AUCTIONEERS ARE IN SESSION HERE

International Society Would Disbar Those Who Conduct Fake Sales.

LEGISLATION IS DISCUSSED

State examining boards to examine auctioneers as to their fitness to conduct legitimate auction sales, and with authority to disbar from practice any auctioneer who conducts a fake auction, are some of the things the International Association of Auctioneers is seeking.

The association is in session at the Hotel Castle. The convention extends over yesterday and today. "We want to do away with several of the unfair laws in some of the states and get better laws in other states," said Secretary J. Wilbur Read of Peoria, Ill.

To Protect Legitimate Auctioneer. "Our problem in the International association is in general to work to uniform legislation in the various states. We are also working against the faker, to protect the legitimate auctioneer against the faking auctioneer and to protect the legitimate business man against the operations of the faker."

Colonel J. E. Stout of Peoria, Ill., is president of the association. He delivered a rousing address at the opening of the session and reviewed some of the needed legislation.

J. Wilbur Read of Peoria is secretary-treasurer and J. L. Dowd of Omaha is vice president. J. L. Dowd, vice president, is expecting to be elected president for the coming year, as this has been a kind of precedent to place the vice president into the presidency.

Gutzon Borglum, Famous Sculptor, Gives Niece Away Over the Phone

Unable to come to Omaha to give his favorite niece in marriage, Gutzon Borglum, noted sculptor, performed that service Tuesday afternoon by long distance telephone from New York City.

Mr. Borglum was expected here to give Miss Ida Darlow, daughter of Mrs. Alfred Darlow, in marriage to Mr. Lloyd Delos Burdick of Herman, Neb. Important business made it impossible for him to make the trip and the telephone call was the result. "I'm going to give you away whether I'm in Omaha or not," the famous artist told his niece over the phone, "so let me talk to the bridegroom."

When Mr. Burdick took the receiver Mr. Borglum repeated the formal words. To his sister, Mrs. Darlow, who finally gave the bride away, Mr. Borglum repeated his regret at not being able to attend the wedding and his plan for a visit here a little later.

HAS PLAN TO WIDEN TWENTY-FOURTH ST.

City Planning Superintendent Has Figures on Eighty-Foot Basis.

SIXTY BUILDINGS IN WAY

Superintendent Kvenild of the City Planning board has completed a preliminary plan for proposed widening of Twenty-fourth street, Cuming to Pacific streets, to a uniform width of eighty feet. This plan will be considered by the board when Chairman Morton returns from the east.

This plan shows that the street would be widened as follows: Pacific to Leavenworth, thirty feet on east side; Leavenworth to St. Mary's avenue, thirty feet on east side; St. Mary's avenue to Harney, twenty-six feet on west side; Harney to Farnam, twenty-six feet on east side; Farnam to Cass, no change; Cass to Cuming, all widening to be done on the east side, the property affected varying in width according to the present width of this section of the street.

Sixty Buildings in Way. Sixty buildings would be in the way of this proposed widening plan. With the exception of Farnam to Cass streets, Twenty-fourth street, Pacific to Cuming street, is from forty-six to fifty-four feet in width.

It is the purpose of the Planning board to arrange meetings with property owners interested and discuss the wisdom of an eighty-foot or hundred-foot street.

Next winter the legislature will be asked to pass a bill empowering the city to assess special taxes and vote bonds for an improvement of this magnitude. Under the present law if the total assessment is more than $50,000 the matter must be submitted to a vote before the levy can be made.

About a year ago the Twenty-fourth street widening project was considered on a basis of a hundred-foot street and the Real Estate exchange submitted a tentative plan. At that time it was proposed to assess half of the cost against an improvement district to be created and pay the other half through a bond issue or by a special tax levy distributed over the entire city.
