GAME FORFEITED TO OMAHA BY UMPS

Holland Refuses to Leave Field and Eckman Gives Fray to Rourkes.

SCORE IS A TIE AT 3 TO 3

Omaha was handed a base ball game on a silver platter yesterday afternoon fater three hours and twenty-five minutes of toil had failed twenty-five minutes of toil had failed games and the sealing. game on a silver platter yesterday afternoon fater three hours and twenty-five minutes of toil had failed to produce results. Umpire Eckman wift combat.

With the score deadlocked, 3 to 3, and the sixteenth inning due to come up, and the sun sinking low in the well-known west, Eckman forfeited the fray to the de luke Rourklets because Jack Holland refused to remove himself from the St. Joseph rathskeller when ordered to do so by his umps. After delivering his ultimatum, Eckman gave Holland just five minutes to shoo himself out of sight. Jack refused to depart, so Eckman made good his word and informed the smattering of ladies and gentlemen who remained in the stands that the game was Omaha's.

Pitchers' Duel.

The pastime was a corker and With the score deadlocked, 3 to 3,

The pastime was a corker and caused the bugs palpitations of the heart on numerous occasions. It was a pitchers' duel between Harry Krause and Sommers, both southpaws, and both of whom hurled nifty sames.

Krause and Sommers, both southpaws, and both of whom hurled nifty games.

For fourteen rounds the score ran at 1 to 1. The Rourkes scored the first marker of the event in the fourth on Forsythe's triple, which Kirkham misjudged, and Kilduf's sacrifice fly. Krause, Smith and Krug singled consecutively after the run was scored, but the hitting failed to produce the results. The Josies counted their taily in the sixth, when Krause and Miller became baimy in the bean and permitted a couple of hits to ooze away from them. McCabe galloped home, when Williams slipped a third infield hit by.

From the sixth to the fifteenth neither side counted. But in the fifteenth St. Joseph got to Krause. After Kirkham struck out, McCabe reefed a double into center on a slow ball and Jourdan was purposely walked. In walking Jourdan, Krug and Krause missed a guess because Rigaby, who followed, sunk a safety into right, scoring McCabe. Jourdan went to third, from which sack he acored, when Sullivan beat out a dinky roller to Miller.

Rourkes Come Back.

Rourkes Come Back.

Then came the excitement for the few fans who took a chance on cold suppers. Williams got into an argument with Eckman and the umps chucked him out of the park. Mc-Cabe was switched to second bage and Roy Patterson went into center field. Kewpie Kilduff opened the home half of the fifteenth with a ripping drive into center. Patterson failed to reach it and Kewpie got a two-bagger. Irelan singled 60 left, sending Kewpie to third, A pitch hit Krause's bat when Harry was attempting to duck away from it and pitcher's box. Kilduff easily scored and Ireland went to second. He went to third on a wild pitch and scored thetying run on Earl Smith's single to right.

When the Josies came in from the thetying run on Earl Smith's single to right.

When the Josies came in from the field they said things to Eckman because the Josies figured if Williams hadn't been kicked from the game McCable would still have been in center field and would have caught Kilduff's drive. Maybe he would and maybe he wouldn't, but the Josies thought he would, and they put the blame on Eck. This got Eckman sore, so he bounced Holland, and when Holland refused to leave, forfeited the game and saved a few more innings and valuable time.
