Braves Beaten by Cardinal Warriors

St. Louis, July 22.—St. Louis' lead of six runs was too much for Boston to overcome and the locals won here today, 6 to 4. Ragan and Barnes allowed four hits each. Boston was unable to hit Doak until the sixth when a single and a double counted a run. Boston got three more in the seventh. St. Louis did not score after the third. Score:

Hungary Boosts Taxes to Raise the Interest Money

Budapest, Hungary, July 10.—Just to pay the interest on its four war loans, the kingdom of Hungary must raise next year the sum of 360,000,000 kronen, something over $75,000,000. Only by increased taxation is such a financial feat possible. After long consideration and study a complete new taxation system has been worked out, including a revised and increased property tax, a war profit tax for both business concerns and for private individuals, an income tax, and inheritance tax, and increased tax on stocks and bonds, higher prices for tobacco and illuminants.

The war profit tax assessment will begin with 50,000 kronen ($10,000), calling for an annual payment of 60 kronen, and will rise to 12,000 kronen on 2,400,000. Five per cent of each 100,000 kronen or part thereof above 2,400,000 will be exacted. All property in Austria-Hungary, as well as in foreign countries, bank accounts, cash, stocks, bonds, practically everything except household furniture, household utensils and office furniture, are subject to the tax.

The war profit tax likewise is arranged on a rising scale whereby corporations must pay in proportion to their increased profits in relation to capitalization if the business is local. If the profit accrues from a business in a foreign country, it must pay 20 per cent of its profits up to 200,000 kronen; 25 per cent between 200,000 and 400,000 kronen; 30 per cent between 400,000 and 700,000 kronen; 35 per cent from that figure up to 1,000,000 kronen, and 40 per cent of all profits over that figure.

For individuals, the war profit tax begins with a levy of 5 per cent on excess profits up to 10,000 kronen and continues to 45 per cent on 500,000 kronen. Incomes are not to be subjected to the new special taxation until they reach the 10,000 kronen figure. Of the 35,000,000 kronen which it is expected will be raised by this form of taxation, 25,000,000 will be devoted, for the balance of the war, to charitable purposes, to the families of fallen soldiers, to their care while the men are in the field, and to the relieving of distress among invalids.

President of China Assured Support of Military Leaders

(Correspondence of The Associated Press.) Peking, July 15.—Generals Feng Kuo-chang, Ni Shih-chung and Chang Hsuan and many other southern military leaders have telegraphed to President Li Yuan-hung assuring him of their support. He is very generally supported by the Chinese press in all parts of the republic, and there are indications that the southern provinces will officially endorse his administration, although they are somewhat slow in doing so and have made demand for the removal of certain cabinet members and advisers before they fall in line.

Strained financial conditions seem somewhat relieved. The new president has consented to turn over $600,000 from his own personal savings to assist in resuming specie payment on the notes of the government banks who are holding $20,000,000 surplus of the salt monopoly for the Chinese government has also shown a willingness to turn this money into the treasury.

Li Yuan-hung refused to go to the palace to take the official oath and was sworn into office in his own home outside of the imperial city. The ceremony was of extreme simplicity and only high officials attending. Monarchist newspapers seem to be joining with the republican organs in praising Li Yuan-hung. The Li Yuan-hung administration is keeping as far as possible away from the practices of an emperor. Flags are to be flown at half-masts for twenty-seven days in honor of the lamented president and all officials are to wear black bands on their left arms at the European practice. Official envelopes have black borders half an inch in width and are sealed with a black stamp. Two books are provided at the gates leading to the presidential office for the registration of foreigners and Chinese who call to pay their respects to the memory of the dead president.

STUDEBAKER MEN MEET IN OMAHA

Salesmen and Dealers Hear Advice of Experts Upon Business Methods.

Bill Brown Offers $25,000 for Labor Day Go Between Jack and Langford.

One of the most successful of Studebaker meetings was held at Omaha Wednesday and Thursday of the past week—Wednesday being devoted to a meeting between factory officials and Studebaker salesmen, and Thursday to a combined meeting, including a considerable number of Studebaker dealers from Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota.

The Wednesday meeting and luncheon was held at the Commercial club, and the Thursday dealers' meeting and luncheon in the palm room of the Hotel Fontenelle. Manager L. A. Keller of the local Studebaker branch opened the Fontenelle meeting, introducing the speakers. F. C. O'Meara of Detroit, lectured on the principles and practice of modern salesmanship, as compared to the "hit and miss" practice of the old-time salesman.

H. M. Johnson of the Commercial Investment Trust of New York, talked to the dealers on "Finances"—giving them a clear idea of what may be expected in connection with automobile sales in the future. Ollier Talks on "Service."

