion."—Scientific American.

REPORT FAVORABLY GUARD DRAFT ACT

Senate Military Committee Gives O. K. to House Resolution.

STRIKES OUT RELIEF MILLION

Washington, June 25.—A favorable report on the house resolution authorizing the president to draft immediately into the federal service national guardsmen willing to take the prescribed oath was ordered today by the senate military committee, after it had stricken out a section appropriating $1,000,000 for the relief of dependents of guardsmen and another limiting the term of service to three years.

A substitute adopted for the relief provision would direct that guardsmen, with dependents, having no means of support be discharged.

Action Is Postponed. Action on the resolution by the senate was postponed until Monday, because a memorial session in tribute to the late Senator Bradley of Kentucky was in progress.

As reported by the committee, the measure otherwise stands as it originally was reported to the house, the amendment declaring that an emergency now exists calling for troops other than regulars, instead of leaving that question to be determined by the president. Service of guardsmen taken into the federal army is limited only to "the period of the emergency."

Much of the detail of the mobilization of the guard was transferred from the War department by Secretary Baker's order, directing that department commanders rush the men to the front as soon as available.

No Basis for Estimate

Reports of progress so far give no basis for an accurate estimate of the time it will take to get the whole force to the Mexican border. Detailed information is now sent to departmental headquarters and will be reported later to Washington.

The effort to speed up mobilization further through the Hay resolution, adopted yesterday in the house, met with delay in the senate. The military committee reported out the measure, amended, but still containing the draft and consolidation sections which are regarded as of vital importance.

On account of a memorial session, however, the senate did not act on the authority the resolution will confer will not be granted before Monday.

War Department Impatient

The War department awaits impatiently the passage of the measure, chiefly because of its consolidation provision. It furnishes machinery under which it could gather up and send to the front promptly all guardsmen who qualify for federal service, without waiting for incomplete companies to be recruited up to full strength. Days and perhaps weeks of delay in sending General Funston additional troops would be saved, it is estimated, under this plan.

TWO BULL MOOSERS CALL ON ROOSEVELT

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 25.—Chester H. Rowell and Irwin R. Kirkwood, progressive national committeemen from California and Missouri, respectively, and R. H. Post, former governor of Porto Rico, conferred with Theodore Roosevelt at his home yesterday.

Mr. Post said he came to ask Colonel Roosevelt to use his good offices in obtaining a snake serum from a noted physician in Brazil for the benefit of American troops in Mexico.

Another visitor was Nicholas Longworth, son-in-law of the colonel, who joined Mrs. Longworth here.

HOW TO BE WEATHER WISE

Nature Supplies Signs by Which Conditions May Be Fairly Forecasted.

If you want fine weather, look for fine weather signs. Here are some of the most reliable, for they are based upon scientific facts:

When the sun sets in a sea of glory, that is, when the sunset sky is red, you may expect clear weather on the following day.

At night, when the moon is clear and shows clear edges, with no halo or ring of mist surrounding it, there is little danger of rain.

When the wind blows steadily from the west, the weather will continue fair; if very rarely rains in our eastern states with the wind in the west.

Watch the smoke from a chimney or from your campfire—it is a good barometer. If the smoke rises high, it means clear weather. The smoke will also show from which direction the wind is blowing; so will a flag on an upright flagstaff.

A gray early morning, not a heavy, cloudy one, promises a fair day. A heavy dew at night is seldom followed by rain and you will remember; wet feet, dry head.

Animals are said often to show by their actions what the weather will be and there is reason in this. Some of them certainly have a knowledge of coming storms. We are told that spiders are especially sensitive to weather changes, and when they make new webs the weather will be fair; if they continue spinning during a shower, it will soon clear off.—St. Nicholas.

Business Portion of Needles Burned; Five Lives Are Lost

Needles, Cal., June 25.—Fire swept the desert town of Needles early today, destroying the entire business section and causing the death of at least five persons, who were trapped while sleeping in two hotels which were destroyed. Several others were injured, escaping from the blazing structures. The loss was estimated at $175,000.

Fifteen business houses and four residences fell before the flames. The fire started from an unknown cause an hour after midnight and spread rapidly among the wooden buildings. The firemen were unable to get it under control until after daylight.

Several heroic rescue were made from the smoke-filled hotel walls by firemen and volunteers. Survivors were being checked over and search was being made for bodies today.

Needles lies on the banks of the Colorado river, the California-Arizona boundary. The Santa Fe railroad maintains large shops here, which were saved from the flames. The town has been the principal outfitting point for the new mining camp of Oatman, Ariz. There are 3,000 inhabitants here.

A large number of Mexicans reside at Needles. Wednesday peace officers were sent here from San Bernardino, the county seat, to quell disturbances that resulted from a brawl between Mexicans and Americans.

RAT BITES SLEEPING WOMAN

Loss of Several Fingers Endangered by Teeth of Hungry Rodent.

Mrs. Freida Burns of Pompton avenue, Cedar Grove N. J., was suddenly awakened from her sleep by a pain in her right arm. At the same time her arm seemed to be held down by a weight from which she could not extricate it. Calling to her daughter, who quickly turned on a light, it was discovered that the cause of Mrs. Burns' pain was a large rat, which, when it quivered away, carried with it a piece of flesh.

Almost exhausted from pain and fright, Mrs. Burns was treated temporarily by her sons and daughters, but her arm swelled considerably and a physician was summoned. It was feared at first that she might lose several fingers, but it is believed now that she will recover without serious results.—New York Sun.