L. J. Ollier, vice-president of the Studebaker corporation, gave the dealers a very clear outline of the policies and plans of the Studebaker corporation. He outlined what is necessary to make the dealer's business satisfactory, not only to the Studebaker corporation, but to the buyers. One of the most important of Mr. Ollier's subjects was that of "Service." He impressed every dealer with the belief that in order to make a successful automobile merchant, he must give his customer proper attention and service, and that this is far more important after the car is purchased than before.

Russian Financial Agent in Japan to Pay for Munitions

(Correspondence of The Associated Press.) Tokio, July 15.—Charles Miller, a Russian financial agent, has arrived in Japan to arrange for the payment of war munitions purchased here and to investigate and study the commercial and industrial conditions with a view to promoting Russo-Japanese trade. Mr. Miller predicts a steady increase in commerce between the two countries when the war is concluded. He said that the abolishment of t. hese of vodka, a sacrificing a revenue of over 500,000,000 rubles, has brought about an important improvement in the economic condition of the Russian people and had greatly increased their purchasing powers.

OMAHA YOUTH WINS STATE TENNIS TITLE.

Ralph Powell. (Correspondence of The Associated Press.) Des Moines, July 21.—There has been great activity with regard to the Portuguese navy and its armaments during the last three months since the state of war was declared in this country. Besides the repaired vessels, five ships—two of which were German—have been fully equipped and armed. Strenuous efforts are being made to obtain crews for other ships—thirty-six at Lisbon and sixty-seven in all, including those in the colonies and islands. Sweepers and dozens of patrols have been annexed to the naval division and these as well as two destroyers and two torpedo boats are constantly doing coast service. The sweepers have sailed up all the mines spread by the Germans, which caused so many disasters near the bar. The defense of the port of Lisbon is well organized and divided into various sections, composed of batteries, semaphores, pilots, etc., the whole forming a zone called here "the field of war." Strict orders forbid the entrance of any ships after dark and at any time without an "initialed" pilot.

DARCY IS COMING TO THIS COUNTRY

Famous Australian Pug Due to Arrive in Frisco in a Few Days.

WILL TAKE ON GIBBONS

New York, July 22.—If reports prove true, the end of the present year is likely to see the undisputed holder of the middleweight championship, Les Darcy, it is said, on his way to this country, and is due to arrive in San Francisco shortly. He will be taken in charge by Jack Kearns, the California manager, who made the acquaintance of the sensational Australian middleweight while in the latter's country with Billy Murray.

Fred Dyer, the welterweight boxer, who was also a visitor to the Antipodes some time ago, says he is in receipt of a letter, which was written about two months ago, in which it is stated that a week later the Australian fighting man would sail for America. He was hooked to sail on the steamship Sonoma, and that upon his arrival upon the coast he would lose no time, but come right on to New York and endeavor to close a match with Mike Gibbons, or any other man who has pretensions to the middleweight championship.

But only the presence of Darcy will remove the doubt in the minds of many about the reported visit, since the English law is so strict about letting able-bodied men leave their country in these war days. For many months they have been pulled to get the Australian champion to visit this country. Now and then he was reported to have asked for a young fortune for his appearance here, but that was not the barrier. Many promoters expressed a willingness to pay Darcy well for his services, but ceased negotiations when they found the Australian laws so severe. If Darcy is really coming, it is on no wild goose chase. Jack Kearns has been talking very widely about being picked some marks for himself, but the man who fights Langford must feel pretty sure of himself. It is a safe venture to talk of meeting Sam just now, especially as the bone-crusher will be doing the best he can with his fists in Buenos Aires for several weeks. But Dillon and Langford would be considerable rumpus at its very worst.

Havana is Slow in Memorial to Maine

(Correspondence of The Associated Press.) Havana, June 21.—Attention is again being called to the long-continued neglect of the Cuban government to proceed with the erection of the memorial of the Maine. Many months ago the two ten-inch guns, the turret plates, the anchor chain and a quantity of shells from the battleship were removed from the rubbish dock where they had lain for four years and were piled in a heap in a rough vacant space on the outskirts of the city proper. It was announced that the memorial, of which these relics were to form a part, was to be erected on that site. Later the secretary of public works decided that the site was unsuitable, but no other appears to have been selected or to be contemplated.

EX-STARS ARE BOSSES

Managerial Banks of Minor Leagues Filled This Year With Former Big League Talent.

SIX EX-MAJORS IN WESTERN

When a big league player slows up and is released from the select circle, it's a case of "back to the bush" nine times out of ten. It is the natural desire of the average ball player to remain in the game as long as possible, so when his days in the big yard are over he is pretty certain to seek a job either as player or manager in one of the minor leagues. It is the managerial booth, however, that is most sought after by the ex-big league player.

That the old star pastimers in the major leagues usually make good at piloting clubs in the minor organizations is evidenced by the large number engaged this season to manage clubs in the class AA, A and B leagues.

The International league is loaded from one end of the circuit to the other with team managers gathered from the big tent. Dave Tenney holds forth at Newark, Dave Shean at Providence, Jack Dunn at Baltimore, Tommy Leach at Rochester, Joe Birmingham at Toronto, Patsy Donovan at Buffalo and Dan Howley at Montreal. Manager Roger Bresnahan of Toledo and Danny Shay, the Kansas City pilot, are perhaps the best known big leaguers in the American association, although several of the other American association managers have been "up there" at one time or another.

The Pacific Coast league boasts of Frank Chance, the old leader of the Cubs, who is now at the helm in Los Angeles. Other former major leaguers who are holding down managerial positions in the far west circuit this season are Harry Wolverton at San Francisco and Cliff Blankenship at Salt Lake City.

Japan to Lay Keel Of Greatest War Craft in the World

(Correspondence of The Associated Press.) Tokio, July 4.—It is reported that guns of fifteen-inch caliber may be mounted on a superdreadnaught which has been ordered by the navy department and will be laid down in the Japanese naval yard at Kure. The ship was authorized at the last session of the Diet, and it will be the largest battleship in the Japanese navy. It will be called the Nagato after one of the provinces in southern Japan.

Although the official figures have not been announced, it is said the warship will have a displacement of 32,000 tons and a speed of twenty-four knots. The displacement exceeds by 1,400 tons that of the dreadnaught Yamashiro which was launched at Yokosuka last November. The Yamashiro is about the same size as the United States superdreadnaught Pennsylvania.

If the announced figures prove exact, the Nagato will be faster than the Yamashiro by two knots and faster than the Pennsylvania by three knots, although it could be outdistanced by the Queen Elizabeth. A feature of the proposed ship will be improved equipment for defense against torpedoes.

Co-Operative Buying Increasing in Paris

(Correspondence of The Associated Press.) Paris, June 21.—Co-operative buying by associations of consumers are fast developing from the present food situation in France. They are likely to assume such proportions as to worry the dealers, who have profited from the state of war to exact war profits on provisions that have been so abundant as to justify normal prices. A well-known actress, a woman lawyer and an authoress of renown are called the "co-operatives" as they are called at the central markets. Three times a week they get out with their market baskets early enough to get to the "Halles" for the 7 o'clock sales and by combining their requirements get nearly everything they need for the table at wholesale prices. Provisions bought at the central markets are not delivered at domiciles by the seller, which has always been an obstacle to individual marketing here; the money saved was no more and often less than the price of a cab to carry the purchases home. The co-operative system removes this obstacle; the same cab delivers baskets of provisions to three or four families, leaving a good margin of profit on the day's marketing.

Willard-Fulton Bout is Prospect

Willingness of Minneapolis Promoters to Put Up Coin May Bring Jess Down.

NEW YORKER WANTS GO

New York, July 22.—That long pending match between Jess Willard, champion heavyweight of the world, and Fred Fulton may materialize after all. It has been talked of for some time, although the "Rochester Giant's" performance against Dan (Porky) Flynn in New Orleans and his more recent exhibition against Al Reich here put somewhat of a crimp in it.

Despite the unsatisfactory showing of Fulton in his "try-out" matches, considerable competition for the bout has developed. At least two groups of promoters are after it. It will go to the highest bidder. Foremost in the field are J. A. Connolly and H. A. Sherman. These gentlemen are equal partners in the promotion of bouts in the middle west. They recently bought and amalgamated at a cash outlay of $50,000, the boxing clubs now in operation in the Twin Cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis. Connolly and Sherman are offering Willard a flat guarantee of $40,000 to box Fulton in the Twin City Motor-drome on September 2. They can secure Fulton on any terms they care to name, as Mike Collins, the latter's manager, has verbally pledged himself to box the champion for nothing if necessary. Neither Connolly nor Sherman have heretofore been identified with the promotion of boxing bouts. Their interest in the sport seems to be that of ordinary "fans." Possessing the capital and being shrewd business men they foresaw a boom in boxing in the middle west, and consequently bought the St. Paul and Minneapolis clubs.

The Twin City Motor-drome, in which they propose to stage the championship match if they get it, is big enough to permit of a seating capacity of at least 20,000. That Connolly and Sherman are sincere in their offer is indicated by their willingness to post at once the sum of $5,000 to Willard's credit to bind the match. They are also prepared to post the balance of the $40,000 purse in any bank he cares to name. While the Sells-Floto circus to which Willard is attached was showing in Grafton, W. Va., a few days ago Connolly obtained Willard's consent to box for him.

Tom O'Rourke, the local promoter and manager of boxes, is also after the match. He states that he is not only authorized by those backing him to give Willard $40,000, but that he is also willing to grant him the privilege of taking a percentage of the gate receipts. It is presumed that O'Rourke, if he is successful in getting the signature of the two men on the same scrap of paper, will stage the bout at Sheephead Bay Motor-drome.
